IN MEMORIAM.

HARRIS—Sixth Anniversary—In loving memory of my dear husband, Henry Harris, who died 22nd August, 1913.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Hidden tears do often flow;
For memory keeps our loved one near us,
Altho' he died six years ago.

—Santry, Co. Dublin. Inserted by his loving wife and family.

WALLACE—In ever-loving memory of Ellen Laura (Nellie) Wallace, widow of the late John Henry Wallace, of Limerick, who was taken from this life on 21st August, 1916, at Hove, Sussex.

"And with the morn those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since and lost awhile."

Inserted, with deep sorrow, by her children.

THE CUCULAIN CYCLE.
(1) The Coming of Cuculain.
(2) In the Gates of the North.
(3) The Triumph and Passing of Cuculain.

These three books contain the essential and most beautiful portions of Mr. Standish O'Grady's Bardic History of Ireland, the work which proved to be the starting-point of Ireland's Literary Renaissance. That work has long been unobtainable, and is now offered for the first time in a convenient and popular form, which will enable every reader to make the acquaintance of the most striking figure in contemporary Anglo-Irish literature.

Books of the Week.

THE OPEN WINDOW.

This volume consists of fifteen lectures on biological problems, especially the problems of food supply and of human efficiency. They were delivered by various authors as public lectures at University College, London, in 1918, while the war was still with us, and they have large reference to war-time conditions. Nevertheless, their value is not ephemeral, for, as Professor F. W. Oliver says, "the collection as a whole seems to show that much of the war-work of biology will have its peaceful application." The first four lectures deal with such subjects as food, war bread, vitamines, and alcoholic beverages. The five following relate to the land and crops. There is one on agricultural co-operation, another on physiological aspects of flying, yet another on the treatment of wounds, and the volume concludes with an important contribution on "Fresh Air and Efficiency."

A book so full and varied in its matter lends itself readily to quotation, but only two of the lectures may here be drawn upon. Mr. A. G. Tansley, F.R.S., in his lecture on "Co-operation in Food Supply," refers in terms of warm appreciation to Sir Horace Plunkett. "Part of the magnificent work of Sir Horace Plunkett in Ireland has been the formation of credit societies, and this has been a tremendous boon to the honest and industrious Irish agriculturist, whom it has rescued from the slavery of the money-lenders." Again, "the introduction of a co-operative society has, in fact, resulted not only in bringing more money to the community, but in increasing its social activities and generally has tended to re-create rural life." Mr. Tansley adds that "what has been done in Ireland can perfectly well be done in England if we go the right way about it"—from which it appears that here, at least, Ireland leads the way.

Professor Henry Kenwood's lecture on "Fresh Air and Efficiency," will surprise most readers. We are all believers in the virtue of fresh air, but how many could say just what it is that renders fresh air so tonic to the human system—or, to put it another way, what it is that causes closed rooms to be depressing in their effect upon human vitality? The usual answer is that it is because closed inhabited rooms become foul with carbonic acid gas, and with organic products, particularly when over-crowded. But this is not Professor Kenwood's answer. There may be a slight "fouling" of living rooms, especially when over-crowded, but the percentage of harmful gases, even in the worst cases, is so trifling as to be negligible. Experiment fails to support the view that the admitted connection between foul air in living rooms and disease and loss of vital efficiency is due to CO_2, or to lack of oxygen, or to bad smells. The evil effects of foul air in ill-ventilated rooms are the result not of the chemical impurity of the air, but of its stagnation. The economy of the human body is a nicely adjusted system of internal heat production and surface (skin) radiation of heat and moisture. If this latter process is disturbed, the functions of both body and mind suffer. If, owing to the absence of currents of fresh air playing upon the body, its heat is not normally removed, there is a resulting heat retention and consequent listlessness. "The distaste for physical labours upon a hot, humid day has a deeper basis than mere disinclination." It is due to the insufficient removal of heat from the skin, the undue rise, therefore, in body temperature, and the formation of tonic fatigue products. Now this is what takes place similarly in ill-ventilated rooms. The heat-regulating mechanism of the body, in the absence of free moving currents of air, is deranged, more or less, with injury to all functions. "Fresh air," says Professor Kenwood, "refreshes by its rapid removal of heat from the body; and the prime requirement of ventilation is to keep the air relatively cool and in gentle motion. The problem is one of maintaining air freshness rather than air purity; for the beneficial results of fresh air are chiefly on the surface of the body and not on the lungs." "We must fight," he adds, "against the tendency to 'coddle,' to acquire that real and unnatural hypersensitiveness to cool air which is so much in evidence." He concludes a valuable lecture with the dictum: "The open window is the cause of efficiency and health."

FIELDS OF VICTORY.

The title of Mrs. Humphry Ward's new book is well chosen. "Fields of Victory," indeed, were the scenes of the great military operations during 1918, which she describes in these letters to an American correspondent. Like her earlier book on the war, "England's Effort," the present volume is intended primarily for an American public; hence the author's emphatic insistence on the immense import for the future of the world which attends on the participation of the United States in the war. It would be a mistake, however, to suppose that, because Mrs. Ward is so enthusiastic over America's part in the war, she thereby minimises the part played by her own country. On the contrary, "the war was finally won, under the supreme command of a great Frenchman, by the British Army, acting in concert with the French and American Armies." There could be no more tactfully worded summary of the last three months of the war than this quotation; and it is pre-eminently a true summary. Unity of command and sincere co-operation were the basis on which the ultimate success of the Allies was founded, and it is futile, as well as invidious, to seek to find the victor of this gigantic conflict in any one of the Allied nations.

These letters are the outcome of a visit paid to the battle zone in the West by Mrs. Ward shortly after the armistice. In fact, she was the first of her sex to survey the ravages of war in an atmosphere of peace. But the reminiscences of her journey are slight, and the value of these letters consists in the reflection which the journey provoked in the author's mind. This is no "war" book in the common sense of that term, but the reflection of a sympathetic, brilliant, and cultivated mind when confronted with the reality of war. The copy of the G.H.Q. chart of the casualties, fighting strength, artillery, etc., which is appended to this volume, is one of the most interesting war "souvenirs" that have been made public in recent months. When studied with the aid of Captain Barton's admirable note, it is an astonishing commentary upon the last three years of the war. It reveals for the first time many things which at the moment of the occurrence were veiled mysteries to the public.

MR. PUNCH'S HISTORY OF THE GREAT WAR.

Some years ago we chanced on a Cambridge scholarship examination paper which contained the following question: "Estimate the influence of Punch on the political history of England during the past fifty years." Ever since we read that question we have had both a new conception of "Mr. Punch" and a higher regard for the author of that paper. Week by week, and year by year, Mr. Punch has been the faithful delineator of the social and political life of England in all its varied aspects; and not of England only, but of all Europe as well. For half a century he has turned the limelight of his humour on the personalities of successive foreign potentates, especially the two German Kaisers. In the prologue to the present volume he has collected all the cartoons that have appeared in his numbers since May, 1864—when Sir John Tenniel portrayed the Kaiser William I. receiving the Order of St. Gibbet from the hands of Mr. Punch—down to the present day, relating to the sayings and doings of the first, and the last, Emperors of Germany.

Mr. Punch has acted in accordance with his usual acumen in collecting into a single volume his diaries of the years of war, for they form a valuable record both of the doings of the nation in France as well as of the nation at home. For our part we are particularly grateful to him in that he saw fit to include in this volume the brilliant verses with which, week by week, "O.S." has enriched the pages of the magazine over which he presides. The feature of Punch which renders it unique among papers of a similar kind is the restraint that has always characterised the jests which have appeared in its pages. "He nothing common did or mean" is a quotation of quite peculiar aptitude in application to the work of Mr. Punch. Now and then the cartoons are ennobled by flashes of righteous wrath at the doings of the enemy, and Mr. Partridge's cartoon of the Kaiser and King Albert is an epitome of the motives inspiring both sides in the late war.

THE CASE FOR LIBERTY.

Mr. Haynes has proved himself to be a life-long student of the growth of liberty, and it is with no little concern that he views the growth of bureaucracy. Apart from the war, the number of officials was steadily growing, and there is reason to believe that the war merely accelerated an existing tendency. The burden of his thesis is his dread of officialdom in its many Protean disguises. The individualistic minimum of the late Professor Sidgwick clearly is one with which he is in sympathy. There must be government, but the functions of the governed must not be unduly contracted. The leading difference between the Irish and the Scots depends on the characteristic that when the Scots want something done they form a committee and accomplish the task themselves, but the Irish in a similar plight send a deputation to the Government and want to have it done for them. From this standpoint Mr. Haynes is a Scot of the Scots. Abstract pleas, however, of this nature make a scanty appeal to the public. All will be interested in the arguments, the convincing arguments, by which the author shows that our present political and social anarchy is in no small measure due to the over-government to which we have been subjected. This is obvious in this country. It is no less obvious in England. Movements like those for the non-payment of the education rate, and of the extremists who destroyed life and property in order to gain the vote for women, convince us that the respect for law was never at a lower degree in modern times. These movements support the plea of Mr. Haynes. When Parliament passes measures for which the country is not ready disaster looms ahead. The chapters on private morality did not absorb our attention to nearly the same degree as those on which the author rests his ideas on general grounds. The democracy of the moment will not like the candour with which Mr. Haynes analyses the drawbacks to the increasing demands of the horde of officials. Nevertheless, all students of the dangers of the day will feel most grateful to the author for this penetrating book.

THE PILGRIMAGE OF ETHERIA.

Mrs. McClure and Dr. Feltoe have given us a careful edition of the delightful "Pilgrimage of Etheria." Provost Bernard in 1891 furnished us with an English translation, with text and notes, which enjoyed the benefit of a topographical appendix by Sir Charles Wilson. Since that date much work has been done on the text, and of this work the editors have fully availed themselves. Signor Gamurrini conjectured that the authoress was Silvia of Aquitaine, sister of the Emperor Theodosius's Minister, Rufinus. This theory has been succeeded by that of Dom Férotin, whose view now holds the field. He identifies the authoress with the virgin named Etheria, mentioned by Valerius in a letter to the religious brethren of the Verzo in north-west Spain. The present editors endorse the theory of Dom Férotin, and hold with him that she was a fellow-countrywoman of Valerius, who visited the East towards the end of the fourth century. The editors have gone over their evidence with skill, and it is a real pleasure to see how they extract everything from it that can be extracted. For example, they point out the hints which lead to the conclusion that Etheria was a woman of social importance; yet the "Lausiac History of Palladius" maintain that she was an ascetic of a severe order. We are sorry that Mrs. McClure did not live to see this edition through the press, though she would have rejoiced in the way in which Dr. Feltoe finished her labours. Archbishop Bernard gave an introduction which he has now withdrawn, on the ground that it was no longer suitable to its purpose.

"The Pilgrimage of Etheria." By Mrs. McClure and C. L. Feltoe, D.D. London: The S.P.C.K. 6/-.

THE NAKED TRUTH.

We are grateful to Bishop Hensley Henson for his excellent edition of Bishop Croft's "Naked Truth," which is a cogent plea on behalf of toleration. Dr. Henson has always been a student of the growth of toleration, and it is interesting to note that the author of "The Naked Truth" preceded him in the occupancy of the See of Hereford. Dr. Henson furnishes us with a brief account of the author, the occasion of the writing of his book, an analysis of the lucid arguments and some criticisms. The fact that Croft belonged to the school of thought of Chillingworth, Jeremy Taylor, and Stillingfleet makes Dr. Henson's task a labour of love, for it is the school to which he himself belongs. He notes that, while Croft repudiated the authority of the Church of Rome, he transferred to the Bible the unquestioning obedience which he had formerly rendered to the Church. When men cast off authority in one shape they change the authority, not their mental attitude. The whole book is intensely interesting to the student of the growth of ideas.

"The Naked Truth." Published anonymously by H. Croft, Lord Bishop of Hereford, in 1675. Reprinted, with an Introduction by H. H. Henson, Lord Bishop of Hereford in 1919. London: Chatto and Windus. 5/-.

ST. GEORGE AND THE DRAGONS.

Mr. Eden Philpotts, like many other well-known novelists of the present day, sighing for fresh fields to conquer, makes an excursion into drama. His three-act comedy, which has been hall-marked by the Birmingham Repertory Company's production, runs on somewhat conventional lines, but is sufficiently up-to-date in its atmosphere. Eva and Monica Somerset are distinctly modern products, but we think that Edmund Copplestone is too pronounced a "bounder" to be a reality. The interest of the play is admirably sustained, and the dialogue clever, but there is an indefiniteness in the characterisation which must leave a rather heavy burden on the actors cast for the parts. It is needless to say that the locality is Devonshire, although the dialect parts are not obtrusive.

"St. George and the Dragons." By Eden Philpotts. London: Duckworth. 2/- net.

RECENT FICTION.

Mr. Howel Evans is not a stylist or a realist. He has merely a sweet, old-fashioned tale to tell of old-fashioned folk—and he is careful not to offend the most sensitive reader in the telling, though many dangers beset such a modest little flower as Rosie, when obliged to mix with the wicked world of London. But the worthless actor who exercises a hypnotic influence upon her is checked in his scheming before we are unduly alarmed, and she is rescued from the "Beauty Shop" just when we are informed that the atmosphere is "repellent." In the background, too, there lurks the honest figure of Reggie, ready to resume his interrupted courtship when Rosie's father and his are reconciled. Mr. Howel essays to revive the early Victorian taste in literature, and we wish him success.

"Crabtree House." By Howel Evans. Grant Richards. 7/- net.

Amid the Canadian "silences" of vast snow-bound country and frozen river Bob Collamore grows to man's estate, and the author draws a sympathetic character-study of the lad. Bob is happy with the rugged settler, Bill Plunkett, who befriends him, and the staunch, solemn Redskins who initiate him into all the craft of the woods and dub him "Little Owl." Carmastic, the medicine-man; pretty Kinnikinnick, his first Indian playmate, and the rest are dear to his heart; but the day dawns when "Little Owl" yearns for contact with his own kind, and to try his luck in the world of men.

"Out of the Silences." By Mary E. Waller. Melrose. 6/- net.

The author of "The Hidden Valley" arouses our sympathy with the villain, graceless Sandy, alone among all her adroitly stage-managed characters. He is, indeed, the one lovable personality, and we feel that his disappearance from the stage at an early period is bad artistry. Sheila's subsequent adventures with Philip, the cold-blooded politician; Crombie, the trifler, and Val, Bohemian and hero, are distinctly dull, though skilfully related. Philip and Val are both in the picture, but the episode of Crombie seems to have no real significance.

MILTON Uses in the Month of August

The Ugly Heat Bump

—that ugly, painful, itching heat bump will quickly yield to the influence of MILTON. Just apply MILTON at full strength to the affected part—the relief is speedy and lasting. To everyone with a sensitive skin MILTON is a real boon.

Insect Bites, Stings, Nettlerash—these too give way at once to MILTON.

MILTON gives instant relief and sterilises the spot to which it is applied. The danger of bloodpoisoning, which may result from scratching the irritation, is completely removed. Keep handy. It serves a hundred and one uses, and saves you buying a dozen or more different preparations. Although a very powerful fluid it is perfectly safe—non-poisonous and non-inflammable. In every home every day there is something for MILTON to do. You need it in the kitchen, the nursery, the bathroom, the garden.

MILTON

FOOD
A New Idea
You put sauces, relishes, spices, etc., on your food to make it taste better, but do you put anything on it to make it pure and perfectly safe? The idea of putting MILTON on your food is novel, but isn't it sensible? You can put MILTON on meat, fish, poultry, fruit, vegetables—on anything you eat. MILTON will not add the slightest taste or smell—it only freshens the natural flavour of food—and will completely remove all dangers of impurities, fly-blow, or ptomaine poisoning. Think of how much food this will save for you in hot weather. Just add a tablespoonful of MILTON to each pint of cold water. Wash the meats and fish, or soak the vegetables, before cooking. The food tastes better, is safe, and will keep.

COVENTRY.

THE HUMBER CAR represents the accumulated experience of years of scientific motor research, dating from the day that motor engineering was first conceived; for Humber Limited are pioneers of the industry. There exists no slip-shod, hurried building to meet a waiting market, the Humber process in every detail is carried out with that precision and superior skill that has, in the past, made the name of Humber a guarantee of reliability.

SWIMMING.

NOVICES' TOURNAMENT.

Semi-Finals.

Of the two semi-finals played in the Novices' Tournament on the Nine Acres, Phœnix Park, yesterday, that between "E" team and "C" team proved the more interesting, and this despite the fact that the winners proved successful by 6 goals to 1. This score, however, was hardly representative of the merits of the two teams, and the play was much more evenly distributed than the score would suggest. The winners, however, were always the cleverer side, and were more evenly balanced. Mr. Balding's clever hitting led up to several of the scores. Teams:—

"E" Team—Mr. T. Ray, Mr. J. A. B. Trench, Mr. T. P. Tyrrell, and H.H. the Rajah of Kashmir.

"C" Team—Mr. T. Roark, Capt. B. Daly, Hon. K. Mackay, and Mr. Balding.

Umpire—Mr. Durack.

"C" team at once took up the attack, and after Mr. Balding had forced the play to his opponents' end, he placed nicely for Capt. Daly to open the scoring. Mr. Trench, in the next chukkar, was responsible for some strong efforts to equalise, but the play invariably veered round in favour of "C" team, who, aided by Mr. Roark and Mr. Balding, were frequently on the point of scoring. Success ultimately rewarded their efforts, Mr. Balding adding the second with a fine shot from far out. The same player immediately after hit through the third, and before the chukkar ended Capt. Daly scored an additional point with a nice shot. "E" team played up strongly in the third chukkar, and some fast play ended in Mr. Trench getting away to reduce the lead. This proved the only goal registered by "E," who though again close to goal, were unlucky not to have scored through Mr. Tyrrell, Mr. Balding effecting a timely clearance. His Highness the Rajah of Kashmir was responsible for some forceful play in this chukkar, but lack of finish characterised the "E" team's play. Hon. K. Mackay and Mr. Balding frequently forced their opponents on the defensive, and after a spell of keen play, Mr. Roark hit through the fifth, and soon afterwards availed of a cross-shot from Mr. Balding to score the sixth. Result:—

"C" Team .... 6 goals
"E" Team .... 1 goal

"A" TEAM v. "B" TEAM.

The "A" team, which combined so well on Monday in the initial tie in this competition, again proved superior to their opponents, on this occasion winning by 2 goals to 1. It was a somewhat featureless game, however, with only occasional periods in which individual initiative was shown on either side. The final chukkar, played in a heavy downpour, was very keenly contested, and was marked by some fast galloping and crisp hitting. The following were the teams:—

"A" Team—Major Scott, Mr. J. Daly, Prince Khursu Jung, and Capt. Goulding.

"B" Team—Mr. W. Fitzgerald, Mr. Telford, Mr. E. Roark, and Mr. J. Johnston.

Umpire—Mr. T. Roark.

In the initial chukkar neither side for a lengthy spell looked like scoring. Mr. J. Daly then broke away, and Prince Khursu Jung was a trifle unlucky not to have scored. Mr. Johnston and Mr. Roark later became dangerous, but the chukkar ended without a score. In the early stages of the next period Prince Khursu Jung availed of an opening from close range and put through an easy goal after some scrambling play. This player again worked his way through and scored the second. The exchanges in the succeeding period were more keenly contested, and both goals looked like succumbing to determined attacks. Mr. Roark reduced the lead before the bell rang, and this proved the final score of the game, the featureless character of which was redeemed by very keen play in the concluding period, in which Capt. Goulding made a great effort to increase the score, and Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Johnston also strove strenuously to secure the equaliser. Result:—

"A" Team .... 2 goals
"B" Team .... 1 goal

The final will be played on to-morrow at 3 o'clock, when "A" will meet "C."

SPORTING NEWS.

CURRAGH MEETING—YESTERDAY.

MODERATE SPORT.

TWO WALKS OVER.

There was no improvement in the quality of the sport on the concluding afternoon, while the attendance was small, as crowds go nowadays, and the experiment of holding an August fixture at the Curragh has not proved as successful as could have been wished. Runners were fewer than on either of the preceding days, and two of the races, including the principal event of the day, the Gold Cup, resulted in walks over. To the hard state of the ground must be associated the scarcity of competitors at the fixture, and never, perhaps, has rain been so badly needed by our trainers, who find it next to impossible to keep their charges in strong work.

The Rossmore Plate, with which a resumption was made, was voted an open affair, Llangarren winding up a slightly better favourite than Ballinacarrig, and Volage Pet and Brown Label were also well backed. Ballinacarrig ran in disappointing fashion, but on the other hand Llangarren was always prominent, and resisting the challenge of Ford, who was putting in some strong work at the finish, scored cleverly by a head.

Coolum and Ballyeaston having gone through the formality of walking over for their respective races, a field of half-a-dozen turned out for the Summer Stake, which provided a fine race. Cahir, who disputed favouritism with Lady Earn, dropped back beaten after momentarily showing in front at half way, at which juncture The Regiment was in command, closely attended by Pastures New, who headed him a furlong out, but he in turn failed to shake off Lady Earn, who ran on generously under pressure. This was her first success since winning the Railway Stakes two years ago.

The odds laid on South Planet for the Maryborough Plate were never in doubt, the Maddenstown Lodge filly racing clear away from her seven opponents, and for the wind-up Hunt Law, who started at the nice price of 10 to 1, floored the odds laid on Geraldina for the Jigginstown Stake. Details:—

1.30—ROSSMORE PLATE, £100. 5 f.

Mr. P. Shaw's b. c. LLANGARREN, by Bachelor's Double—Llangarren Lass, 4, 7-12 ..... M. Beary 1
Mr. W. Desmond's FORD, 3, 6-2 ..... Lambert 2
Mr. W. Sanday's BROWN LABEL, a, 8-3 .. Oates 3

Also ran:—Talk (H. Beasley), Volage Pet (Dines), Ballinacarrig (Hamshaw), Cylla (Patman), Sweet Bee (D. Quirke). (Winner trained by Mr. R. Fetherston.) Betting—5 to 2 agst. LLANGARREN, 3 to 1 Ballinacarrig, 7 to 2 Volage Pet, 4 to 1 Brown Label, 10 to 1 Ford, 20 to 1 any other.

Ballinacarrig lost ground at the start, and Sweet Bee made the running from Llangarren, Brown Label, Ford, and Volage Pet for three furlongs, when Llangarren drew out, and, resisting the challenge of Ford, won by a head; a length. Sweet Bee 4th, Volage Pet 5th, Ballinacarrig 6th.

2.0—LOUGHBROWN PLATE, £100. 2-Y.-O. 6 f.

Mr. J. J. Parkinson's ch. f. COOLUM, by Irishman—Fardee, 8-7 ..... E. Quirke w.o.

There was no bid for the winner.

3.10—SUMMER STAKE, £500. 1 m.

Mr. D. Sullivan's ch. f. LADY EARN, by Bridge of Earn, d. by Lesterlin—Cairngorm, 4, 7-7 ..... Dines 1
Mr. W. Sanday's PASTURES NEW, a, 8-4 Oates 2
Col. Blacker's THE REGIMENT, 3, 7-2 (car. 7-5) ..... E. Quirke 3

Also ran:—Seabloom (M. Beary), Cahir (Patman), Honey of Roses (Lambert). (Winner trained by J. Dunne.) Betting—5 to 2 each agst. LADY EARN and Cahir, 4 to 1 Seabloom, 6 to 1 The Regiment, 10 to 1 any other.

The Regiment made the running from Seabloom, Cahir, and Lady Earn, with Pastures New next. At half-way Cahir showed in front, but soon dropped back, beaten, and Pastures New went on from The Regiment and Lady Earn. Inside the distance Lady Earn challenged, and won a fine race by three-parts of a length; a short head. Seabloom 4th, Honey of Roses 5th.

3.40—MARYBOROUGH PLATE, £100. 2-Y.O. 5 f.

Mr. Hartigan's ch. f. SOUTH PLANET, by Southannan, d. by Orion—Fiona, 7-12 ..... E. Quirke 1

Gen. Sir Hari Singh's MAGICAL MIKE, 2, 7-6 ..... E. Quirke 3

Also ran:—Lady Bagnal filly (M. Ward), Raheenduff (Jos. Harty). (Winner trained by Capt. Bewicke.) Betting—2 to 1 on Geraldina, 9 to 4 agst. Magical Mike, 10 to 1 HUNT LAW, 100 to 1 any other.

Lady Bagnal filly, who was unruly, swerved at the start, and Geraldina made the running from Magical Mike, Raheenduff, and Hunt Law, to below the distance, where Hunt Law challenged, and, drawing out close home, won by three-parts of a length; five lengths. Raheenduff 4th.

BALLYSAX PLATE—WEDNESDAY.

Grey Tip Filly Disqualified.

An objection lodged at 1.40 p.m. yesterday to Grey Tip filly, the winner of the Ballysax Plate at the Curragh on Wednesday, on the grounds of carrying wrong weight, was upheld, and the race awarded to Foulmartlaw. St. Cole becomes third. The starting price of Foulmartlaw was 5 to 1.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

The New Zealand Service Rugby team on Wednesday, at Pretoria, defeated Pretoria by 5 points to 4.

E. M. Quirke had the mounts on Ballyeaston and Coolum yesterday, and also steered South Planet to victory in the Maryborough Plate.

During an interval of racing at the Curragh yesterday, Glenart, br. f., 2 yrs., by Glenesky—Startle, was sold to Mr. J. J. Parkinson for 250 sovs.

The King of Spain's horses have had a very successful time during the present racing season, they having taken part in 84 events and won 45 of them.

The Scouts—Brig.-Gen. Fitzgerald, Major Barrett, Lord Wimborne, and Mr. Montague—won the final of the International Polo Cup at Deauville, beating Bagatelle by four goals to one.

Ballyeaston was unopposed for the Gold Cup at the Curragh yesterday, and Coolum also had a walk-over in the Loughbrown Plate. Two walks-over on the same day must be a unique occurrence at the "Short Grass."

CESAREWITCH SCRATCHING.

Air Raid was struck out of the Cesarewitch at 9 a.m. yesterday.

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Thursday Night.

The recent rain has had a beneficial effect on the going at Hurst Park, so that the racing which commences to-morrow should prove interesting, as a capital programme has been provided. Several smart horses will be seen out in the Wilderness Handicap, and, although King's Idler is practically top weight, he should secure the event. My fancies are:—Trophy Plate—Drizzle. Wolsey Plate—Capital. Wilderness Handicap—King's Idler. Hurst Stakes—Black Domino or Joskin. Vine Plate—Sesostris. Fountain Handicap—Sheriff's Officer.

BRAY TOURNAMENT.

SOUTH-EASTERN COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Delightful weather favoured the play at Bray yesterday, and, with the courts engaged until 9 p.m., capital progress was made, while the largest attendance of the week was present. Captain O'Callaghan qualified for the semi-final stage of the Gentlemen's Singles Championship, and it is quite on the cards that he will fight out his Mount Temple battle again with L. Meldon. Miss Jackson and Mrs. Bianconi look like being the finalists in the Ladies' Singles Championship, and the former should about win the event. Details:—

ATHLETICS AND CYCLING.

IRISH ARMY CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The Irish Army Athletic Championship Meeting will be revived to-day at Newbridge, and will be continued to-morrow (Saturday).

CRICKET.

MIDDLESEX v. YORKSHIRE.

The appearance of the Yorkshire team at Lord's yesterday attracted a big crowd, weather being ideal. Winning the toss, Warner sent Yorks in on a pitch affected by the rain, but likely to improve, and Haig met with such success that in 50 minutes five wickets had fallen for 23. It was to Sutcliffe that the visitors were mainly indebted for the splendid recovery made, though due credit should be given to Captain Burton, who scored 29 of the 48 obtained for the sixth wicket, in 40 minutes, and Wilson, who stayed in an hour and 50 minutes for 26. Sutcliffe scored his fourth century of the season, being eighth out at 180, after batting three hours and 25 minutes. The venture lasted ten minutes longer. He played fine cricket, driving and cutting well, and scored a five (two overthrow), nine fours and eleven twos. He was, however, twice missed at the wicket early on, and he should have been stumped off Hearne when 30, but Murrell failed to gather the ball. The eighth wicket yielded 106 in an hour and 50 minutes. Middlesex put together 43 before the first wicket fell, Warner then being sent out leg before, but things went badly. Haig and Lee both fell to fine catches at long on by Sutcliffe off Wilson, Lee having batted 80 minutes for his 43. Kilner later brought off a couple of well judged captures in the country, and Sutcliffe another running catch, which sent back Mann, and closed the home innings for 128, after lasting two hours and a half. In the last fifteen minutes Yorkshire made 18 without loss. Score:—

ESSEX v. AUSTRALIANS.

Four thousand spectators assembled in Southchurch Hall Park, Southend, yesterday, to witness the opening of the match between Essex and the Australians. Rain on the previous day had affected the wicket, and all day the batsmen had to fight hard for their runs. Going in first, the Australians fared badly, losing the first five wickets for 50. Gregory was in 50 minutes for six runs. At lunch the score was 77 for five, and afterwards the last five wickets fell for 53 additional, the side being out in two and a quarter hours. The best cricket was shown by Murray, who was at the wickets 80 minutes, displaying much skill. J. Douglas bowled very finely, his seven wickets only costing 50 runs. Essex started by losing three wickets for 39, but Freeman and J. Douglas added 39 in 40 minutes for the fourth wicket. Fifth out at 83, Freeman was batting for 85 minutes, watching the ball carefully and making some good strokes. At the close Essex had scored 101 with six men out. Score:—

KENT v. LANCASHIRE.

The match at Gravesend between Kent and Lancashire yesterday was noteworthy for the splendid bowling of J. Tyldesley, who in Kent's first innings captured 7 wickets for 53 runs, and thereby achieved the best bowling performance of his career. He was chiefly instrumental in the dismissal of Kent in an hour and a half for 95, but the match eventually was left drawn. Score:—

DONNYBROOK FAIR CARNIVAL.

The Donnybrook Fair Carnival will commence to-morrow. The magnificent grounds of Blackrock College have been secured for the occasion, an ideal spot for such a purpose, affording as they do a splendid panorama view of the wide expanse of Dublin Bay, and a vast sunny pleasure ground for crowds of city-dwellers and pleasure-hunters. A great variety of entertainments is promised, the café chantant, tea gardens, mountain slides, and the band promenades being only a few. In addition to these, there will be many attractions—a nine-hole golf links, for example, planned by a couple of Dublin professionals; hand-ball tournaments, and dancing competitions.

INTERNATIONAL CHESS.

NEARING THE END.

WINNER OF THE MINOR TOURNAMENT.

After the excitement of Wednesday, with its crowd of interested spectators animatedly discussing the successive moves of the game between Kostich and Capablanca as the stewards repeated them on the large demonstration boards that hung on two walls of the playing hall, the proceedings yesterday at the Hastings Chess Congress were tame and almost humdrum. This state of reaction, however, did not apply to the players themselves, to whom the round—the last but one in the tournament—was full of possibilities, and charged with the fate of prize-winning hopes. The pairing and openings were:—

Scott v. Michell—Queen's gambit declined.
Winter v. Condé—Queen's pawn.
Thomas v. Kostich—Petroff defence.
Capablanca v. Olland—Queen's gambit declined.
Marchand v. Wahltuch—Four knights.
Cole v. Yates—Ruy Lopez.

Capablanca was the first to win. Dr. Olland went round in the opening, lost a couple of pawns, and finally a piece, and then resigned. Scott won a very fine game against Michell, working up a strong king's side attack. He sacrificed a piece for two pawns, and kept up the pressure with such vigour and accuracy that Michell was left in the end minus several pawns in a straightforward ending. Sir George Thomas also acquitted himself with distinction against Kostich, who was on the defensive for the greater part of the game. The Baronet, indeed, at one time was a pawn to the good, but could not safely hold it, and he agreed to draw, which, on the point of adjournment, Kostich proposed. It is worthy of note that Sir George has only lost one game in the tournament so far, and that was the game with Capablanca in the fourth round that he resigned unnecessarily. Five drawn games have somewhat reduced his points, but he has, nevertheless, the best chance of securing third prize.

The other three games in the major tournament were adjourned in an unfinished state. Cole and Yates were engaged in a complicated Ruy Lopez, in which, after nearly four hours' play, only one pawn aside had been removed from the board. When play ceased Yates had a formidable-looking attack with doubled rooks bearing down on the open king's rook file. Wahltuch, with knight against rook, seemed to have the worst of the ending against Marchand, but as the queens were still on the board, his chances of a draw were not quite gone. Winter played very ingeniously against Condé, but scarcely made the most of the opportunities that a careless move or two by the Bradford player gave him in the opening, and Condé, though a pawn down, had none of the worst.

The first prize in the Minor Tournament has already been won by Mr. E. G. Sergeant, a player who has been prominent in London chess circles for many years, and was formerly associated with the Newcastle Club. Yesterday he beat Price, making his ninth successive win. Millar, who is the strongest candidate for the second prize, defeated Wardhaugh, and may be expected to-day to beat the unfortunate Queenslander, Boyce, who yesterday was a victim to Saunders. Germann beat Gibson.

Mrs. Holloway beat Miss Gooding, and thereby practically made sure of gaining the Ladies' Championship, since Miss Price, her opponent in the final round to-day, is still absent, and not likely to play again. Mrs. Anderson suffered a serious set-back by allowing herself to be mated on the nineteenth move, and Mrs. Michell stepped into second place by defeating Mrs. Stevenson.

EVENING SITTING.

Cole resigned his game to Yates without resuming play in the evening. He was threatened with mate by the sacrifice of the queen, and could not avert it except at ruinous cost in material. Condé and Wahltuch at a late hour were still struggling hard to draw against Winter and Marchand respectively.

Oskham and Gibaud drew in the minor tournament, and Speyer beat MacKenzie.

Scores:—Sergeant, 9½; Millar and Speyer, 7; Price, 6½; Gibaud and Saunders, 5½; MacKenzie, 5; Gibson and Germann, 4½; Oskham, 3½; Wardhaugh, 1½; Boyce, none.

In the Ladies' Championship, Mrs. Sollas drew with Mrs. Rogers, and Mrs. Houlding drew with Miss Cotton. Mrs. Holloway has scored 8, Mrs. Michell 6½; Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Roe, Mrs. Sollas, Mrs. Stevenson, 6; Mrs. Houlding, 4½.

Our Portrait is of Mrs. Cook, of 5 Justice street, Aberdeen, who writes:—

"I have been a great sufferer from Lumbago and Rheumatism for the last ten years. Some months ago I was told by a Mr. F. Butterfield what 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' had done for him, so I started with it, and had not finished one bottle before I was able to go about again. I have now had four bottles, and can go about my work as easy as if I were 20, but in fact am 45. I cannot be too thankful that I ever started 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' It is never out of the house, and if any of the children are ill I give them a short course of it. It gives them a good appetite for their food."

Are you one of the many who suffer from Rheumatism or Lumbago, or Sciatica, or Gout, or Gouty Eczema, etc.? If so, don't waste time on outward applications, which can but give temporary relief. What you want is a medicine that will free the blood of the poisonous matter (excess Uric Acid), the true cause of all your suffering. Clarke's Blood Mixture is composed of ingredients which quickly attack, overcome, and expel the impurities from the blood, and by rendering it clean and pure can be relied on as a safe and lasting remedy.

Ask for and see you get

THE EYES IN DANGER

The eyes are the windows of the soul, therefore preserve them, protect them, keep them clear and beautiful, as they were originally intended to be. The incipient danger is generally indicated by difficulty to read comfortably or see distant objects clearly. Dixon and Hempenstall, State Opticians, 12 Suffolk street, supply Axis-cut Pebbles and Toric Lenses, which will arrest the decline of vision, and counteract impending dangers to the eyes.

Sore Feet,

Thousands of the most painful cases of sore and blistering feet have been cured by Go-ped footbath. Go-ped is simply marvellous for perspiring, blistering, and puffed-up feet. Corns, bunions, and welts are cured by Go-ped. Go-ped makes walking a pleasure and comfort; and, as a lady remarked, all you have to do is to use one box of Go-ped and Go Ahead.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An anti-cyclone centred over the Bay of Biscay is extending over the British Isles, and generally fair weather, with winds between S.W. and W., is probable over the greater part of England. Ireland and Scotland will be affected by the depression now indicated off our N.W. coasts, and showery conditions are probable.

Ireland—Wind S.W., light or moderate; fresh locally; mostly cloudy; some showers; moderate temperature.

The Irish Times.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, 1919.

Successful operations by the British troops are reported from the Murmansk front. General Denikin continues to advance despite stubborn Bolshevik resistance.

A new Coalition Cabinet is about to be formed in Hungary. The Archduke Joseph has declared his readiness to retire and await the result of the elections.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Labour candidate for Widnes, in his election address, advocates, amongst other things, reform in national finance, the revision of the Peace Treaty, non-interference with the internal policy of other countries, Home Rule for Ireland, and temperance reform.

At the meeting of the Dublin County Council yesterday the resignation of the Secretary, Mr. R. T. Blackburne, was received. A Committee was appointed to consider his retiring allowance and to make arrangements for the appointment of a successor.

A meeting held in the Pensioners' Hall, Ballsbridge, last night, under the auspices of the Comrades of the Great War, and over which General Sir William Hickie presided, was marked by considerable interruption of the speakers.

A settlement in the County Kildare agricultural labour dispute has been arrived at, the wages agreed upon being 32s. per week, with £3 harvest bonus, and extra pay for overtime and Sunday labour.

At the inquest in Ennistymon yesterday on the boy Francis Murphy, who was shot dead in his father's house one night last week, Mr. Lynch, counsel for the next-of-kin, said that he would prove that the boy had been shot by soldiers. A police officer said that a bullet that had been found in the house was a military bullet.

The Westmeath County Council, at a meeting in Athlone yesterday, unanimously condemned the murders and other outrages which are occurring throughout Ireland.

In London yesterday the Stock Markets were irregular, and the tone was influenced by fears of the effect of the demoralised American Exchange on the money market. Oils were firmer. Money was in demand throughout the day at 3-3½ per cent. Discount rates were quiet and harder. Silver rose over 5s. per ounce. In Dublin Textile Shares and Dunlops were strong and higher.

Rates of Exchange.

During the last few days the value of the pound sterling has suffered a very heavy fall in New York. Before the war a pound was worth about 4 dollars 86 cents. The day before yesterday it was worth only 4 dollars 13 cents. Thus, whereas in normal times a pound was worth a fraction over 20s. in America, now its value is something less than 17s. During the war the exchange on New York was maintained by artificial means at an average of 4.76½—in other words, a pound was worth about 19s. 7d. The causes of this sudden fall are two-fold. In the first place, the artificial support has been withdrawn. Restrictions on imports and on the export of capital have been removed, and the laws of supply and demand are now the sole determining factors. The other cause is Mr. Lloyd George's speech in the House of Commons on Monday. Everybody had hoped that the Prime Minister would come forward with some far-reaching schemes of retrenchment; that he would prove to the world that Britain was determined to remain solvent. His speech, however, while full of economic truisms, was thoroughly disappointing. It gave the country no lead, and only played about the fringe of our industrial and other troubles. Hence the country has forfeited financial prestige. The effects of the fall in exchange are obvious. The lower the value of the pound in New York, the greater our debt to America becomes. Furthermore, we must pay a greater price for everything which we buy across the Atlantic. A dollar's worth of food used to cost us about 4s. 1½d.; during the war it cost us almost 4s. 2½d.; now it costs us 4s. 10d. When it is understood that a very large percentage of our food supplies comes from America, and that we deal in millions of pounds, the full significance of these figures will be realised.

The fall of the sovereign in New York reacts on the exchanges of nearly all the European countries. France and Italy will suffer particularly in this respect. Germany's position is almost hopeless, as her business men and capitalists have been using every device to get their capital out of the country before export restrictions become still more prohibitive. Herr Erzberger is contemplating a huge levy on capital, and naturally German holders of securities have exported as much as possible of their holdings. An extraordinary condition of affairs has arisen in connection with the European exchanges which cannot but have a far-reaching effect on international trade and commerce, and more particularly upon those of our own nation. The pound to-day is worth 89 marks; that is to say, a mark, which in pre-war days was worth a shilling, now is worth about 2¾d. The French franc at one time was equivalent to 9½d.; its value now is almost exactly 7d., while the Italian lira has fallen to a little more than 6d. Thus France and Italy must pay extremely large prices for everything which they buy from us. On the other hand, the German exchange is still very favourable to both of them. Therefore, in competition with British exporters, the Germans have an advantage which, though temporary, is very disconcerting. Moreover, we ourselves may be forced to buy German goods. Take the case of some commodity, say a clock, which in pre-war days could be bought in Germany for 20 marks. Let us suppose that a similar clock in Great Britain cost £1. Even if the cost of production in Germany has increased by 300 per cent.—a reasonable assumption—she now can produce that clock for 60 marks. In the most favourable event—that it still may be bought for £1 in Great Britain—the German could supply it to us for something over two-thirds of that price, and the Frenchman and Italian could purchase it from Germany at a very great reduction of our charge.

There are two ways in which Great Britain can get rid of her enormous and daily increasing debt to the United States. One of these has been preached for months; it is increased production. The other, however, has not received sufficient attention. A writer in Sperling's Journal lays stress upon it. There are many places on the globe where deposits of minerals and oilfields still await developments. The nation which is first to "peg out its claim" in these regions need not fear insolvency. British enterprise and capital never have been slow to take reasonable risks in the hope of large returns; but there must be no more stupid restrictions, or America will seize the opportunities which are within our grasp. If free play is given to our capital, and business men become convinced that the Government is doing its best and that the country is working, enterprise will be shown and untouched treasures will be developed. Otherwise we shall remain upon the down hill. Our liabilities to America must be paid. If she were merely our creditor, things would not be so bad; but she is also our most formidable commercial rival. She has an advantage over us in every market in the world. She can buy more cheaply and sell at greater profit. Her capital is enormous and anxious to find fresh fields of development; and she is working. Pessimism, however, is just as pernicious as a refusal to look facts in the face. The capital and industry of these islands have never yielded pride of place, and we possess an incalculable asset, compared with America, in the great experience of our financial and commercial community. This asset must not be under-rated, and, if it is not hampered by short-sighted legislation, will save us yet. Capital, labour, and trade, by their co-operation, have it in their power to re-establish the clearing-house of the world on the banks of the Thames.

Discharged Soldiers.

We print to-day a list of the bodies which give aid and counsel to discharged soldiers, their families and dependents. Its publication will be a service to the men themselves and to all who are anxious to befriend them. The demobilised soldier is not always a well-informed man. When he leaves the Army (where most of his thinking has been done for him by his officers) he is often bewildered by the task of getting into touch with the agencies which exist for his benefit and of finding his feet in civil life. The educated persons from whom he seeks advice sometimes know as little as himself. The present list should save a deal of heart-burning and boot-leather. We hope that all our readers who, from time to time, are in contact with discharged soldiers will cut it out and keep it for reference. It tells demobilised men where they may look for pensions, for grants, for training in disablement, and for help in getting civil employment. Most people, we imagine, will be surprised at the list's length, and will ask, "What is the raison d'être for all these bodies?" The real necessities are urgent, but few—pensions, work, help for wives, children and dependents; grants to relieve temporary difficulties, training in disablement. Why should these few needs require the services of nineteen several organisations? Clearly, there is a vast amount of overlapping, with resultant waste of time and energy. Clearly, large staffs are being paid to do work which, under a proper system, could be done more simply and quickly by, perhaps, half the number of secretaries and clerks. Our readers will observe that, according to the programmes of the various societies, all essential needs are covered by less than half a dozen of them, including the War Pensions Committees, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society, and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families' Association. It would be a great blessing for the men, and a great saving for the State and the public, if all overlapping agencies could be amalgamated, and if all the really vital work of organisation could be concentrated under one roof in the City of Dublin. We hope that such concentration will be promoted by the new United Service Fund which, under General Sir Julian Byng, will disburse several millions—the profits from Army canteens—for the benefit of ex-Service officers and men and their families. It advocates a large amalgamation of kindred societies, and promises financial aid for combined effort. The most urgent problem in Ireland is that of finding work for discharged soldiers—work, not doles—and, so long as the work does not exist, the trouble is merely "camouflaged" by the establishment of further societies. We wish all success to the new Central Advisory Committee in Dublin, but it will not get a fair chance until the Government's plans for creating work for demobilised men are formulated, financed, and published to the world. Simplify the machinery of assistance and create the work—when these two things have been done, and not till then, the demobilised man will know that he is getting a "square deal" from his Government and his country. Fortunately, the new Ministry of Transport's policy of reconstruction in Ireland will furnish plenty of work for willing hands, and a substantial share of it must be reserved for discharged Irish soldiers.

Labour's Folly.

"Our trade is being diverted to Belfast." Almost every week this complaint is made at the meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board; and it is true. Dublin has acquired an unenviable reputation among owners on account of the frequency with which dock labourers go on strike. Nothing seems to satisfy them. No sooner are they granted an increase of wages than they demand another. The slightest deviation from the ordinary routine is sufficient to cause a "down tools" campaign. For years our dockers have set their faces resolutely against the use of labour-saving devices. The result is that Dublin is one of the worst equipped ports in the United Kingdom, and ship-owners shun it because their vessels cannot get a "quick turn round." The discussion at yesterday's meeting about the use of a grain elevator furnishes a case in point. Elevators are employed in the unloading of grain cargoes in every large port except Dublin. They effect a great saving of time. Here, however, the men refuse to work where the appliance is used. As Messrs. Heyn and Sons, the owners of the Head Line steamers, say in their letter, this is a "senseless" proceeding, for the use of an elevator actually increases the number of hands required to discharge a vessel. Dublin dockers are in urgent need of a leader of vision who will convince them of the error of their ways. Already Messrs. Heyn have decided to send "only smaller steamers or boats with half cargo" to Dublin, and they have informed the Board that, unless the dockers can be trusted to observe agreements in the future, they must "seriously consider the position"—a phrase which is not difficult to interpret.

Wild Birds.

The Departmental Committee which was appointed in 1913 to consider the working of the Wild Birds Protection Acts has just issued its report. It has formulated an elaborate plan which, if adopted, should both preserve the bird-life of these islands and meet the claims of the farmer who can prove that his crops are endangered by the depredation of birds. During the war we had several very severe lessons on the folly of the indiscriminate destruction of birds. Men of science warned us that we could not disturb the balance of nature with impunity, but they were not heeded, and several severe insect plagues which did great injury to crops—particularly in England—were the result. The Committee proposes the prohibition of several forms of "sport" that the war introduced. It would bar the unchartered robbing of nests of any sort, and would compel bird-catchers, egg-collectors, and dealers to be licensed. The grading of the birds of the country is proposed. All are to have protection during the breeding season, subject to the right of the farmer to "take birds injurious to his interests." A few species are to have absolute protection during this period, and the destruction of rare birds, such as the golden eagle, should, in the Committee's opinion, be forbidden under any circumstances. The Committee further recommends the establishment of an Ornithological Advisory Committee in London.

TRAINING OF DISABLED SOLDIERS.

NEW SCHEME OUTLINED.

Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labour, who arrived in Glasgow yesterday to investigate several matters connected with his department, in an interview with a Press Association representative said that for a considerable time he had been considering various schemes regarding the welfare of disabled soldiers. They were the men, he said, who would carry throughout their lives the burden of the worst hardships of the war, and it was incumbent upon us to take every means to make their future as comfortable as the country's means would allow. The facilities for training men whose injuries had disabled them from following their previous occupations, as well as for teaching those who had previously had no skill crafts which would enable them to obtain greater interest in their lives were being greatly increased. He had succeeded in making an arrangement whereby partially disabled men who were undergoing training would receive the full pension allowance given to entirely disabled men. That is to say, Sir Robert continued, that during the period of training the partially disabled man will be treated as a person who is unable to earn anything. In addition, of course, he is receiving training at the expense of the State, and it will be realised that the cost is very great. Where the man is undergoing training away from home he will also receive an allowance of 17s. 6d. weekly for subsistence. The Government, Sir Robert added, has felt it also a duty to treat the disabled soldier who is unemployed in an exceptional way, and it has been decided to extend the second period of the unemployment donation in his case from 15 to 20 weeks. Further, an extra allowance, amounting roughly to 4s. weekly, will be paid to the unemployed disabled man who is receiving the lowest scale of pensions. Steps are also about to be taken to begin a campaign for the purpose of ensuring that employers throughout the country will afford employment to a reasonable percentage particularly of disabled men. The Ministry of Labour has been in close touch with employers and trades unions, and we have reached an agreement which gives us the greatest possible hope for the success of the scheme.

THE LATE COLONEL TOTTENHAM.

The friends of the late Colonel C. G. Tottenham, D.L., Ballycurry, Wicklow, have erected a memorial in Nuns Cross Church to his memory, the form of memorial being the panelling of the chancel with alabaster. The church, which was closed during the operations, will be opened Sunday, 31st August, the preacher being the Bishop of Ossory, and on the same date the dedication of the memorial will take place.

THE LIQUIDATION OF ARMY CANTEENS.

An Army Council instruction issued last night says that in view of the cessation of hostilities it was decided that from April 30th last the liquidation of the Expeditionary Force canteens should be commenced. From that date its business was taken over by the Navy and Army Canteen Board, who will continue to supply similar facilities for the various Armies of Occupation and other troops remaining in the theatres of war. A statement of accounts for the period from the commencement of the undertaking to December 31st, 1917, shows that the total turnover for that period was £25,063,386, on which a profit is shown of £2,529,043. It is hoped, however, that on the completion of the winding-up the final sum available for this period of trading will be greater than that shown.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

Perhaps the most "sensational" news of the day is that the value of the sovereign in New York has fallen to about 17s. Before the war it was at par, or a little over, and during the war it was artificially maintained at about 19s. 6d., but since Government support was removed it has fallen to its true value. It is not much comfort to learn that other countries are even worse off in this respect. In France, for example, the sovereign is worth 27s., and in Italy no less than 31s. 6d.

Out of evil, however, may come good. The depreciation of the sovereign in America will advance imports from that country automatically and so help to steady the exchange. If properly explained to the working-man, it also may help to induce that increase in production which, together with a decrease in consumption, alone can help to bring about equilibrium in the balance of our foreign trade.

It is to be hoped that the Government will not attempt to bolster up the exchange by further "tinkering" with imports. The best thing that can happen to us now is that Ministers should give up the hopeless attempt to resist the operation of the laws of supply and demand, and allow things to take their natural course. The sooner business gets back to a rock-bottom foundation, the more likely it is to begin to recover.

It is really rather maddening that, at a crisis which demands that every man, and a great many women, should work their very hardest, the Government are actually maintaining many of the existing trammels on trade, and threatening to add to them by such measures as the 48-hours week, the minimum wage, and compulsory early closing. These things might be ideally excellent, if we were a rich country or could live upon our own resources, but they are a fatal handicap to a poor country, dependent for a large amount of its subsistence upon imported food, and struggling to regain the foreign trade which alone will enable it to pay its way.

How different is the action of the German Government! Although it is semi-socialistic in composition, it is so determined to restore Germany's commercial position that it is allowing German workmen to work fourteen hours a day in order to gain wealth for the Fatherland. It is all very well for us to talk about excluding German goods. If they are cheap and good they will find their way here, if not by direct importation, then by roundabout ways via the new States, such as Czecho-Slovakia and Poland.

What is the use of railwaymen, coal-miners, and other classes of British workmen obtaining paper advantages of increased wages and lessened hours, if the world conditions do not justify them? In no long time, when the Government can no longer borrow save at prohibitive rates, the industrial balloon will lose its fallacious buoyancy, and wages and hours must return to their true basis—possibly worse than it was before the war. I believe that a considerable proportion of the working classes are quite aware that this is so, and are ready to put their backs into it as soon as they get a lead. Many of their elected representatives—Mr. Clynes and Mr. Thomas in particular—have repeatedly urged the necessity of increased production and decreased consumption on their part if national bankruptcy is to be avoided. Until a practical example is set them by the Government, however, the majority of them will continue to believe that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds; that the State has an inexhaustible purse for them to draw on; and that they may eat and drink to their heart's content, with no thought for the morrow.

In a letter to the Westminster Gazette Mr. T. W. Rolleston contests Mr. Harold Spender's recent suggestion that the Home Rule Act, suitably amended, should be put into force at once. He remarks that the Act "creates a simulacrum of a nation, without doing anything to satisfy genuine national aspirations," and thus "launches Ireland straight for separation." He goes on to say that "the Ulster difficulty is, for the present, insuperable. You can no more place the kind of civilisation represented by North-East Ireland under the civilisation represented by Sinn Fein Ireland, than you can place, say, the State of California under the rule of President Carranza. What you can do, though I regret to perceive that Englishmen of all shades of politics seem resolved not to do, is to bring Sinn Fein Ireland up to the level of Ulster"—and the way to do it, in his opinion, is to take up the thread which was broken by "Mr. Birrell's unfortunate repeal of the Wyndham Act."

The Air Ministry this evening announced the conditions governing the competition for prizes to the value of £64,000, with the object of encouraging the development of aviation on the lines of increased safety. The competition is intended to assist in the production of an efficient machine, rather than engine "reliability" alone, or economy in fuel consumption, and it is proposed that the contest shall take place in March, 1920. Two types of machine will be entered for the competition—a small type, with a total carrying capacity of two persons, including the pilot; and a large type, with seating accommodation for fifteen persons, exclusive of the crew. All machines must have been designed and constructed within the British Empire, and an interesting condition is that parachutes must be carried for all persons for whom accommodation is provided, including the crew. Each machine must be capable of flying at, or above, 100 miles an hour, in the case of small machines, and ninety miles an hour in the case of the large type, and must also be capable of flying at or below a speed of forty and forty-five miles an hour respectively.

The regular air service between London and Paris is to start on Monday next, and arrangements have been made for letters and parcels to be received at Hounslow up to eleven o'clock each morning for delivery in Paris the same afternoon. The interesting announcement is made to-day that the next stage in the development of the Anglo-French air service is to be a regular service from Folkestone to Boulogne for those who prefer to make the land journey by rail, but would rather have fifteen minutes in an aeroplane than an hour in a steamer.

Although details have only just been published of Lord Leverhulme's scheme for a number of shops for the disposal of fish direct to the consumer, the plan has been quietly developing for the past six months. The fish trade doubts whether the multiple shops will be able to sell at lower prices than the ordinary fishmongers' shops, but in this respect the fish trade is speaking as an interested party. The fishmonger always has an explanation of the high prices, but no satisfactory reason has yet been advanced to account for the wide difference between the sum the fishermen receives and the price the fishmonger charges. Lord Leverhulme intends linking up his shops with his fishery in the Isle of Lewis, and it is a scheme that should prove a direct public benefit. The number of shops so far acquired is estimated to be about two hundred, but the scheme, when once working, is capable of vast expansion.

THE OUTBREAK OF FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

The foot-and-mouth disease continues to spread in North Warwickshire, another outbreak being reported yesterday. Five farms are now involved. Large numbers of dairy cows have had to be slaughtered, owing to contact and other causes.

Admiral de Robeck, Commander-in-Chief of the British naval forces in the Mediterranean, passed through Paris yesterday on his way to London from the Eastern Mediterranean.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

LIST OF AGENCIES FOR RELIEF.

A GUIDE FOR APPLICANTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—You have commented editorially that the civil population—here and in Great Britain—is getting bewildered about the case of the discharged soldiers; that the State is sincerely anxious to help these men and has voted big sums for the purpose; and that the discharged men are beginning to labour under a lively sense of injustice. Perhaps, the accompanying list may be of some assistance to the public and to ex-service men. Will you kindly insert it in your columns?—Yours, etc.,

CAROLINE S. ARNOTT, Vice-President, City of Dublin Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society.
MARGARET FETHERSTONHAUGH, Hon. General Secretary for Ireland.
Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society (Irish Branch), 66 Lower Mount street, Dublin,
August 21st, 1919.

LOCAL WAR PENSIONS COMMITTEES (24 Molesworth street, Dublin)—Acting under the Ministry of Pensions, administer the War Pensions Act and deal with all men invalided from the Army and Navy on account of service in the great war, and also with their dependents. Arrange for courses of treatment. Investigate appeals against inadequate pensions or the award of a gratuity in lieu of pension. Make allowances pending the Ministry's decision in appeal cases.

CIVIL LIABILITIES COMMISSION (33 Molesworth street, Dublin)—Assists men who by reason of their service in the recent war are unable to resume their pre-war occupations.

KING'S FUND (c/o. Local War Pensions Committee)—Helps widows and orphans (not dependents) of men killed in action during the recent war, by making grants to enable them to set up in business. Provides outfits for children taking up employment, and travelling expenses for emigration purposes. Also enables disabled officers to emigrate.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HELP SOCIETY (66 Lr. Mount street, Dublin)—Deals with all cases of men suffering from non-attributable disabilities or otherwise ineligible for assistance by Local War Pensions Committees. Helps towards the re-establishment of homes broken up owing to the men's enlistment when ineligible for a Civil Liabilities grant; contributes towards cost of travelling and removal expenses of men taking up employment. Helps men invalided on account of service in former wars.

26 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET, DUBLIN.—There is a Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society Bureau for finding employment for discharged disabled men who served in the recent war, and a Tuberculosis Committee for dealing with tubercular cases.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' FAMILIES' ASSOCIATION (33 Dawson street, Dublin)—Assists the families and dependents of men invalided from the Navy and Army or killed in action, when such cases are ineligible for help by the Local War Pensions Committee; also assists pre-war cases of the families of men still serving.

MINISTRY OF LABOUR (Lord Edward street, Dublin)—Finds employment for discharged and demobilised men. Arranges for courses of special training in cases where a man is unable to resume his pre-war occupation.

JOINT WAR COMMITTEE (40 Merrion square, Dublin)—Established a hostel at 110 Stephen's Green for disabled men undergoing courses of treatment or training in Dublin and to accommodate cases of emergency.

CENTRAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR EX-SERVICE MEN (34 Dawson street, Dublin)—Obtains work for discharged soldiers. For this purpose local committees, consisting partly of ex-service men and partly of employers of labour, are being established throughout the country. Accelerates investigation of cases delayed in the Government Departments.

LIAISON OFFICER, LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD (9 Upper Mount street, Dublin)—Looks after the interest of men on furlough pending demobilisation or discharge. Examines accounts and sees that money due is properly and promptly rendered. Issues orders for civilian clothes when men have been offered immediate employment. In cases of hardship advances small sums (loans) when delay has occurred in remitting postal drafts, or during the period between cessation of Army pay and beginning of unemployment donation. Assists re-enlisted men to obtain prompt payment of their bonus and fortnightly issue of pay.

REGIMENTAL FUNDS (The Regimental Depot)—Practically all regiments have a regimental aid fund for assisting deserving cases of men who served in the regiment and their dependents.

R.D.F. "PRISONERS OF WAR" FUND (66 Lower Mount street, Dublin)—For relief of ex-prisoners of war belonging to the Royal Dublin Fusiliers and the dependents of men who died in captivity.

OFFICERS' AID SOCIETY AND OFFICERS' FAMILIES' FUND—Lansdowne House, London, W.—Assists cases of hardship among officers and their families on account of service in the recent war.

UNITED SERVICES FUND (Canteens Fund)—The fund will be devoted to four objects—the care and help of the ex-service officer and man; the care and help of the wives, widows, and orphan children; the social welfare of the ex-service man, and the help of the serving man.

MERCANTILE MARINE SERVICE ASSOCIATION (Great Tower street, Liverpool)—Assists cases of hardship among men of the Mercantile Marine and their dependents on account of service during the recent war.

THE IVORY CROSS SOCIETY (16 Conduit street, London)—Provides dental aid for discharged men whose cases are not attributable to war service. This includes Home Service men, also officers with limited means.

THE NAVY LEAGUE AND OVERSEAS RELIEF FUND (13 Victoria street, London)—Give grants to the wives and dependents of sailors who lost their lives during the recent war. Appears to work in conjunction with the Royal Navy Friendly Union of Sailors' Wives, 47 Prince's Gardens, London, S.W. 7.

LLOYDS' PATRIOTIC FUND (Brook House, Walbrook, London)—(1) For men wounded during the South African War (men who recovered from wounds and have broken down during service in the recent war are also eligible). (2) Grants to disabled officers and their dependents. (3) Grants for the maintenance and education of the children of deceased and disabled Naval and Royal Marine officers.

ROYAL PATRIOTIC FUND (Seymour House, Waterloo place, London)—Mainly for granting pensions to widows of pre-war pensioners when the widow is incapable of self-support.

OBITUARY.

DR. T. J. JORDAN.

The death is announced at Birmingham, where he had practised for five years, of Dr. Thomas Joseph Jordan. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan, of Airfield House, Rathgar, Dublin, and was educated at Clongowes College. He later qualified for the medical profession, taking the Degrees of L.R.C.P.I., L.R.C.S.I., and M.D. He served as a civil surgeon throughout the South African war, and afterwards went to England, and was for some years prior to settling in Birmingham in practice near Sheffield. It is feared that his constitution was overtaxed by the calls made upon him in the recent influenza epidemics. He leaves a widow and a daughter.

MR. JOHN LAMBERT.

The death is announced of Mr. John Lambert, sexton and canon's verger, St. Patrick's Cathedral, a position which he has held for the last thirty-one years. His connection with the Cathedral, however, extended over a much longer period, having been appointed an assistant sexton over more than half a century ago. On the completion of his fiftieth year of service his friends in connection with the Cathedral presented him with an address and a substantial cheque. He was one of the few remaining survivors of those who in connection with worship in the National Cathedral received their appointments prior to disestablishment. During the whole period of his service he never took a holiday, and until his health began recently to fail he was never a day absent from duty.

PRICE OF HOME-GROWN WHEAT.

The Board of Agriculture (England) announce that arrangements have been made whereby flour millers will be able to purchase home-grown wheat of the 1919 harvest offered to them at such prices as will produce for the whole crop the average Gazette price of 71s. 11d. per quarter (480lbs.), equivalent to 75s. 6d. per quarter (504lbs.). The market will, however, be free to each sample being bought on its merits, and every seller of wheat will have to make the best terms he can, as under the pre-war conditions of free markets.

UNREST IN CHINA.

FEELING AGAINST JAPAN.

TROUBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

T.C.D. MISSIONARY'S STORY.

The following extracts are from a letter, dated June 21st, which has been received in Dublin from one of the Dublin University (Fuh Kien) missionaries at Foochow:—

"Now to come to recent history. I had better try to put it chronologically. More than a month ago it became known in China that the Paris Peace Conference had decided to give Japan the same rights in Kiaochow and Shantung, as a whole, as Germany previously possessed. This raised the feeling of the 'Young Chinese' to fever pitch, for they had hoped it would be given back at once to China, as had practically been promised. Unfortunately, the secret treaty between China and Japan (in 1915) had included this as one of its terms, and the secret treaty between Britain, France, and Japan (1917) had practically promised Kiachow to Japan as the price of her help. So the hatred of 'Young China' is directed (1) against Japan for her encroachment and Imperialistic designs on China; (2) against the Chinese Government, and especially the members of it who signed the famous 'twenty-one points' in 1915, secretly 'selling their country' to Japan; (3) against Britain and America, the former for signing the secret treaty, the latter for acquiescing in its implications. 'Young China' is mostly to be found in the schools and colleges, both Government and mission (especially the latter, where Western notions of patriotism and honesty are naturally more prevalent), and so it is mainly the students who have attempted to give expression to their feelings and to bring about a reversal of the Peace Conference's decision.

"They have tried to show their feelings towards Japan by bringing about a boycott of all Japanese goods. Printed and cyclostyled documents have been circulated everywhere, especially in the schools, urging that only Chinese goods be bought and used, but especially that Jap goods be avoided. Their detestation of the 'thieves and traitors' in the Chinese Government has been shown by the students in Peking especially, who took advantage of a procession which was permitted by the authorities to burn down the houses of the three most prominent signatories of the 1915 treaty, and almost beat one of them to death. They did all this without using any weapons; what the police were doing is a mystery. When it was all over, a few of the least guilty ones were arrested; one boy happened to be hurt so badly that he died. The result was that the students all over the country were in a ferment, and demanded the release of those who had been arrested, the reinstatement of the President of Peking University (who had been 'sacked' for failing to keep his students in order), and the dismissal and degradation of the three aforesaid 'traitors.' Processions were organised and carried out in nearly all the large cities, and thus the feelings of the merchants and shopkeepers were roused.

EXCITED STUDENTS.

"Foochow was, on the whole, rather behind the times, but things began to move here at length. We intercepted a large number of cyclostyled documents intended for our students, urging the boycotting of Jap goods, and, in some cases, of all foreign goods, except Russian. Of course, the boys got to know that these papers were being intercepted, and they managed to get hold of them in other ways. On Wednesday, May 21st, I noticed a few of these papers pasted up on the notice-board in the Middle School, and, as they had not been brought to me to be initialled, I tore them down. The boys were very angry, and sent a deputation to me on the subject, to whom I tried to explain my position as, on the one hand, sympathising very largely with them, but, on the other, being bound to uphold school discipline.

"In the meantime, the agitation among the other students was growing and spreading. Representatives from all the boys' schools, Government and mission (about thirty altogether, all of Middle School grade or above), were holding frequent meetings. A procession was arranged, which was at first forbidden, and then allowed, by the Chinese Governor, and took place quite peaceably on May 24th, all our boys going, with the school flags, etc. The object was to encourage the shopkeepers, etc., to 'support home industry,' and each boy carried a paper flag, with an inscription to that effect. Representatives of the boys went in to see the Governor, and he promised to send telegrams for them requesting the immediate retrocession of Tsingtao to China.

"Gradually the students got bolder, and it became known that a 'general strike' of students was meditated, with the idea that they could give themselves far more completely to propaganda work when not reading. A mass meeting was also held (on Whit Sunday), which was first forbidden, and then allowed, by the authorities. On that Sunday morning large bodies of soldiers were sent to the American schools and the Government schools to prevent the students from going to the meeting. Somehow or other, the boys got to the meeting and had no trouble with the police or soldiers (many of whom come from Shantung, and hate the Japs as much as the students do). That evening a meeting of the heads of mission schools was hastily summoned (at 10 p.m.), and it appeared that the Governor intended closing all the Government schools on Monday morning (June 9th). The question was: Should the mission schools remain open, and run the risk of becoming centres of propaganda, and, perhaps, incur the displeasure of the Chinese authorities? It was unanimously decided to be better not to wait for the students to strike, but to close down at once, and this decision was passed on to all the mission schools as a recommendation. W—— had been at the meeting, and told us about it early on Monday morning, with the result that we gave the boys till Wednesday evening (June 11th) to clear out. They were quite taken aback, but we had no reason to suppose they would refuse to go. It soon became evident, however, that the students in all the schools had decided to stay on, and try to use the school buildings as centres of political propaganda. We had an anxious time here, and W—— and his Chinese housemaster spent a lot of energy in exhorting the boys to realise our position as foreigners, and the impossibility of allowing the school buildings to be used for any purpose other than religious. W——h, as President, was kept busy talking to deputations from [illegible] boys, who, as soon as one demand was refused, brought up another one. However, in the end, good counsels prevailed, and all the boys had gone early on Thursday morning. In one of the American schools things got to such a pass that the boys had to be locked in until they were willing to clear out.

A FIERCE BOYCOTT.

"A few days later we felt very thankful that the schools were closed. On Friday or Saturday (June 13th or 14th) some twenty students went to a shop owned by a very rich merchant called Mong, who was Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, and asked him if it was true that he had lately bought a lot of stuff from Japanese for sale. He invited them in to talk the matter over, and for greater privacy the door was shut. A crowd collected outside of students and others, who gradually became impatient and forced their way in. Rumour says that four students were killed and many wounded and others arrested by the police and soldiers who appeared. Mong's adopted brother, a colonel in the Army, is said to have reported to the General (Governor) that the shop had been attacked by bandits, and a proclamation was put out saying that the soldiers were occupying the streets to put down the bandits and protect the shops. All the shops straightway closed, and the city was covered with posters and handbills declaring that they would not open until the arrested students had been set free, Mong (the shopman) tried and killed, and the soldiers withdrawn.

"On Monday the Governor gave orders that all students in the streets should be driven into the First Government Middle School, and this was done, about 2,000 being confined in there till next day, when they were let out on credit of good behaviour. The shop strike went on until yesterday, when all the shops opened again, the ex-Treasurer of the Province having gone bail for the appearance for trial of the merchant Mong within five days. It seems that the rumour of four students having lost their lives is probably false, but it is not easy to disprove, as the people have lost all confidence in the truthfulness of the authorities (if they ever had any).

"Just before these last incidents in Foochow the three chief offenders in the Peking Government were dismissed, and now the President, the Premier, and the whole Cabinet have resigned, saying they cannot deal with the situation. Such is the power and such are the methods of 'Young China,' as found in the student class.

"We had an Ordination Service in Trinity Chapel on Trinity Sunday, when Bishop Hind for the first time ordained a priest and a deacon, both belonging to Kutien district. There were twenty-two clergy present in their robes, making quite an imposing procession. It was quite a warm day (89° or so), which made the two hours' Service a little trying, but we all survived."

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS.

LIST OF AGENCIES FOR RELIEF.

A GUIDE FOR APPLICANTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—You have commented editorially that the civil population—here and in Great Britain—is getting bewildered about the case of the discharged soldiers; that the State is sincerely anxious to help those men and has voted big sums for the purpose; and that the discharged men are beginning to labour under a lively sense of injustice. Perhaps, the accompanying list may be of some assistance to the public and to ex-service men. Will you kindly insert it in your columns?—Yours, etc.,

CAROLINE S. ARNOTT, Vice-President, City of Dublin Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society.

MARGARET FETHERSTONHAUGH, Hon. General Secretary for Ireland.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society (Irish Branch), 66 Lower Mount street, Dublin, August 21st, 1919.

LOCAL WAR PENSIONS COMMITTEES (24 Molesworth street, Dublin)—Acting under the Ministry of Pensions, administer the War Pensions Act and deal with all men invalided from the Army and Navy on account of service in the great war, and also with their dependents. Arrange for courses of treatment. Investigate appeals against inadequate pensions or the award of a gratuity in lieu of pension. Make allowances pending the Ministry's decision in appeal cases.

CIVIL LIABILITIES COMMISSION (35 Molesworth street, Dublin)—Assists men who by reason of their service in the recent war are unable to resume their pre-war occupations.

KING'S FUND [illegible]

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' HELP SOCIETY (66 Lower Mount street, Dublin)—Deals with all cases of men suffering from non-attributable disabilities or otherwise ineligible for assistance by Local War Pensions Committees. Helps towards the re-establishment of homes broken up owing to the men's enlistment when ineligible for a Civil Liabilities grant; contributes towards cost of travelling and removal expenses of men taking up employment. Helps men invalided on account of service in former wars.

26 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET, DUBLIN.—There is a Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society Bureau for finding employment for discharged disabled men who served in the recent war, and a Tuberculosis Committee for dealing with tubercular cases.

SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' FAMILIES' ASSOCIATION (35 Dawson street, Dublin)—Assists the families and dependents of men invalided from the Navy and Army or killed in action, when such cases are ineligible for help by the Local War Pensions Committee; also assists pre-war cases of the families of men still serving.

MINISTRY OF LABOUR (Lord Edward street, Dublin)—Finds employment for discharged and demobilised men. Arranges for courses of special training in cases where a man is unable to resume his pre-war occupation.

JOINT WAR COMMITTEE (40 Merrion square, Dublin)—Established a hostel at 110 Stephen's Green for disabled men undergoing courses of treatment or training in Dublin and accommodates cases of emergency.

CENTRAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR EX-SERVICE MEN (33 Dawson street, Dublin)—Obtains work for discharged soldiers. For this purpose local committees, consisting partly of ex-service men and partly of employers of labour, are being established throughout the country. Accelerates investigation of cases delayed in the Government Departments.

LIAISON OFFICER, LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD (Upper Mount street, Dublin)—Looks after the interest of men on furlough pending demobilisation or discharge. Examines accounts and sees that money due is properly and promptly rendered. Issues orders for civilian clothes when men have been offered immediate employment. In cases of hardship advances small sums (loans) when delay has occurred in remitting postal drafts, or during the period between cessation of Army pay and beginning of unemployment donation. Assists re-enlisted men to obtain prompt payment of their bonus and fortnightly issue of pay.

REGIMENTAL FUNDS (The Regimental Depot)—Practically all regiments have a regimental aid fund for assisting deserving cases of men who served in the regiment and their dependents.

R.D.F. "PRISONERS OF WAR" FUND (66 Lower Mount street, Dublin)—For relief of ex-prisoners of war belonging to the Royal Dublin Fusiliers and the dependents of men who died in captivity.

OFFICERS' AID SOCIETY AND OFFICERS' FAMILIES' FUND—Lansdowne House, London, W.—Assists cases of hardship among officers and their families on account of service in the recent war.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

GENERAL BOTHA.

General Botha's position in South African politics is discussed in a leading article in The Times to-day. There is considerable significance, it states, in the fact that the first political act of General Botha and General Smuts since their return to South Africa is to attend the Provincial Congress of their party at Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State Province. The Free State is the strength of the Nationalist Party, led by General Hertzog, and, by all accounts, the Botha Ministry and the South African Party have not gained ground there lately. A message from Bloemfontein, which we publish to-day, shows that General Botha in his address to the Congress touched on the possibility of reunion with the Nationalists, only to say with some frankness, that he and his party would not buy unity at the expense of their principles—a declaration which is exactly what might be expected from General Botha. It is no exaggeration to say that between the two political parties into which the Dutch of South Africa have split there is a deep division of principle. General Botha, General Smuts, and the South African Party which they lead, accepted in all sincerity the peace that was made at Vereeniging after the South African War, and recognised that the grant of responsible Government to the Transvaal and the Free State, followed by the voluntary union of the four South African States, proved finally the good-will of the British Government and people towards the South African Dutch. That belief inspired their every action during the late war, whereas General Hertzog, even before 1914, has shown that he was prepared to be false to the Union pact, though he had set his hand to it, and when war broke out in Europe he saw in it only an opportunity to work against the Imperial connection. It is not pleasant to know that the intransigeance of General Hertzog has proved more attractive to large numbers of the Dutch-speaking people of South Africa than the resolution of General Botha and General Smuts to stand by their pledges, but so it is, and account must be taken of this development, for it will have a profound influence on the next General Election, which need not be held till the end of 1920, but is likely to take place in the spring. The growth of the Hertzog cult jeopardises the position of the Botha Ministry, especially now that the war is over.

THE LABOUR OUTLOOK.

Events during the past ten days have had a remarkably steadying effect on organised Labour, says The Times, and there is growing support for the view expressed in The Times a week ago, that we seem to have reached a turning point in the industrial warfare which has been actively carried on in the country for six months, or more. The real desire of large numbers of workers now is to enjoy and get the full benefit of the wage advances and improvements in working conditions gained during and since the war, and it is realised that this will not be achieved by participation in strikes—which in all probability would fail in their purpose—for objects of a non-industrial character. If the wages now paid can be maintained, and if industry can be established, the economic situation of the country improved, and the cost of living gradually reduced, the prospects before the working classes are as good as can be hoped for. Suspicions concerning the equitable distribution of the profits which might accrue from greater output have yet to be removed from the minds of many of the workers. If this point could be cleared up, and it could be shown that employers were prepared to take their own part whole-heartedly in securing increased production, the way might be open to a real national effort. Trade union leaders have seen the danger which threatens the country, and their co-operation could be secured; but the rank and file of the working classes want to see associated with the demand for harder work from them rigorous and sweeping economies by the Government, the elimination of the "profiteer," small or great, ruthless dealings with inefficiency in high places, and an assurance that employers have other and better motives than the mere accumulation of wealth when they ask for the help of Labour in re-establishing and reconstructing industry. There is great need that the workers should be told the facts of the country's peril; but there is equal need that when they are asked to "work, work, work," they should know that the Government, Parliament, and every section of the nation are ready and able to respond to the call which has been made.

AMERICA AND THE PEACE TREATY.

In the course of a long message, dated August 20, the Washington Correspondent of The Times states that the President yesterday had his much-advertised meeting with members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate. The meeting lasted over three hours, and was followed by lunch. It was friendly and good-tempered. The President submitted to detailed cross-examination on contentious points of the Treaty. He answered all questions frankly, save in cases where he felt himself bound in confidence not to divulge matters appertaining to the affairs of other nations. As far as the situation at Washington is concerned, the most important thing in the conference was Mr. Wilson's admission that interpretative reservations would not matter, but could be added to the Treaty without spoiling it. The admission encourages moderate Republicans and Democrats, who for some time past have been inclining towards annotations to the Treaty as the best way out of the present impasse. Stalwart Republicans like Senator Lodge, and Radical Republicans like Senator Borah, on the other hand, left the conference in the same frame of mind as they entered it. The Treaty, they proclaim, must be textually altered.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

Commenting on the outlook in Russia, The Times says:—While concentric pressure is being put upon the Bolshevist Army, appeals from Archangel continue to be received in this country against the withdrawal of the British Forces. No Englishman can read those appeals unmoved. None would wish this country to incur the reproach of having abandoned to a terrible fate those who had placed their trust in us. At the same time, it is clear that our occupation of the Archangel region cannot be indefinitely prolonged. The conclusion seems obvious. The surest and the most economical way of bringing help to Russia, and releasing our forces in the North without dishonour to ourselves, would be to concentrate effort and attention against Petrograd, and help our Allies in that region to strike the Bolshevist enemy so resounding a blow as to shatter his prestige. If doubt be felt as to the necessity of dealing in earnest with the Bolshevist menace while there is yet time, it should be removed by the Bolshevist announcement that a new department has been formed in the Foreign Commissariat at Moscow for the purpose of "looking after" all matters concerning the "Moslem East," and especially Turkey and Persia.

DOCK CONGESTION.

The seriousness of dock congestion is emphasised in The Times to-day. It states that there has been no exaggeration in the accounts which have appeared regarding the state of congestion now prevailing at the Milwall Docks. Every inch of warehouse space is crammed with goods. The quays are so crowded that it is difficult to walk along them. Barges everywhere are filled to the brim with goods that should have been taken away from the docks long before this. The state of congestion at the Port of Liverpool is still bad, even if it is not going to worse. It is probable that never in Liverpool's history have the docks, sheds, and warehouses been choked as they are to-day. Cargo vessels have to wait days, and sometimes weeks, for their berths, and even then days or weeks must elapse before they can be unloaded, and turned around. In consequence of the congested sheds the work of getting the goods away is considerably delayed, and the holding up of ships adds to shipping expenses, and, therefore, reacts on freight prices.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

The Times publishes reports from different parts of England, showing the way in which the housing problem is being dealt with by the local authorities. In nearly every case progress is said to be slow, while the congestion remains as bad as ever. Various reasons are given for the delay. Complaints come from two localities of the "red tape" methods of the Government Departments concerned, and labour and materials are said to be scarce; and at Sheffield it is urged that bricklayers, urgently needed for the erection of houses, are engaged on non-essential work, such as the building of picture palaces.

THE FINLAND GULF FIGHT.

SPLENDID WORK OF BRITISH MOTOR BOATS.

DASHING EXPLOIT.

BOLSHEVIK REVERSES IN LAND FIGHTING.

A Times telegram, dated Helsingfors, August 19th (delayed) states:—Some details are now available of the dashing exploit of the British coastal motor boats in attacking the Bolshevist fleet, and sinking two Bolshevist battleships and a destroyer. The action took place immediately off Kronstadt, over a Bolshevist minefield. The motor boats attacked without the support of the fleet, but were accompanied by three aeroplanes, one of which came down near the Styrsudus lighthouse, where the crew were safely picked up. The British losses were three motor boats sunk by gunfire, and one blown up by a mine.

The returning flotilla received a triumphant welcome on reaching its base at Bjorko (Finland).

Last night the Bolshevists retaliated by an air raid on Terifoki. Seven bombs were dropped, but the damage was inconsiderable. It is impossible to over-estimate the debt of the Baltic States to this small and indefatigable squadron, under Rear-Admiral Cowan. Had it not been here, the Bolshevist craft would have ravaged Scandinavian waters unchecked.

CLEVERLY PREPARED PLANS.

Now that a definite stage in the operations against Kronstadt has been reached by yesterday's fight, it is admissible to state that the squadron's action has been much wider than was generally believed. From the moment of the arrival of the squadron in the Gulf of Finland the destroyers, coastal motor boats, trawlers, and seaplanes carried on a ceaseless struggle, the first object being to contain the enemy within their own minefield, and the second to pursue and harass him there, inflicting the maximum of moral and physical damage with the minimum of risk. The officers and their crews for weeks together have not enjoyed an unbroken night, owing to alarms, or to irksome patrol duty. All service in the Baltic is rendered exceedingly dangerous by the multitude of mines. At last the Bolshevists desisted from their former retaliatory tactics, and the British aeroplanes raided Kronstadt almost daily, producing a lamentable state of nerve and fatigue among the defenders. This culminated in the bombardment of the 13th inst., resulting in a huge fire.

Reuter's Agency learns that, according to a telegram from Reval of August 19, the Bolshevik warships which were recently in action with the British coastal motor boats in the Gulf of Finland were forced to leave Kronstadt Harbour owing to a fire, which started in the gorts and along the sea front, by the combined bombardment and air raid. The fleet, which the telegram states consisted of three battleships, five destroyers, and a number of smaller vessels, accordingly put to sea, and had not proceeded far before it came into contact with the British naval forces, with the result known.

BRITISH SUCCESS AT MURMANSK.

The War Office last night issued the following communiqué:—A wire from Murmansk, dated 20th August, reports that the enemy were attacked by our troops seven miles south of Kapasolga, after an artillery bombardment. The enemy were driven from their positions, and pursued south for several miles, prisoners being captured and losses inflicted. Our Russian troops on the Shunga Peninsula dispersed the enemy, and captured 59 prisoners, with three machine guns. Our Russian troops, after a sharp fight, captured a village about twenty miles south of Murmansk, our former position on the Shunga Peninsula. Thirty-two enemy dead were counted east of Lake Onega. Two enemy forces attempted to attack a village in our possession, but lost the direction, and attacked each other, suffering severe losses.

Reuter's Agency learns that on Admiral Koltchak's front fighting continues to the west of the Tobal river. The Siberian left wing, which was advancing on Cheliabinsk, has apparently been forced to come to a standstill in consequence of the withdrawal reported yesterday of the right wing beyond Tiumen. A shortage of rifle ammunition has been noticed among the Bolhseviks.

GENERAL DENIKIN'S SUCCESS.

On the southern front, General Denikin's advance continues, and his troops are slowly but surely forcing their way to Saratoff, Tamboff, Voronezh, Kensk, and Kieff. All the efforts of the Bolsheviks to check the advance have been unsuccessful, and they have sustained heavy losses. On the north-western front General Yudevitch has rejoined the Esthonian troops, and has renewed the offensive, which is developing favourably. The Red troops have been driven to the south-east of Yamburg, beyond the Luga river, and the approaches to the town are now occupied. Near Pskoff Bolshevik attacks have been beaten off. Prisoners, guns, and stores were captured in recent operations.

IMPORTANT RUMANIAN-UKRAINIAN AGREEMENT.

The Ukrainian Press Bureau in London informs Reuter's Agency that it has received intelligence from Bucharest, under date 18th inst., that the negotiations entered upon between an extraordinary Ukrainian Mission despatched by General Petlura, President of the Directory of the new Republic, and the Rumanian Government have terminated to the satisfaction of both parties. The Rumanian Government accords to the Government of Independent Ukraine a passage through its territory for armaments, munitions, and other indispensable supplies. The Governments pledge themselves not to take up arms against each other, and Rumania has, in addition, agreed to be the interpreter at the Peace Conference of the wishes of the Ukraine. This important agreement, the first serious step towards the recognition of the independence of the Ukraine, has afforded the latter an opportunity of considerably developing the struggle against the Bolsheviks.

UKRAINIAN ELECTORAL SUCCESS.

A Reuter Berne telegram of Thursday says:—The Ukrainian Press Bureau here issues a statement to the effect that in the elections for Communal Councils in the Ukraine the Bolsheviks have suffered a crushing defeat, anti-Bolsheviks having obtained two thousand of the votes in spite of the terroristic measures of their opponents.

PRESIDENT POINCARE'S BIRTHDAY.

MESSAGE FROM THE KING.

A Paris telegram, dated Wednesday, says:—On the occasion of his birthday President Poincaré has received a large number of congratulatory telegrams. One of these came from King George, and said:—"Once again, M. le President, I have the privilege of sending you my cordial congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of your birthday. I rejoice sincerely that its celebration is no longer clouded by the menace which an unscrupulous neighbour maintained for so long against your country, or by the effect involved in the terrible conflict now so happily terminated.

(Signed) "GEORGE R.I."

THE SHAH'S VISIT.

Reuter's Agency learns that the Shah of Persia, who has arrived at Constantinople, intends to proceed to Switzerland. The first part of the journey will be in a British warship, and His Majesty will land at a French or Italian port.

DUBLIN NEWSPAPER SUPPRESSED.

A printing works in Dublin was searched yesterday afternoon by a party of detectives, in charge of an inspector. The Irishman, one of a number of papers printed in the establishment, was suppressed, the formes being seized and taken away.

MILITARY SEARCHES IN DUNDALK.

Yesterday morning, at 2 o'clock, a large force of police and military searched the premises of the National Club, Seatown place, Dundalk. These premises have only recently been acquired by the local Sinn Fein Club. Afterwards the party searched the licensed premises of John McQuill, Bridge street, and the publichouse of James McQuill in Market square. Some documents were taken away, but nothing else was found.

The Foreign Office states that Viscount Grey of Fallodon expects to leave England on September 16th, in order to take up his new post at Washington.

NEW HUNGARIAN CABINET.

ARCHDUKE TO STAND DOWN.

MARTIAL LAW IMPOSED.

PROSECUTION OF KAROLYI.

A Reuter's Berlin telegram of Thursday says:—According to Budapest telegrams in the papers, the Archduke Joseph, after long negotiations, has declared his readiness to retire from his post, and await the result of the elections as a private person.

The new Cabinet, it is added, will be a Coalition one, with M. Lovaczy as Premier and Foreign Minister; M. Vazany as Minister of Justice; the Socialist, M. Garami, Minister of Commerce, and the Socialists, Messrs. Peidl and Prager, in socio-political posts.

A Budapest message, via Copenhagen, says that the crimes to be dealt with by courtmartial will be offences against loyalty to the State, and the penalty of death is to be imposed upon anyone who tries to restore the Communist rule, or who by word, attitude, or deed attempts an act of violence against the authorities or any class of citizen.

A telegram from Budapest of Wednesday's date says that martial law has been declared throughout Hungary.

The Hungarian official journal states, according to a Reuter's Berlin telegram, that Count Karolyi will be put on trial, on a charge of being concerned in the disappearance of vast sums, and will also have to answer other charges. One of Karolyi's friends, a journalist, has been arrested.

SILESIAN REVOLT.

SITUATION STILL SERIOUS.

An Exchange Company's telegram says:—Reports from Berlin state that the situation in Upper Silesia is still serious. The Germans think that a well-organised revolution has broken out. The Poles are calling to the Colours men between 20 and 40 years of age, and are occupying the country. Despite the fact that the German troops are still being reinforced, they are unable to resist the Poles. Great bloodshed is reported on both sides. In Oberboischcow the Poles murdered forty German soldiers.

AN AGREEMENT REACHED.

A Press Association Berlin telegram of yesterday says:—After two days' conference between the German Government and the Polish Mission, which was attended by Herr Noske, Minister of Defence, and General Dupont, Chief of the French Mission, the following resolution was adopted:—"(1) The Germans will refrain from further executions; (2) an Inter-Allied Commission will proceed to Upper Silesia; (3) the Polish Mission now in Berlin will go to Warsaw to-morrow for a few days until the Inter-Allied Commission has reported on the situation in Upper Silesia; (4) the final meeting will be held to-morrow, after which the Polish Mission will leave."

According to the Polish Mission's version of events in Upper Silesia, reproduced in the Zwoelf uhr Blatt, Bolshevik elements play no part in the movement, which broke out as a protest against a long-continued state of siege, during which many hundreds of people have been arrested and several Polish leaders have been removed. The present exceptional régime in Upper Silesia, was applied, it is declared, one-sidedly, but no distinction of nationality marks the strike, which includes Poles and Germans. The oppressive measures of the German Government worked a subterranean movement which got out of control.

ATTACK ON HERR ERZBERGER.

There were tumultuous scenes in yesterday's Assembly, says a Press Association telegram from Weimar on Thursday, during the debate on the nine thousand million mark loan bill, as a result of a fresh attack on Herr Erzberger by the German National Deputy.

Herr Hogenberg, who, as an expression of lack of confidence, moved a reduction of the loan from nine to eight millard, repeated familiar accusations, to which Herr Erzberger replied. The commotion was so great that in the end neither the remarks of the speaker nor the many interjections of the Deputies could be understood.

When Herr Hogenberg tried to speak again he was shouted down by the Left.

Subsequently women Deputies interpellated the Government regarding the economic demobilisation of women and their social demands.

Bills relative to the loan of nine thousand million marks and the carrying out of the Peace Treaty passed the National Assembly.

After a short debate on Wednesday, the Wednesday, the National Assembly adopted the Constitution Committee's motion to appoint a sub-committee of twenty-eight members instead of an Extraordinary State Tribunal, proposed by the Government.

BANK OFFICIALS' STRIKE.

A Reuter's telegram from Hamburg on Thursday says:—Bank officials who are on strike here held a meeting to-day, which was attended by 1,800 persons. They unanimously agreed, with five abstentions, to accept the verdict of the Berlin Arbitration Committee.

GOVERNMENT LEGISLATION.

IMPORTANT DECISION ON STANDARDISATION.

In a letter to the Press, Mr. Lloyd George states that, in addition to the Government's programme announced in Parliament, there were several proposals to which the Government are committed, and to which he had not time to refer in his speech on Monday. These include a proposal to make inquiry and undertake propaganda work with the object of the promotion of increased output. The Government also intends to collect fuller information about production, trade prices, costs and profits, than has hitherto been obtained, and to seek any powers that may be necessary for the purpose, with a view to protecting the public against any harmful effects of trusts and combinations. The Government require powers of inquiry as a preliminary to taking action in time, if action should become advisable. Powers have already been obtained under the "Profiteering" Act for a period of six months, but the Government intend to introduce legislation in the autumn designed to secure powers of a more complete and more adequate nature. As to standardisation, there is a growing recognition of the importance to the future of British industry of the principle and practice of this system, but so far the State has done little. It is proposed, therefore, to set up at the Board of Trade a Department of Standards—first, to promote and co-ordinate standardisation generally; and, secondly, to establish and administer such testing institutions as may be found necessary, and to authorise, and, so far as may be required, supervise the testing work carried out by technical institutions, trade organisations, and private concerns.

OUTRAGES IN IRELAND

CONDEMNED BY WESTMEATH COUNCIL.

Our Athlone Correspondent telegraphed last night as follows:—

Arising out of the payment of £1,185 to the Secretary of State for War for the burning of hay in Athlone Barracks on the night on which a public meeting, addressed by Mr. Ginnell, M.P., was dispersed by a bayonet charge in Athlone, at the quarterly meeting of the Westmeath County Council to-day in Athlone, Mr. P. McKenna, J.P., moved a resolution condemnatory of the murders and outrages occurring throughout the country. He said that, as public representatives, they would be cowardly if they did not express their condemnation. He did not see how any Catholic could have any sympathy with the abominable pests who were perpetrators of crime. I think, said Mr. McKenna, that a storm of indignation should go forth from the elected representatives of the people. The instigators of those crimes are no acquisition to any political party or organisation. He proposed:—

> That we condemn in the strongest terms our language can afford the murders and outrages that are occurring in various parts of the country. We believe they are engineered by dangerous pests of society. We hope that the solemn warning of the Catholic Hierarchy will have the desired effect of putting an end to these cowardly and criminal acts.

He said that in a good many dioceses and parishes in Ireland the Ten Commandments were out of print.

Mr. Ballasty seconded the resolution.

Mr. Flanagan said that he denied that the hay in Athlone Barracks was burned by the people.

The resolution was passed.

THE PROCLAMATION OF PEACE.

WHEN THE TREATY TAKES EFFECT.

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT WILSON.

A Reuter's Washington telegram of yesterday says:—President Wilson, replying to one of the twenty written questions regarding the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations, submitted to him at the close of his recent conference with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that he had not the power to declare peace by proclamation, nor could he consent in any circumstances to take such a course prior to the ratification of the formal Treaty of Peace by the Senate.

Referring to another question, the President said that the provision by which the Treaty would come into force after its ratification by Germany and three of the principal Allied and Associated Powers, operated merely to establish peace between those ratifying Powers. It was questionable whether it could be said that the League of Nations was in any sense created by the association of only three of the Allies and Associated Governments.

Regarding the distribution of Germany's possessions, the President said that the arrangement in the Treaty conveyed no title to the Allied and Associated Powers, but merely entrusted the territory in question to their decision. Germany's renunciation in favour of the principal Allied and Associated Powers of her right and title over her overseas possessions, is meant simply to operate as vesting in those Powers trusteeship with respect to their final disposition and government.

The President further stated that there had been a provisional agreement regarding the disposition of those overseas possessions, confirmation as to the exception of which was dependent on the approval of the League of Nations, and the United States as a party to it. Mr. Wilson added that the only agreement between Great Britain and France regarding African territory of which he was cognisant concerned the redisposition of rights already possessed by those countries in that Continent.

A Reuter's Rio de Janeiro telegram of Wednesday says:—The President of the Republic has sent the text of the Peace Treaty with a message asking for its ratification.

THE SINN FEIN LOAN.

AN AMBITIOUS SCHEME.

£10,000 FOR A CONSULAR SERVICE.

Mr. Arthur Griffith presided yesterday in the Dublin Mansion House at the Ard Chomairle of Sinn Fein. Delegates were present from different parts of Ireland. The report of the Hon. Secretaries contained the following statements:—

"In view of the fact that the Dail has appropriated sums of money for the purposes of—(1) National Civil Service scheme applying to the offices in the gift of the local authorities; (2) carrying out a scheme of afforestation, and (3) aiding and advising on the development of fisheries, and that the active co-operation and support of the local authorities is essential to the success of these schemes, it is obvious that the Sinn Fein organisation must exert all its efforts to secure that the personnel of the local boards will reflect the will and purpose of the people, and that they may be depended upon to use their machinery for the national good.

"It is well to mention here that the food problem will be very acute this winter, and we ask the delegates to see to it that in their constituencies enough food is conserved to tide the country over the coming winter and spring. No doubt Dail Eireann is taking proper measures, but a reminder here will not be amiss."

THE REPUBLICAN LOAN.

Under the heading "Republican Loan," the report stated—"Upon this loan the whole constructive policy of Dail Eireann depends. Its success in America has already been assured, and it only remains for our country to cooperate with equal enthusiasm. Copies of the prospectus will be distributed amongst the delegates, and their loyal co-operation is earnestly requested. As already instructed by Dail Eireann, the most prominent supporters of Sinn Fein in each constituency will be asked to form a central committee, presided over by the Teacta, who will proceed to make arrangements for forming a collecting and advertising committee in every parish, and, if necessary, in every half parish throughout the constituency. President de Valera's mission to America has been a colossal success, the labours and triumph of which are shared by Mr. H. Boland, our absent hon. secretary, whose progress we watch with pride and pleasure. The enthusiasm which has greeted them and our representatives already there should be very helpful."

The report was adopted.

OBJECTS OF THE LOAN.

Mr. Collins submitted a statement in detail on the launching of the scheme for the Dail Eireann loan. The purposes of the loan are:—"To finance a Consular Service, for which £10,000 has been voted by An Dail for one year. To develop and encourage Irish sea fisheries, for which £10,000 has been voted by An Dail. To develop and encourage the reafforestation of the country. Under this scheme a Director of Forestry will be appointed. £1,000 has been voted as a preliminary amount to help the project. To develop and encourage Irish industrial effort. With a view to doing this effectively a Commission has been set up to inquire into and report on the industrial resources and possibilities of this country. Under this head £5,000 has been voted by An Dail. To establish a National Civil Service. In order to pursue a preliminary investigation on this subject An Dail has voted £500. To establish National Arbitration Courts.

Continuing, Mr. Collins said that even if nothing came of this movement—which was impossible—the loan would be redeemed by the next Irish Government, even as they were to-day redeeming the Fenian bonds. Meetings were to be held all over the country in aid of the loan. If it was the success they hoped for, the people of this country would never again think of Westminster. The national position would have been solidified for all time when the Irish people had invested their money in the Irish nation. Proposals were being considered at the moment for the establishment of a land mortgage bank to provide money to buy the land for the people in the case of the untenanted tracts. The proposal was that the Dail should guarantee such a bank by lending a sum of £250,000. The Land Guarantee Society, consisting of groups of landless men, will put up 25 per cent. of the purchase price, the bank would provide the remaining 75 per cent., and the bank would further issue bonds for purchase by the public. The scheme, in his opinion, would get rid of a great deal of the agricultural labour difficulty, because the real way out was to make those landless men owners themselves of land. An indication of the state of feeling in America might be gauged from the fact that the President, who was authorised to raise 1,250,000 dollars for the loan, had since asked permission to have his amount increased to 25,000,000 dollars, and Mr. de Valera was not a man to make miscalculations. He would not ask for permission to have the amount so largely increased unless he had good reasons for believing he would get the money. (Applause.)

A resolution was passed welcoming the loan.

ORGANISATION.

The report on organisation said that there were districts which were still backward in the matter of organisation, or in which from various causes the organisation had weakened, but these were having the special attention of the organisation. The report also made the following statement on membership and affiliation fees for period January 1st to August 15th:—No. of Cumainn on Register, 1,822; do. do., affiliated, 1919, 1,117, or 61.3 per cent.; do., do., paid membership fee for 1919, 65, or 3.5 per cent. In a large number of cases membership fees for 1918 have not yet been been paid.

The report of the Director of Elections stated that an effort was made to find out the financial position of each constituency, with special regard to the expenses incurred at the General Election and the manner in which the revision was being conducted, and a circular was sent out to constituency directors, but only forty replies had been received, many of which did not contain the full information asked for.

It was also announced that Dail Eireann had set up a Commission of Inquiry into the resources and industries of Ireland. This Commission would sit in Dublin about the middle of September, and take evidence from people all over the country on the nation's industries and resources.

Arising out of the report of the Hon. Treasurers, Father Moran pointed out that, of 1,822 clubs, only 1,140 had affiliated to date. On those figures there would be 682 clubs not entitled to representation at the Ard Fheis. It was decided to extend the time for affiliation to September 25th.

CLARE SHOOTING CASE.

THE DEATH OF FRANCIS MURPHY.

COUNSEL'S CHARGE AGAINST THE MILITARY.

EVIDENCE AT THE INQUEST.

The circumstances concerning the shooting of Francis Murphy, the boy who was shot in his father's house at Glan recently, were investigated to-day, says our Special Reporter in a telegram from Ennis last night, when the inquest was resumed in the Courthouse, Ennistymon, by Mr. James Lynch, Coroner for North Clare. Mr. P. Lynch, K.C. (instructed by Mr. J. B. Lynch), appeared for the next-of-kin.

District Inspector Mara, who represented the police authorities, gave evidence to the effect that he examined the house, which bore several bullet marks. The front room window, through which, he assumed, the bullets passed, was not broken, as he found that it was open at the top. Some of the bullet holes were right through the shutter. In the bedroom, in which the bullets lodged after passing through the wall, he found a bullet on the top of a child's cot, which was close to the cross wall. He was told by a member of the family that this cot was alongside the bed when the shooting took place.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch, the witness said that at least eleven or twelve shots were fired from the front. He was of opinion that the seven or eight bullets, which must have gone through the back window, could not have come from the back of the house. Some of the holes were even larger than those usually made by bullets, but that could be caused by a bullet passing sideways. There was an armoured car at the police barracks about midnight on the 13th inst., the night of the occurrence. He did not know if it carried a machine gun. It came from Ennistymon, but he could not tell where it went. It left about one o'clock in the morning. He understood that, in consequence of recent proclamations, people were obliged to keep within doors at night. He had not seen any military police in Ennistymon. The railway track runs beside the workhouse, where the military are stationed. There would be no difficulty for a man leaving Mr. Murphy's house to get on to the railway track.

A MILITARY BULLET.

Replying to further questions, the witness said that he formed the opinion that the bullet was a military one, but he could not say whether it was of an up-to-date pattern, because they change from time to time.

Mr. Lynch stated that he would give evidence to prove that it was an up-to-date bullet, and that the shooting was done by the military.

Witness—I am only giving evidence of what I saw, and I am answering as straight as possible.

Mr. Lynch—I recognise that you are giving your evidence with the utmost candour. Did Mrs. Murphy tell you when you went to her house that she believed that it was the military who shot her son?

Witness—She said that to me on the morning of the 14th August. Since the occurrence the Murphy family had not been under protection, in fact they were protecting very few now.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Dr. Denis Keane gave evidence to the effect that there were two wounds on the body. They could have been caused by a bullet going diagonally through the body. He did not find the bullet, but he traced its passage. In his opinion death was instantaneous.

Dr. Peter O'Dwyer expressed agreement with Dr. Keane's statement.

POLICE SERGEANT EXAMINED.

Sergeant John Lawless deposed to visiting the house with other police, and finding portion of the covering of a bullet embedded in the wall of a bedroom. Other police picked up bullets.

In reply to Mr. Lynch, the witness said that shots appeared to have been fired from the road. There was great sympathy with the family, which was very popular. The witness inquired of Mrs. Murphy whether she intended to make a claim for compensation, and she said that they would make no claim; that nobody in the county would injure them.

Similar police evidence having been given, Mr. Mara was about to call Miss Agnes Murphy, when Mr. Lynch intimated that he proposed to examine her.

Mr. Mara mentioned that he intended to call her and a man named Conolee.

Mr. Lynch said that he was charging the military with causing the death of the boy, and intended to call these two witnesses, and they should not be taken away from him.

Mr. Mara stated that he had put forward all the evidence that he could.

COUNSEL'S STATEMENT.

It was agreed to have the witnesses called by Mr. Lynch, who then addressed the jury, and said that the aspersion had been cast, that some of the people of the county had perpetrated this awful deed. Martial law was imposed upon the county on August 9th, and a week later what was called an apologia for placing it upon Clare was published by those who were responsible for Government, and in it was mentioned this incident, placing upon the shoulders of Ireland the ignominy of this disgraceful murder. He thought that it was disgraceful for the military authorities to place in the district a large number of troops, and to leave no Military Police to look after their vagaries or expeditions at night amongst the unoffending people of the district. The house was fired into from the public road, and it had been suggested that this was the work of people in the district. They should remember that there were windows at the back, through which a person could fire if he were an enemy of the Murphy family, but there was no one who could be pointed out as having the slightest ill-will against them. He would prove that the shots were fired by three soldiers wearing His Majesty's uniform. The Government under which they were living was the Government of the Ulster Provisional Government. There were some people in the Government who were supposed to exercise some control, but they had merely speaking parts. The associations which they are trying to suppress by proclamation would flourish all over the world when the Ulster Provisional Government would be known only to the disgust of every decent-minded man. Their enemies were disappointed at having no rebellion since 1916. They would get no rebellion now, because the people had adopted other means of beating them. They had beaten them when conscription was threatened, and they would beat them under martial law. (Applause.)

The Coroner—I cannot allow this to go on. This is not a political meeting. We must conduct this the same as any other court.

Mr. Lynch then concluded his address by urging the jury to find a verdict of wilful murder against the military.

THE SHOOTING DESCRIBED.

Miss Agnes Murphy, a sister of the deceased boy, stated that she slept in the bedroom facing the road, in front of that occupied by her father and mother. She went to bed about half-past eleven (old time), leaving her brother reading near the kitchen fire. Some time later she was awakened by shots. She got up, and found her brother lying dead in a pool of blood on the floor. She said a prayer into his ear, and then shouted that Frank was dead. She went back to her room, and some shots came through the window. She saw the heads and shoulders of three fellows at the eastern side of the stile, outside the wall, at the side of the road. They were moving in the direction of Ennis, and were in "a whiteish, grey-coloured dress," as it appeared in the moonlight. They were bare-headed, and seemed to have something like a strap on their shoulders. She saw them as they passed the stile. She again shouted that Frank was shot, and her father cried out to her to lie low or she would be riddled; but she told him that the fellows had gone. For some years her brother had been in the Fianna Scouts, and always wore their badge.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mara—Would you be able to say that the men you saw were dressed in military clothes? To the best of my opinion they were military.

Were you at any time under the impression that they had coats off? The colour of their clothes might lead to the belief that they had their coats off, as the clothes were of a light colour.

A NIGHT WATCHMAN'S STORY.

Patrick Conolee, a night watchman, employed by the West Clare Railway Company, stated that he left his house near Glann about a quarter to two on the morning of 14th August to go on duty. On a borreen leading to the railway track he heard footsteps, and he halted. Then he heard a shot, and he saw three men, with belts around them, in white coats, and wearing peaked caps. The night was quite bright, and he could see that they were in uniform. They were not policemen. They were about forty yards from him when he heard the shot. He shouted to them, and said that he was going to the railway station. One of the men shouted back and told him to go ahead. He went ahead quickly. He had no doubt that the men were soldiers.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mara, the witness admitted that in a statement made to Constable Clarke he said that he could not say whether they were police or military. They were a good bit away from him, but he was now positive that they were military.

Did you ever see a military man with a coat like the ones you say that those men wore? Yes.

Where? Around the town here.

The witness denied that he ever told a policeman that it was a dark night.

At this stage the inquest was adjourned until to-morrow at 2.30.

WIDNES ELECTION.

LABOUR CANDIDATE'S FULL PROGRAMME.

LARGEST MEASURE OF IRISH HOME RULE.

The decision of the National Democratic Party not to contest the seat, says a telegram from Widnes yesterday, leaves a clear field for the nominees of the Unionist and Labour parties respectively. The electoral machinery is now in motion, and the Central Committee rooms are employing large staffs, many of the workers hailing from distant electoral areas. The disappearance of Mr. Councillor Millar, the National Democrat, from the field was the outcome of a conference held in London on Wednesday. The final word was not left with the local organisation, but lay with the central body. Mr. Millar returned to Widnes with the information that he was no longer even a "potential" candidate. Some piquancy is given to the situation by the announcement that Mr. J. A. Seddon, M.P., Chairman of the General Council of the National Democratic Council, is to visit the division for the purpose of speaking at meetings in support of the Unionist candidate, Mr. Fisher.

THE UNIONIST CANDIDATE.

Mr. Fisher is following in his speeches closely on the lines of his published addresses. The war, he says, has remodelled human thought in this country. The spirit of heroism is not dead. The conduct of our women has been splendid. The Navy, the Army, the civil population, and the mercantile marine combined have made victory possible. We want now to make the peace a lasting reality; yet we are beset with difficult labour problems. Labour wants its place in the sun. We can all help to secure this end, but we cannot attain this object without some plain language, which will pave the way to a clear understanding. Labour, like capital, has its rights and its obligations. The worker has a right to live, a right to work, and a right to strike. He has a right to demand some share of the happiness of living, and the prospect of a decent future for himself and for his family. He appeals for humanitarian legislation.

MR. HENDERSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Arthur Henderson issued his election address to-night. It deals with a variety of topics, and he says:—It can hardly be claimed that the Government during the past eight months have fulfilled the expectations created by the pledges and promises made at the General Election. The Government seem totally lacking in vision. Their policy is one of indecision and drift. Instead of endeavouring to give effect to a definite and comprehensive policy of reconstruction adequate to the nation's need, they have resorted to patchwork and plasters. They have, however, been thorough and consistent in administrative inefficiency and extravagant expenditure, and it is quite impossible for the Prime Minister, even if he wished to do so, to launch out on bold and audacious schemes of social and industrial reform when the bulk of his followers are reactionary and fearful of change. Although the "profiteering" scandals have aroused the people to a high pitch of resentment, and discontent, the Government could only introduce proposals which fell miserably short of an adequate solution. The industrial situation is menacing, the internal conditions of Ireland are a scandal and a reproach, and the impending cessation of military intervention in Russia and the prospective termination of military conscription have only been secured by strong and persistent pressure on the part of the organised workers. In regard to national finance, Mr. Henderson urged that the nation can pay its way by adjusting taxation strictly according to ability to pay, by an increase and a steeper graduation of the super-tax, the increase of death duties, the taxation of land values, and equitable system of a capital tax, which will exempt accumulations on property below £1,000, and tax only lightly those under £5,000.

INCREASED PRODUCTION.

The Labour Party, he says, realise the urgent need for increased production both in the national interest and the interest of the workers themselves, and they demand that the Government shall take steps to remove harassing and unjust social and industrial conditions. The workers demand the public ownership of all key industries—coal mines, railways and canals, transport, the production and supply of electricity, and the setting up of a system of democratic control. Both employers and workpeople must decide a new method of consultation.

In a paragraph on a new social order, Mr. Henderson claims that the Labour Party are the only party which has formulated a programme of reconstruction which can claim to be adequate to the needs of the people. With regard to foreign relations, non-interference in the international affairs of another country is a cardinal principle of democratic foreign policy, and on this ground he is opposed to military intervention in Russia, which has been both futile and expensive. The Labour Party does not regard the Peace Treaty in its present form as the final and complete effort of statesmanship to establish international peace and justice. Labour stands for a speedy revision of the Peace Treaty articles relating to the League of Nations, in order to secure the establishment of an inclusive and democratic League. The violation of the principle of self-determination, and the failure to secure drastic international disarmament call for early redress if we are to avoid future wars.

HOME RULE.

In a concluding paragraph, Mr. Henderson states that, upon specific issues, he stands resolutely and loyally by the full Labour programme of national reconstruction. This includes just and generous provision for discharged soldiers and sailors, reinstatement in civic employment at trade union rates of wages, complete restoration of civil liberties, abolition of compulsory military service, adult suffrage, and the abolition of any Second Chamber, which challenges the supremacy of the popularly-elected House of Commons. "For Ireland we demand the immediate application of the fullest possible measure of Home Rule; and, further, we advocate the establishment of separate local legislatures united in a Federal Parliament to deal with local affairs in England, Scotland, and Wales." Reference is also made to the need for a national scheme of housing, reorganisation of agriculture and rural life, a system of mothers' pensions, and a national system of banking. Amongst the many moral reforms to which Mr. Henderson attaches importance is the question of preventing the evils arising from intemperance. His policy contemplates giving localities the power of prohibition to reduce the number of publichouses, and to regulate the conditions of sale.

COUNTY CORK OUTRAGES.

TWO MEN REPORTED WOUNDED.

Our Cork Correspondent telegraphed last night:—A disgraceful outrage was perpetrated at Dripsey, Co. Cork, a few days since in connection with the attempted boycott of the creamery conducted by Miss Colthurst, sister of Captain Bowen Colthurst. Three labourers, while conveying milk to the creamery, were waylaid by a large party of men. They were gagged and bound, their churns emptied on the roadway and smashed, and the harness attaching the animals to the carts was cut to pieces. The assailants, some of whom wore masks, lay in ambush at a suitable part of the road. On the approach of the milk carts they suddenly surrounded them, and, in a leisurely and cool manner, proceeded to tie up and gag the drivers and damage the carts and their contents.

The drivers, Patrick Mahoney and Timothy Ring, and another man, conveying milk belonging to a local magistrate, Mr. M. Fitzgerald, lay helpless on the roadside until they were discovered by some residents of the district, and released.

So far no arrests have been made in connection with the outrage.

Later that night the same gang besieged Shandy Hall, the residence of Mr. John Murphy. They heavily stoned it, and broke some windows. Mr. Murphy, seeing the seriousness of the attack, fired at the attackers, who left, carrying away, it is believed, two of their comrades wounded.

BURNINGS IN CO. KERRY.

Owing to the unprecedented number of incendiary fires in Islandanny (North Kerry), a Vigilance Committee has been organised of all the young men of the district. They perform their nocturnal duties under arms in relays, permission having been granted by the authorities for the carrying and use of same.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

GENERAL STRIKE OR GENERAL ELECTION.

The Labour Correspondent of the London Daily Express writes:—Nationalisation is to be made the basis of a great autumn campaign by the whole movement, not the subject of a mere fight between the miners and the Government. The next month or two will probably see a marshalling of all the political and industrial forces of Labour, for it will be the greatest bid yet made by Labour for political power. Mr. Fred. Bramley, Assistant Secretary to the Parliamentary Committee of the Trade Union Congress, stated that, in his view, the early choice for the Government would be a general strike or a General Election.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN SILESIA.

A Press Association telegram from Copenhagen on Thursday says:—In Upper Silesia it is claimed that the Germans are advancing towards the eastern frontier line Tarnowitz-Beuthen, and have reconquered some villages in the neighbourhood of Kattowitz and Mysolowitz, where the whole countryside at the beginning of the week was lost to the Poles; but, at the same time, a new outbreak is reported from Ratibor, further to the south-west. The fighting seems to have been on a large scale, with aeroplanes and artillery in action, and at times it was very fierce. Reports received here speak of numerous Polish prisoners captured, but it is not concealed that prisoners in several cases have been shot by both parties. The whole revolt apparently was well planned. The Poles took over the administration of the towns as soon as they were occupied, and then called out all males between 20 and 40 for military service. Reports vary in regard to the participation of Polish legionaries in the revolt. Herr Bauber declared at Weimar on Tuesday that Polish regulars had not been found on German territory.

FAMOUS DANCER'S MARRIAGE.

A Times New York telegram of Wednesday says:—When Irene Castle, the famous dancer, was married four months ago to Captain Robert Freman at the Church of the Transfiguration, New York City, she had been his wife for nearly a year, says the New York Herald this morning. Thus she married again three months after the death of Captain Vernon Castle, her first husband, who joined the United States Air Force, and was killed in a flying accident in Texas. Great precautions were taken to keep the second marriage secret, at the request of the bride. Mrs. Castle's second wedding to Captain Freman was an elaborate affair, and took place two days after she had vigorously denied that she was even engaged.

A LUCKY FIND.

A Times Sydney telegram, dated August 18th, says:—A rabbit-catcher, at Mudgee (New South Wales), after rubbing a bees' nest, stumbled on what he found to be a nugget, 14lb. in weight, of the shape of a Maltese Cross, and of practically pure gold.

WHOLESALE RUSSIAN MASSACRES.

An Omsk telegram, dated August 15th, in describing the outrages committed by the Bolshevists, says that before General Diterichs left with his rear guard on July 14th he had 200 marauders shot. A whole day elapsed before the Reds entered the city. It is said that during this interval some Jews, hiding in cellars, were plundered and killed by stragglers. The behaviour of the Reds in Perm and Ekaterinburg has broken all records for brutality. Workmen were murdered wholesale, and mills wrecked. At the Isetsky iron works in Ekaterinburg 3,000 hands were shot for failing to rise against the Koltchak Government.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IN AMERICA.

The passing in the Senate of the bill repealing the Daylight Saving Act over the President's head represents a victory for the farming interests of Kansas and the South, cables the New York Correspondent of The Times. The Senate had passed this bill before, but the President vetoed it, and the measure was then brought forward again. Fifty-seven senators voted for repeal and nineteen against it, and there was thus considerably more than the two-thirds majority necessary to over-rule the Presidential veto.

FIVE MILLIONS DEAL.

I understand, says the Paris Correspondent of the Morning Post from a trustworthy French source, that negotiations are in progress between the French Minister of Justice and a group of English capitalists for the sale to the latter of the important champagne business of G. H. Mumm and Co., of Rheims. The proprietor of this well-known brand of champagne was Baron de Mumm, or Baron von Mumm, as he would be more correctly called, an officer in the German Army. The price offered for the business by the British group in question is understood to be in the neighbourhood of five millions sterling.

DUBLIN HORSE SHOW ATTRACTIONS.

INFLUX OF VISITORS TO THE METROPOLIS.

One would be inclined to think, from the great influx of visitors to Dublin, to attend the famous Horse Show, that "the week of the year" had already commenced. Dublin is now a cosmopolitan centre. There are Americans, Canadians, French, and Belgians, not to mention our neighbours from England and Scotland—all bent on participating in the pleasures of Horse Show Week. Officers who, had there been no fixture at Ballsbridge, would have returned home, are remaining in Ireland, and proprietors of hotels and boarding houses are faced with one of those difficult, yet congenial, problems of finding accommodation where none exists. The principal streets of the city are being thoroughly "done," and a big boom in trade is being experienced.

In the meanwhile Dublin has its old fascination as a city. Its amusements, its environments, its close proximity to the sea, and the many other attractions which it possesses provide recreation and pleasure for the visitors, which insure them against ennui, and offer the means of agreeably making use of the intervening days. The theatres, the music halls, and the picture houses are already experiencing heavy bookings, and it is expected that the races at Leopardstown to-morrow and on Monday, and the races at Phoenix Park on the Friday and Saturday of Show Week, will be attended by large and fashionable gatherings.

A great event of the Show will, of course, be the sales of bloodstock, which take place on Wednesday and Thursday, the 27th and 28th inst., and the popular open cup polo match in the Phoenix Park will undoubtedly prove a most attractive sporting fixture.

FACILITIES FOR FOREIGN EXPORT.

With a view to facilitating foreign buyers attending the Dublin Horse Show next week, the Department of Agriculture have arranged with the War Trade Department that forms of application for the licence required to export horses to foreign countries shall be available during the Show at the office of the Veterinary Inspector of the Department, No. 13, rear of East Hall (facing Ring 5), in the Show grounds. These forms can be filled in by the buyers on the spot, and will then be forwarded, with the Department's report thereon, to the War Trade Department direct.

PAUPERISM IN BELFAST.

The Board of Trade "Labour Gazette" for July shows that the rate of pauperism has fallen in Belfast to 59 per 10,000 of the population per annum. This is the lowest rate in the United Kingdom, as it has been on many previous occasions, but it is also a record for Belfast, as the figure was never before below 60. Bolton and Oldham district is next with 64, and Halifax is third with 68. London is 141, Dublin 258, Cork, Waterford, and Limerick 245.

WORK STOPPED AT SOUTHERN AIRSHIP STATION.

Our Youghal Correspondent telegraphs:—Orders have been received from the Admiralty to stop all work on the big naval airship station at Ballyquirke, near Killeagh, on which several hundred thousand pounds have been already spent. There are about 400 men at work at present, the carpenters being on strike.

COMRADES OF THE GREAT WAR.

MEETING AT PEMBROKE.

GENERAL HICKIE INTERRUPTED.

A meeting was held in the Pensioners' Hall, Ballsbridge, last night, under the auspices of the Comrades of the Great War, in conjunction with the Pembroke War Pensions Sub-Committee. General Sir William Hickie, K.C.B., D.S.O., presided, and the hall was crowded by ex-Service men. The object of the meeting was the formation of a branch and club for Pembroke Township. The proceedings were marked by considerable interruption of the speakers. When the meeting was about to begin, Mr. Keyes, of the Discharged Soldiers' and Sailors' Protection Association, rose, and asked: "On a point of order, by whose authority has General Hickie been moved to the chair?" He proceeded to say that in a Government office disabled men were treated as civilian slackers who stayed at home. It was not the fault of disabled men that they were disabled. It was up to them not to work in Government offices until they put demobilised men in and put civilians out.

Rev. W. Simpson said the meeting had been called under the title of the Comrades of the Great War, and it had been announced that General Hickie would take the chair. He accordingly proposed that the General take the chair. (Applause.)

Mr. Keyes again rose, whereupon there were cries of "Sit down." He went on to say that as a demobilised non-commissioned officer of His Majesty's Forces he objected to General Hickie taking the chair. It was up to a "Tommy" to take the chair.

An ex-soldier from the body of the hall said they had the honour to serve under General Hickie, and he thought that it was only right that he should preside at that meeting.

General Hickie said that a great number of them had served under him, and he thought that they would agree with him that he did his best for the Irish Division, which he loved more than anything else in the world. (Applause.)

A Voice—It is now we want you to do your best.

General Hickie—We are here to-night to talk on the subject of the future of the soldiers——

A Voice—That is the workhouse.

General Hickie proceeded to say that he was out to do his best for the soldier. He had no axe to grind. If he could be shown some other way in which he could help the soldier better he would do so. There was no animosity amongst them, and there could not be any.

Major-General Sawyer, C.B., C.M.G., who was cordially received, expressed his appreciation of General Hickie, with whom he had served in the earlier stages of the war. He described the widespread organisation of the Comrades of the Great War, which was represented in every place in the Empire from which recruits came to fight for their country. The object of that meeting was the formation of a branch, and, later on, the formation of an Old Soldiers' Club.

Mr. Keyes said that he had every respect for General Hickie, and intended no disrespect to him whatever. (Applause.) His chief point was that the ex-Service men were not being properly looked after. They had made application to Lord French, and he had absolutely turned them down. "Slackers" were being retained in the Army Pay Corps, while demobilised men were idle.

A series of interruptions followed, in the course of which it transpired that there were representatives present of the Comrades of the Great War, the Discharged Soldiers' Federation, and the Discharged Soldiers' and Sailors' Protection Association.

The Chairman said that he was told there was to be a meeting of Comrades to decide whether a club was to be formed or not. He had found since he came there that that was not a Comrades' meeting, and, therefore, he must ask leave to withdraw from the chair. If any of those present wished to join the Comrades he would be glad to hear from them.

General Hickie then left the chair, but was re-appointed Chairman by acclamation, and consented to again preside, though he said that he did not do so as a member of the Comrades' organisation.

Mr. Gilmour, Chairman of the Irish Federation of Discharged and Demobilised Soldiers, said that in 1914 and 1915, when the Government were calling for all men possible to join the forces, they made all kinds of promises to them. None of these promises had been fulfilled, and ex-soldiers did not know where to look for pension, gratuity, or anything else. That was why the ex-Service men had formed the Federation.

Rev. Walter Simpson said that as one of those responsible for the calling of that meeting, he wished to point out that they had got a loan of that room from the Pembroke War Pensions Committee. They had hoped to be able to arrange to carry it on permanently as a club, but he had received a letter stating that it would not be possible to let them have the rooms at any future date for any meeting of any kind. Therefore, in forming the club they had a practical difficulty to face in finding premises. He had received a letter from the Right Rev. Monsignor Dunne, P.P., regretting his inability to be present. He (the speaker) wished to say frankly that the only Society he would support was the Comrades of the Great War. (Applause.) That meeting had been summoned by authority of the Comrades, and there were no false pretences about it.

Mr. Webster, organiser of the Comrades of the Great War, addressed the meeting in support of the organisation, and said that the charge that the Comrades had the support of Government money was absolutely unfounded. (A Voice: "Charity.") Not one single penny of Government money had come in to them. (A Voice: "Indirectly it has," and interruption.) Nor was there any likelihood of Government money coming in to their organisation. As to the charge that the Comrades had officers on their Committee, he replied that they were proud to have them there. (Applause.)

At the suggestion of the Chairman the meeting then proceeded to take steps to form a club for ex-soldiers.

A cordial vote of thanks was passed to Major-General Hickie for presiding.

THE SURVEYORS' INSTITUTION (IRISH BRANCH).

The Executive Committee of the Irish Branch of the Surveyors' Institution met yesterday at their offices, 110 Grafton street, Dublin. Mr. Ernest H. Browne (Chairman) presided, and there were also present:—Major W. A. Cheeke, Mr. R. E. Maunsell, Mr. Charles Dickinson, Mr. J. Graves Clayton, Mr. Geo. B. Garvey, Mr. Fane Vernon, and Mr. B. J. Newcombe, Secretary.

The Committee briefly reviewed the recent legislation affecting the interest of members, and their clients in the Forestry Act, the Housing of the Working Classes (Ireland) Act, the Acquisition of Land Act, and the Labourers (Ireland) Act, the final shape of the several Acts embodying some of the clauses for which the Surveyors' Institution contended.

The Committee also dealt with correspondence relating to various matters of professional interest, and subsequently adjourned.

DUBLIN PORT INTERESTS JEOPARDISED.

MODERN APPLIANCES BOYCOTTED.

SHIPPING DELAYED.

At the meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board yesterday Mr. J. Hollwey, J.P., Chairman, presiding, very serious questions for the future of the port of Dublin were raised in a letter from Belfast.

Messrs. G. Heyn and Sons, of the Ulster Steamship Co., Belfast, wrote stating that their attention had been called to a discussion of the Board on Thursday 14th, resulting in the appointment of a small committee to investigate respecting the delay sustained by the U.S. steamer West Zucker. "As they were vitally interested in the general question of despatch in grain discharge they thought the present an opportune time to draw attention to the following facts:—For several years past we have had a grain elevator available at Dublin to assist in the discharge (when shed space available) to expedite despatch of our steamers. Work has hitherto gone along smoothly, but, in the case of the Carrigan Head, on the 11th June last we regret to say a small section of receiver's men successfully misrepresented to others employed at the steamer that the use of the elevator meant reduction in the employment of labour, and eventually the small section induced all cargo men to withdraw their services until the elevator was removed from the vessel. The receiver's men in question were men who take the sacks of grain from the scales and pass the sacks to the carters, and although they were promised employment when the elevated grain was being taken from the sheds it was of no avail. The elevator had to come out, and the steamer lost three days through the senseless action of a few men. It must be borne in mind that the operation of elevating a hold involves the employment of about four times as many men as compared with the men temporarily disemployed until the grain is being taken from the sheds; and, moreover, that the bushellers do not suffer, as the grain has subsequently to be bushelled ex-shed, so that in objecting to the use of the elevators the men concerned actually caused a reduction in employment. We submit for the consideration of your committee that the boycotting by labour in Dublin of modern appliances must of necessity militate against the port, and, therefore, trust your committee can assist with wise counsels so that elevating when necessary for despatch can be resumed. Meantime we are only sending smaller steamers or boats with half cargo to Dublin instead of our larger vessels with full cargo, so the port is losing through the action of the labourers. We have two similar elevators here. No question is ever raised; the labourers know they get more work as more men are employed when the elevators are used, and, of course, all the first class ports in the United Kingdom have elevators and other mechanical appliances for the quick handling of cargo. In Belfast we have several gravity conveyers for passing package and bag goods from the ship's side to the sheds which are in use almost daily without any question, but we fear to instal these at Dublin owing to the action of the labourers. This is also very detrimental to the port of Dublin. Just to-day we have a further demand for increased pay, men, who are getting 14s. per day, are demanding 16s., and those working on tonnage rates, earning 30s. per day, are demanding an increase of 2d. per ton, which cannot be conceded. These constant claims and subsequent strikes are really most prejudicial to your port."

The Acting Secretary said that he had received a letter that morning from the same firm. It was dated the previous day, and stated:—"We are now advised by telephone that the labourers have all struck work on our ss. Ramore Head, and the vessel is now lying idle in Alexandra Basin. The demand for increased pay of these men is totally unreasonable, and so far as we can learn the present pay of dockers in Dublin is as high or higher than any other port in the Kingdom. These continual claims for increases and strikes are most prejudicial to business, and we must seriously consider our position in regard to future trading to Dublin, unless some definite arrangements can be arrived at for maintenance of agreements entered into."

The Chairman said that these letters disclosed a very serious state of affairs, which the Board should consider.

Alderman Moran said that the port of Dublin was cursed with Acts of Parliament. He had been to Salford recently, and what he saw there made him come away feeling sad and angry. There they had elevators going all day long, and nobody raised any trouble about it. There was work there for everybody, but here, if it was not one thing it was another, and from June to January, and January to June, there was something to interfere with the successful working of the port. When up-to-date methods were introduced labour objected, and it was a very serious matter for this port and for labour. It was not for the Board in this situation to sit down entirely. The matter ought to be taken up vigorously, and they should do everything in their power to assist in the discharge of ships.

Mr. McCullagh said when one considered the extent to which labourers' conditions and work had been improved, he thought it was up to the labourer to keep faith. The men should make their demands in a proper way, and through the proper channel.

Mr. Hall said that elevators had been in use for these steamers for the past six years. Freights were dearer in Dublin than in Belfast, because they could not get free in the same time. Steamers were being kept away.

Mr. William Field said that it was quite plain that they did not get ships. They had elevators in Belfast and Cork.

Mr. Hewat said that the men ought to have more knowledge of what they were doing. It was up to the leaders of the men to explain these things to the men. The use of up-to-date machinery should be applied wherever possible, and the development of trade meant, ultimately, that labour benefited.

Mr. Baird said that the fact was that ships could not get in Dublin what was freely offered in ports of England and Scotland, with the result that Dublin was avoided. It was up to the Board and the merchants of Dublin to deal with this matter. If in Dublin they could not get advantages that were available in every other port, Dublin would have to take a back seat.

Mr. George Byrne said there was always trouble about getting discharged in Dublin, and freights were higher on that account.

A committee was appointed to meet to-day and consider the matter.

HORSE AND HACKNEY CAR STOLEN.

CHARGE AGAINST AN EX-SOLDIER.

In the Southern Police Court yesterday, Charles Keane, a discharged soldier, was charged with having between 9 and 10 p.m. on the 11th August stolen from where left on the public thoroughfare at Corporation street, a horse, harness, and hackney car, the property of John Mooney, value for about £50. He was further charged with having, through carelessness and negligence in the management of the horse on the same occasion, at Summerhill, knocked down and injured Anne Gavagan and Elizabeth Kelly, necessitating their treatment in Jervis street Hospital, Anne Gavagan being detained until the 17th inst.

Mr. J. W. Davis, solicitor, prosecuted, and Mr. Scott appeared for the defendant.

Mr. Davis explained that John Mooney, the owner of the car, was at the hazard at College Green on the 11th August. A man engaged him to drive him to Corporation street, where they had a drink in a publichouse. This was at 9.30 p.m. The fare disappeared, and while looking for him the driver also lost his horse and car. What apparently happened was that the accused came up to the driver after he had missed his fare, and told him he knew where he could find him. They drove to a house, but could not get him, and while the driver was away the accused drove away, and on Summerhill knocked down the two women, severely injuring them.

Anne Gavagan stated that while waiting for the tram with her sister the hackney ran into them, knocking both of them unconscious.

Mr. Scott, on behalf of the defendant, pleaded guilty. He said Keane was a discharged soldier, had been in the retreat from Mons, and had served in Gallipoli. He had no intention of stealing the car. The whole thing arose out of drink. While Mooney was away he got on the car, and the horse, feeling strange hands on the reins, ran away.

Mr. Cooper asked how long the defendant had been in the Army, and Mr. Scott said for 12 years.

Mr. Cooper said he had the defendant's record before him, and it was a very bad one. From 1893 down to 1914 he had been repeatedly convicted of such offences as larceny, assaults on police and assaults on women. It was the mercy of providence that the accused did not kill those two women, and that he was not in the dock charged with murder or manslaughter.

Mr. Scott—He was nearly killed himself.

Mr. Cooper—He had to take that risk.

Accused was sentenced to one month's imprisonment with hard labour on each charge.

RICHMOND DISTRICT ASYLUM.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

PROPOSAL TO TAKE COAL FROM AMERICA.

Mr. P. T. Daly presided at the monthly meeting of the Joint Management Committee of the Richmond District Lunatic Asylum yesterday. Also present:—The Lord Mayor, Aldermen Keogh, Dinnage, O'Toole, McWalter, Messrs. Coghlan Briscoe, E. Brooks, T. L. Smyth, C. J. Hanlon, John Lawlor, John J. Lawlor, M. Brohoon, M. Meade, J. J. Fox, and J. P. Cole.

Dr. M. J. Forde, acting R.M.S., reported that there are at present 1,659 male and 1,667 female patients in the house, being a total of 3,326. Of these 883 men and 693 women are in the Portrane Auxuliary. These figures showed a decrease of 17 on the numbers at the corresponding week last year. Sixty-five patients were admitted since the last monthly meeting.

RECORD PAYMENTS.

Alderman Keogh moved the adoption of the Finance Committee's report, in which it was stated that the ordinary accounts passed for payment that day amounted to £18,091 0s. 4d. This was the largest month's total of ordinary payments ever recorded. When these payments were made there would remain a credit balance at the bank of £1,511 18s. 7d. to ordinary account. The Committee were still indebted to the Commissioners of Public Works for the amount of the October, 1918, and April, 1919, instalments in repayment of loans, provisions to defray which was made in the current year's estimate. As payments on account of estimate will probably be received from the contributing bodies in the interval before next Committee meeting, the Committee had authorised payment of £7,570 3s. 5d., the amount of the October instalments, the paying order to be issued when there are funds to meet the same. The Corporation had lodged £20,000 on account of current quarter of estimate, leaving a balance of £17,640 due. The County Dublin County Council had lodged £6,000, leaving £5,979 still due. The County Wicklow and the County Louth instalments of £5,273 15s. and £6,414 5s. respectively, are still due in full. The recent 6s. per ton increase in the price of coal would adversely affect the Board's estimate for the current year, as it would mean an increase of about £2,000 per annum to their expenses. The Local Government Board had remitted the surcharges of £179 6s. 1d. (payments to stationery contractors), and £829 16s. (payment to fish contractor) which were made at the last audit of the asylum accounts. The Local Government Board declared that the surcharges had been legally made, but that the subject matters thereof were incurred in such circumstances as to make remission fair and equitable. The surcharges amounting to £129 14s. 1d. for payments made to temporary assistant medical officers on the ground that their appointments were not sanctioned by the Lord Lieutenant (which the Lord Lieutenant was advised was unnecessary) had been discharged.

Alderman Dinnage seconded the motion, and the report was adopted.

THE COAL SUPPLY.

The circular letter of the Irish Coal Controller, in which he recommended the utmost possible economy in the use of coal, was read by the Clerk, together with a resolution passed by the North Dublin Rural District Council, the letter recommending the formation of a joint committee to arrange for the importation of a supply of coal from America.

The Chairman said that the Corporation of Dublin had appointed their proportion of the suggested Committee.

The Secretary (Mr. Murphy) said that he had seen it stated in the newspapers that coal from America could be delivered on the quay in England at 24s. per ton; but, on the other hand, he had seen it stated that no ships were available for bringing the coal across the Atlantic, and that America was trying to establish a trade with France and Italy.

The Board approved of the resolution of the District Council, and appointed four members to be of the projected Joint Committee.

DUBLIN PORT AND DOCKS BOARD.

Mr. John Hollwey, J.P., Chairman, presided yesterday at the meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board. The other members present were:—

Sir James Murphy, Bart, D.L.; Sir James Gallagher, T.C.; Alderman Alfred Byrne, Alderman James Moran, J.P.; William Field, F. H. Hall, Thos. R. McCullagh, William Wallace, J.P.; Marcus Goodbody, J.P.; Edward Lee, J.P.; Laurence Martin, William Crowe, George Byrne, J.P.; Walter Scott, James W. Hill, J.P.; Joseph Peters, Walter Baird, William Hewat.

A vote of condolence with Mrs. Deane on the death of Mr. Freeman Deane, retired assistant secretary, was adopted on the motion of the Chairman. Alderman Moran and Mr. Marcus Goodbody desired to be associated with the motion. Mr. Wm. Wallace said that they all desired to be associated with it. The motion was adopted by all the members standing.

The Chairman referred to the fact of the appointment of Mr. H. G. Burgess as Irish representative of the Ministry of Transport. He thought that it was a matter for mutual congratulation, as they could not have got a better, more worthy, or more practical man for the office. He moved that a letter of congratulation be sent to Mr. Burgess. Mr. Field seconded, and the motion was unanimously adopted.

On the motion of Mr. W. Baird, Messrs. Arthur Tennant Cotton and Archibald Finnie Nicholl, were unanimously co-opted shipping members to fill vacancies on the Board.

A Sub-Committee (Alderman Byrne and Messrs. Lee and Field) was appointed to inquire into the question of utilising Arigna coal.

COURTMARTIAL RESULTS.

THE DUNDALK CASE.

Patrick Joseph Berrill, civilian, of Dundalk, was tried by General Courtmartial at Belfast on 6th August, 1919, on charges under Regulations 18, 42, and 48 of the Defence of the Realm Regulations, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, with hard labour.

The evidence showed that when Berrill was arrested by the police in May, 1918, in connection with another matter, the following documents were found in his possession:—

(1) A note of the bridges on the railway north of Dundalk and of the disposition of the troops guarding them.

(2) A similar note of the bridges and troops on the railway south of Dundalk.

(3) A notebook containing sketches of Ballyedmond Castle, plans of the grounds and neighbouring district, and other information, evidently the result of a careful reconnaissance of the Castle and its surroundings.

Joseph O'Reilly, civilian, of 15 Carlingford terrace, Dublin, was tried by District Courtmartial in Dublin on 15th August, 1919, on a charge under Regulation 9 A.A. of the Defence of the Realm Regulations of being in possession of a revolver without a permit, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment, with hard labour. The accused admitted having the revolver in his possession, but said it had been passed on to him by another person, whose name he refused to give. He also refused to say how long he had had the revolver.

Michael Collins, civilian, of 15 Braithwaite street, Dublin, was tried by District Courtmartial in Dublin on the 12th August, 1919, on a charge under Regulation 9 A.A. of the Defence of the Realm Regulations of being in possession of ammunition without a permit, and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, without hard labour. The evidence showed that about midnight on the 19th July, 1919, the accused ran from the police into a lane near College Green, where he was overtaken by them, and found to be in possession of service rifle ammunition.

FERNS PROTESTANT ORPHAN SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Ferns Protestant Orphan Society was held in the Church Institute, Enniscorthy—the Earl of Courtown, H.M.L., President, presiding.

The annual report stated that the total number of orphans under care was 48, an increase of four. The Society had received the legacy of the late Mr. Arthur Preston, which realised £444, to which had been added by the Committee a sum sufficient to purchase £500 War Bonds. The legacy of £200 from the late Mr. B. W. Jones had also been received. The financial statement showed a balance to credit of £128 13s. 10d.

The President, having referred to the dark shadow which, since their last annual meeting, had been removed from the world in the crushing of the arrogance of the Germans, went on to say that even at home things were not so bright as they might wish. There was labour unrest, and a general ferment everywhere, and they could only trust that as time went on that black cloud would also roll by. Their Society had just passed through a very trying year, but thanks to the kindness of their friends it had successfully weathered the storm.

The reports were adopted on the proposition of the very Rev. Dean Gibson, seconded by Canon Lyster, B.D., Enniscorthy, who said that the £10 a year allowed at present for the support and clothing of an orphan was altogether inadequate.

DUBLIN COUNTY COUNCIL.

SECRETARY'S RESIGNATION.

An adjourned meeting of the County Dublin County Council was held yesterday—Mr. P. J. O'Neill presiding.

On the motion of Mr. Field, a resolution was passed approving of the action of the Executive of the General Council of County Councils regarding the forestry proposals, as explained by Mr. M. A. Ennis.

A proposal by Mr. Coyle, that the Council do increase the bonuses already granted to each member of the County Surveyor's staff to an amount which will be in accordance with the decision of the Conciliation and Arbitration Board, as set out in their award dated 31st March, 1919 (No. 84), and that the bonus so granted be calculated as from April 1st, 1919, was postponed.

Mr. Field brought before the Council the question of the inadequate contribution of the Road Board to Ireland, as compared with the money expended by that Board in England, and called attention to the fact that from the list of grants the County and the City of Dublin were excluded, while the County Antrim and the City of Belfast were to receive £35,000. He thought the Council ought to take determined action in this matter, and insist upon being fairly treated.

The County Surveyor (Mr. Collen) said he had already put his claim forward.

The Chairman said that the Council would take the matter up with all possible energy.

The Law Adviser (Mr. Shannon) read a letter which had been addressed to the Council by Mr. R. T. Blackburne, tendering his resignation of his office as Secretary to the Council. Mr. Blackburne mentioned that he had been engaged in the work of the county for forty-four years—thirteen years as assistant, and thirty-one years as secretary. For twenty years he had been in the service of the Council. He proposed to resign at the end of September.

The Chairman said he regretted Mr. Blackburne's approaching retirement. For twenty years he had been intimately associated with Mr. Blackburne, and his relations with him were always of the most friendly character. He had always received the utmost help and courtesy from Mr. Blackburne, and for that reason he regretted that the Council was to lose his services. (Hear, hear.) But that gentleman, after a service of forty-four years, was quite entitled to seek a rest. On severing his connection with the Council, Mr. Blackburne would be entitled to a retiring allowance, and he (the Chairman) suggested that a Committee be nominated to deal with that question, and to make arrangements for the appointment of the retiring Secretary's successor.

Mr. Coyle, Mr. Collins, and Mr. Lawlor paid a tribute to Mr. Blackburne's ability, his long and efficient services, and his unvarying courtesy all through.

The suggestion of the Chairman as to a Committee was agreed to.

DUNDALK SHOW.

GOOD ENTRIES AND EXHIBITS.

The annual two days' show promoted by the Dundalk Show Committee was opened yesterday, the weather conditions being gloriously fine. Only cattle, fruit, flowers, garden produce, and home industries were judged yesterday, the adjudication of horses being reserved for to-day. The entries this year total about 1,200. There is no agricultural produce section this year in consequence of the show being held earlier than usual, and it was accordingly eliminated. In the circumstances, the number of entries compares favourably with previous years. There is an increase, in fact, in some sections. The show was revived this time twelve months after a lapse of three years, and everything points to the fact that the Society is prospering and proving highly beneficial in the district for which it caters. The well appointed show grounds were looking their best when judging commenced yesterday, and during the day the fixture was gratifyingly patronised, this being particularly the case in the afternoon, when horse jumping and driving competitions took place. The arrangements were excellently carried out by an energetic Committee, of which Mr. T. F. M'Gahon was hon. secretary.

CATTLE.

In regard to cattle, while the exhibits were small in number, they created a favourable impression, most of the animals being of good quality. The milch cows were of a very good type, this class going to Mrs. Pyke Fortescue, Stephenstown, Mr. Peter Clarke, Dundalk, being second. The class for best fat bullock or heifer, any age, was won by Mrs. Leake Coleman, Ballybarrack, with a fine exhibit of the cross Aberdeen Angus breed, this animal being of nice quality, with a good front and back, and well finished. Second prize went to Mr. Michael Murtagh, Dundalk, with a good specimen of the shorthorn class. In the heifer and yearling classes premier honours went to Mrs. A. Woolsey-Butler, Milestown; Mr. J. M'Gee, Philipstown; Mr. Thomas Duffy, Ramparts; Mr. E. C. Target, Dromiskin House, and Mrs. Cunningham, Dundalk. Mr. John Wiseman, Shortstone, secured first and second prizes for the best calf calved in 1919, Mr. Peter Clarke, Dundalk, being third. Mr. M. V. M'Kevitt, Kilkerley Cottage, carried off the two bull classes, the second prize in one of these going to Mrs. Pyke Fortescue. The latter lady was the successful exhibitor in the sheep section, another prize winner being Mr. B. M'Kevitt, Carlingford, while Mr. Laurence Goodman, Dundalk, obtained the principal prize for goats.

POULTRY.

The poultry classes were well represented, and some fine specimens of birds were penned. All the best breeds were exhibited, and there was keen competition in the various classes, the principal prize winners being:—Miss Hoey, Merches, Dundalk; Mrs. Cusack, Bragganstown; Mrs. B. E. Allen, The Grove, Drogheda; Mrs. Lennon, Blackrock; Miss Hildegarde A. C. Smyth, Newtown; Mrs A. M'Namee, Lurgankeel; Mrs. Woolsey-Butler, Milestown; Miss M. Macardle, Kilcurley House; Mrs. Kiernan, Drumcar; Miss Xenia C. F. Smyth, Newtown; Mrs. Kelly, Lowertown, and Mrs. M. Deery, Milltown.

HORTICULTURE.

In the horticultural section there was an especially beautiful show of blooms, which came in for much admiration, among the principal prize winners being:—Mrs. Macardle, Cambricville; Mr. Thomas Craig, The Towers; Mrs. MacMahon, Brookfield, Mrs. T. L. M'Gee, Kilpatrick, Ardee; Rev. Brother Kinsella, Christian Brothers, Dundalk; Mrs. Carroll, Drogheda; Miss Brennan, Ballymascanlon; Miss King, Knockdillon; Earl of Arran, Ravensdale Park; Mrs. Woolsey-Butler, Miss Sellars, Dundalk. The fruit prizes were captured by W. J. O'Reilly, Knockabbey; L. Goodman, Dundalk; Rev. Brother Damian, Castletown; Miss Jane French, Edmonstown; Mrs. Woolsey-Butler, V. Keily, Greyacre, and Miss K. Taaffe, Mills of Louth. The classes for garden produce and industries and art were well filled, and competition was exceedingly keen. A new section was that for allotment holders and cottagers. There was a fine display of agricultural machinery, and another interesting exhibit was that of the County Monaghan Development Company, Carrickmacross, samples of mineral deposits being staged and explained.

HORSE JUMPING AND DRIVING.

In the afternoon an interesting programme of horse jumping and driving competitions was much enjoyed by the large crowd in attendance. The entries were very good, and the jumping was of a high-class character. The judges were:—Messrs. James Clarke, Navan, and W. Kilroy, Oldcastle. Details:—

Riding for style and general appearance.—1, Captain Hall, Narrow Water—Sport; 2, Mrs. H. Carpenter, Rathleigh—Harry Gratton. There were eight other entries.

Jumping Competition for horses that never won a competition over any course:—Mr. A. A. Watters' (Dundalk) Over the Top, 1; Miss M. Howe's (Rockhampton) Marcus, 2; Mr. Jackie Carpenter's (Drogheda) Katie, 3. Also competed:—Mrs. Filgate's (Lisrenny) Sport, Mr. W. Dougherty's (Downpatrick) Nutgrove and Tyrconnell, Mrs. H. Carpenter's Harry Gratton, Mr. Aug. Martin's (Skeagh) Tanvally, and Mr. J. H. Reid's (Tullyghish) Little Wonder.

Driving Competition, for ponies under 15 hands: 1, Mr. L. Goodman, Dundalk—Grace Darling; 2, same—Fire Lass; 3, Mr. J. G. Williamson, Kilmainhamwood—Jet.

Open Jumping Competition, over the course:—Mr. Jackie Carpenter's (Drogheda) Katie, 1; Miss M. Howe's (Rockhampton) Marcus, 2; Mrs. R. Fox-Goodman's (Drummin) Tiddles, 3. Also competed:—Mr. John Hughes' Gay Lad, Mr. W. Dougherty's Nutgrove and Tyrconnell; Mr. A. A. Watters' Over the Top, Mr. Aug. Martin's Tanvally, Mr. J. H. Reid's Little Wonder, and Mrs. H. Carpenter's Harry Gratton.

A donkey "Derby," for which there were 45 entries, was run off in the evening.

IRISH LABOUR TROUBLES.

COUNTY KILDARE DISPUTE SETTLED.

As a result of a conference between representatives of the local branches of the Farmers' and the Transport Unions, a settlement of the labour dispute was arrived at in Athy on Wednesday night. The terms are—32s. per week for a 10-hour day, pay and a half for overtime, £3 harvest bonus, and pay and three-quarters for Sunday work. The question of union and non-union men working together is not to be raised for the present.

The announcement of the settlement was greeted with cheers by the large crowd of farmers, labourers, shopkeepers, and others, who had awaited in the precincts of the Town Hall for over two hours. A great many of the labourers resumed work yesterday morning.

At a Committee meeting of the Athy Branch of the Transport Workers' Union, held yesterday afternoon, the Secretary was directed to convey to Mr. A. O'Connor, M.P., for South Kildare, the thanks of the labourers for his services in bringing the dispute to an end.

WICKLOW FARM LABOURERS' THREAT.

Messrs. J. Turner, president of the Wicklow General Workers' Union, and J. Everett, general secretary and organiser, conferred yesterday with the local secretaries in South Wicklow, with a view, it is alleged, to declaring a strike next week, should the Farmers' Associations refuse the demands made upon them.

DUBLIN PRINTING TRADE.

It is announced that the ballot taken by the Dublin Typographical Association, on the question of submitting the matter of wages to arbitration, resulted in 504 voting for and 251 against the proposal.

A prolonged conference between representatives of the Master Printers and of the Typographical Association was held in the Mansion House yesterday, to consider a question relating to rules, and resulted in an adjournment until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

GLASNEVIN GRAVE-DIGGERS.

The strike of grave-diggers employed at Glasnevin Cemetery still continues, and yesterday the hearse and coach drivers refused to go to Glasnevin, with the result that relatives of deceased persons had to make arrangements for bringing the remains for interment, and employ labour to open and close the graves. There were six interments in Glasnevin yesterday.

A conference between the parties to the dispute will, it is announced, be held to-day.

DESTRUCTION OF HAY AT CROOM.

Claims for £400 and £80 compensation, for the alleged malicious destruction of hay crops, were received at yesterday's meeting of Croom District Council. Referring to the claim for £80, Mr. J. Barry said that the scattering of the hay on the applicant's land was due to her refusal to get her labourers to join a workmen's union. Compensation amounting to £150 was claimed in another case, on the grounds that the applicant was prevented by a crowd of some 50 men from saving his hay. The claims were referred to the Council's Solicitor.

NEW ROSS BAKERS.

The New Ross bakers have made a demand of £3 a week for oven hands, and £2 10s. for table hands.

STRIKE AT DUNLOP RUBBER WORKS.

Between nine and ten thousand workpeople employed at the Dunlop Rubber Company's Works, at Aston, Birmingham, came out on strike yesterday. A demand was made on short notice on behalf of a section for payment of special rate for night work, and the firm refused to discuss it unless the case was put through the proper channels. The majority of the strikers are non-unionists, and the trouble has been caused, it is stated, by recently demobilised men not belonging to any union, who have been trying to take matters into their own hands. The rubber departments only are affected.

A TOWN CLERK'S DUTIES.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BOARD TAKES ACTION.

Mr. William F. Gahan, Town Clerk of Dalkey, was summoned yesterday before Mr. Lupton, K.C., at the Kingstown Police Court, by the Local Government Board under Section 86 of the Local Government Act, 1898, which provides that where any official paid out of the poor rate or any local rate or cess wilfully fails to perform his duty he shall be liable to a fine of 40s. a day during the continuance of the offence. By Article 25, Part 1, of the Public Bodies Order, 1904, the secretary or clerk of the Council shall close the accounts of receipts and payments on the 30th of September and 31st March, or, in the case of the accounts required to be audited yearly, then on the 31st March of each year, and forward an abstract, duly certified, signed, and dated, to the Local Government Board within four weeks after the closing of such accounts. Complaint had been made that defendant, William F. Gahan, Clerk to the Dalkey Urban Council, whose accounts close yearly on 31st March, wilfully failed to comply with the provisions of the Act.

Mr. Lupton asked where was the defendant.

Mr. David Quaid, who appeared for the Local Government Board, said that he understood that he was not present. It was a case of neglecting to send in a return in the interests of the ratepayers. Mr. Gahan had not replied to two letters.

Patrick White stated that he had served the summons personally on the 15th inst.

Mr. Andrew Walsh, an official of the Local Government Board, stated that the defendant had been written to, giving him until June 23rd to fulfil his statutory duty. They also wrote on July 1st drawing his attention to his failure to perform his duty as a public official. No replies had been received.

In reply to Mr. Lupton, Mr. Quaid said that the section seemed to establish the fact that the offence was not a criminal one. He asked for an adjournment.

Mr. Lupton said that if the case was one of serious defalcation of duty, Mr. Quaid was giving the defendant a week's warning, and he could snap his fingers at him. Then, how would the fine be recoverable? It was a serious matter, and he must find out whether it was a criminal offence, so that if it were the defendant could be brought there by warrant. He would adjourn the case to the Northern Police Court in Dublin for to-morrow (Friday) morning.

GALWAY COUNTY HOSPITAL.

Mr. McNeil, Chairman of the Galway County Hospital Board, made a sworn information yesterday in connection with the defalcations alleged to have been discovered by Messrs. Craig, Gardner, and Co., Chartered Accountants, involving sums totalling over £2,000.

At yesterday's meeting of the Galway County Council a resolution was passed asking the Local Government Board to hold a sworn inquiry, and demand a satisfactory explanation from Mr. Ellis, Local Government Auditor, in connection with the disclosures at the County Hospital.

SHEEP DIPPING—MARKET REGULATIONS.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland remind persons concerned that during the period from 1st September to 15th November next, both dates inclusive, no sheep can lawfully be exposed for sale in any fair, market, or sale-yard in Ireland, unless they have been twice dipped after the 31st July, in the manner required by the Sheep Dipping (Ireland) Order of 1915, and are accompanied by a declaration as to such dipping.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

TYRONE ELECTORS' LISTS.—The final official figures in connection with the Tyrone register show that there are close on 70,000 names on the original list, 20,084 new claims, and 35,990 objections, figures which afford an interesting sidelight on the remarkable political activity in County Tyrone.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT.—Miss Cissie Cuffe, formerly Manageress of the Galway County Club, was charged at a special court at Galway with the embezzlement of £347 18/3, the property of the club. The charge was made upon the sworn information of one of the members. The accused, who was arrested at Newtownbarry, was remanded in custody until the 27th inst.

BELFAST ILLICIT STILL.—At the Belfast Police Court yesterday Wm. Hewitt, 32 Trevelyan terrace, Duncairn Gardens, and Patrick McErlean, 43 Stanley street, who were charged with illicit distillation at Duncairn Gardens, were fined the maximum penalty of £100, mitigated to £50.

BELFAST'S WATER SUPPLY.—It was reported at the Belfast Water Commissioners' meeting yesterday that there was 524 million gallons of water less in store on the 19th inst. than at the corresponding date last year, and the public was urged to exercise the strictest economy in the use of water.

NEWTOWNBARRY ELECTRIC LIGHTING SCHEME.—At a public meeting in Newtownbarry steps were taken for lighting the town by electricity. The scheme is estimated to cost £3,000, and at the meeting guarantees for over £1,000 were given.

POST OFFICE PROMOTION.—Mr. J. S. Maxwell, Postmaster of Abbeyleix, has been appointed Postmaster of Larne.

RESCUE FROM THE LIFFEY.—Private J. Bannister, Worcester Regiment, accidentally slipped into the Liffey at the North Wall on Wednesday night, and was rescued by Constable 91 C, who threw a lifebuoy, by means of which Bannister was towed to the ferry steps.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

PROTECTION FOR THE POLICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Every law-abiding subject must deeply deplore the many attacks, some of them fatal, which have been made from time to time on police, but, at the same time, the question arises: Are the authorities doing all in their power to protect their subordinates? Beyond strengthening patrols and having recourse to old, stereotyped methods, they seem to have done very little. Why not encourage the men to keep a good class of watch-dog in their barracks, which would accompany them on patrol? With a little training on the part of the dogs, many of these ambushed miscreants would be routed from their lairs, thereby giving timely warning to their intended victims.

Electric torches, now that the dark evenings are approaching, should invariably be carried by men on patrol. Their usefulness is too obvious for comment. The ruling powers ought to take the matter into their serious consideration, especially in regard to the three or four counties that are really disturbed.—Yours, etc.,

UNIVERSITY TRAINING GRANTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I saw by a letter in yesterday's Irish Times, under the above heading, that Lieutenant-Colonel Crozier, Controller, Ministry of Labour, Irish Department, takes exception to my statement at the Rotary Club, on Monday last, re the withdrawal of grants for training. I agree that, as far as I know, in the cases of the few men who have already secured grants, these have not been withdrawn; but I also know that several most intelligent young men—properly attested British soldiers of the Dublin University Officers' Training Corps—were encouraged by the authorities to enter for a course of lectures on agriculture and forestry, which were given in Trinity College and the Royal College of Science, preparatory to their receiving grants for University training, provided that they passed the examinations on these subjects at the conclusion of the course of lectures. Some of these passed the examinations successfully at the end of the term, securing in the given subjects 85 per cent. and 90 per cent. After they had done all this they were quietly informed that the allowing of these grants was to be discontinued, and that they were not applicable to their cases.

I understand that these young men so keenly felt the injustice of this treatment that they approached Sir Maurice Dockrell, M.P., to raise in the House of Commons the question why they had been encouraged to spend months on these preparatory courses, only to be refused the grants.—Yours, etc.,

"THE OLD CLANWILLIAMS."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your readers may be interested in the history of the Clanwilliam (Tipperary) Cricket Club, which I started forty years ago. The club consisted of men of all ranks and creeds, as a cricket club should, and in 1881 won eleven matches of fourteen played, the chief of these victories being the match with County Cork on Mardyke ground. Philip Mansergh, of Friarsfield, and Walter Ryan, of Scarteen, bowled the Cork team for 54 runs. Of our eleven, one of the best bats was Michael O'Dwyer, who returned recently (after thirty-three years in India of splendid and strenuous service) to Tipperary. Another was Frederick Heuston, well known for service in China. We also had Sir Albert Meldon, afterwards R.M., and Sir Heffernan Considine and his two brothers. The club did much to cement lasting good-will and friendship, and I wish we had similar clubs outside Dublin. As the Duke of Wellington well said, "Waterloo was won on British playing fields." A cricket field in every Clare village in the old time would have taught us to play the game in another sense, and not leave the island entirely to the protection of the British Fleet.—Yours, etc.,

IRISH BUTTER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I should be much obliged if someone could explain the late increase in the price of butter. We are asked to economise and to produce as much as possible in every way. The export of butter from Ireland is still prohibited. Where is the economy in raising it to an impossible price; and where is the encouragement for a large production when there is no open market? The answer that there is not enough butter produced in Ireland for its population cannot apply now that the price is so high, for the distribution cannot be equal. Some people can eat as much as they like, while the poor must go without, and the unfortunate people in England still live on two ounces per week. Are we being held back to allow Danish butter to take our place in the English market?—Yours, etc.,

THE MEATH LABOUR STRIKE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Now that the farmers and the two Labour unions have had bitter experience of the losses attending the big strike—losses which, from this on, must also affect the public—I venture to propose for their consideration and adoption the following scheme:—Let the Transport Union and the Meath Labourers' Union each select two representatives; the Farmers' Union four; and let these eight select three neutrals. Both sides could then agree to accept the decisions of the majority of this parliament of eleven on all questions of wages, hours, or hiring, and the unfortunate dispute might be settled in a couple of days.—Yours, etc.,

AMALGAMATION OF DIOCESES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read with much interest the proposal of "Nemo" in your to-day's issue. The suggestion seems an admirable and thoroughly reasonable one. Why should not the Diocese of Meath be amalgamated respectively with the Dioceses of Dublin and Killaloe or Tuam? Of course there may be some legal objection to carrying out the proposal. If not, the present would appear to be an eminently suitable time for acting on it, the Diocese of Meath being now vacant.—Yours, etc.,

EXCESSIVE FARES IN DUBLIN.

HACKNEY CAR DRIVER FINED.

In the Southern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, a hackney car driver named Matthew Rice (No. 3432), driving hackney car No. 128, was charged with demanding more than his legal fare at the North Wall on the 15th inst., and, further, with exacting more than his legal fare, and with having been guilty of gross misconduct in having agreed to drive four passengers from the North Wall to Drimnagh Paper Mills, and refusing to drive them further than Tyrconnell road.

Mr. W. J. Davis prosecuted on behalf of the police, and Mr. W. J. Gleeson (instructed by Alderman Quaid) defended.

Alex. Macara, of Stirling, Scotland, stated that he and another young man of the same name, and two girls got off the Glasgow boat at the North Wall and asked the defendant what he would charge to drive them to the paper mills at Inchicore. Defendant said 5/- per head—£1 for the four. Witness said that was too much, and defendant then asked for 4/- per head. Witness offered 10/-, and defendant asked for 12/-. Witness and his friends got on the car, and defendant drove them to a sawmill at Inchicore, and refused to drive them to their destination.

Carriage Inspector Kerr stated that the legal fare from the North Wall to the paper mills was 4/7, inclusive of luggage, and to the place where the defendant stopped it was 3/10.

Alex. Macara, Pollokshields, Glasgow, cousin of the first witness, gave corroborative evidence, and added that after the car stopped he missed an overcoat value £7 7/-. The defendant refused to allow him to search the car for the coat.

The defendant, in evidence, contradicted the case for the prosecution, and stated that the party offered him 8/- and 2/- for himself. He refused to drive them beyond Tyrconnell road because they accused him of stealing the coat.

Mr. Cooper imposed a fine of 20/- for demanding illegal fare and 20/- for exacting illegal fare. On defendant agreeing, at his worship's suggestion, to pay £3 compensation for the lost coat, he said that he would not cancel the defendant's licence.

IMPORTANT SALE BY DOCKRELL, LIMITED—£15,225.

Yesterday Messrs. Dockrell, Limited, offered for sale by auction Ashfield Hall, Queen's Co. There was a very good attendance at the sale. Lot 1, comprising the mansion house and 287 acres of land was put up first, and, after a keen competition, was knocked down at £13,225 to Mr. Arthur W. Jeffers, of Tinryland. Lot 2, comprising 33 acres of land, without any buildings, was sold for £1,700 to Mr. MacDonal, an adjoining farmer; and as Lot 3 had been sold prior to the auction for £300, the total sale realised £15,225. Mr. Paul A. Brown, of Carlow, was the solicitor having carriage of the sale.

MOTOR CAR BUILDING IN BELFAST.

An interesting presentation was made last Saturday by the directors and staff of J. B. Ferguson, Ltd., of Belfast and Dublin, to Mr. James A. McKee, managing director, on his severing his connection with their establishment.

Mr. McKee is starting to manufacture, in Belfast, motor cars which he will call "O.D." cars (otherwise Owner and Driver), and they will contain all the improvements suggested by the experience gained during the war added to the "Fergus" cars, which Mr. J. B. Ferguson (the originator and first managing director of the firm bearing his name) had just finished making when war broke out in 1914.

The presentation took the form of a gold stop-watch, silver fruit knives and forks.

Mr. J. B. Ferguson, when he first started in the business of motor agency, had the foresight to have particulars kept of all cars coming in and their repairs. As a result of this he found the common faults in most cars, and attempted to build such a car as would eliminate these faults.

After about ten years' experience he built the "Fergus" car, but when the first two were ready for the road war broke out, and the firm's energies were all put to making munitions.

Mr. J. B. Ferguson showed his "Fergus" car at the New York Motor Show in 1915, and the result of the exhibition had been that Mr. J. B. Ferguson was now the president of a corporation in America whose exclusive objects were the production of the "Fergus" car.

The new managing director of J. B. Ferguson, Ltd., of Belfast and Dublin, will be Mr. F. A. Mawhinney, who has been director and secretary for some years past, and is well known to all in the motoring trade throughout Ireland.

ST. PATRICK'S GUILD FLAG DAY.

A series of flag days in aid of St. Patrick's Guild will be held to-day, to-morrow, and on Wednesday next. Much good work is being accomplished by the Guild, and the present appeal, which is the first ever made by the Committee, is deserving of the fullest support.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, THURSDAY.

Stocks opened heavy on adverse industrial conditions, but advanced when exchange rates strengthened, and also on reports that the leaders of the Steel industry were inclined to minimise the importance of the strike threats; then reacted on liquidation by pool interests. The Texas Company declined 11, and Motors Tobaccos, and Alcohols 3 to 8 points. A brisk rally, however, ensued in the afternoon under the lead of Steel Common. Professionals covered on signs of good buying at low levels, and United Cigar gained 17 and General Motors 8 points. The closing was strong.

Government Bonds easy; Railroad Bonds easy. The day's sales totalled 1,270,000 shares. Money firm, closing at 5½ bid and 6 asked. The actual loans were from 5 to 6, the ruling rate being 5, and the last loan 6½ per cent. Sterling exchange rates irregular. Silver commercial bars are 1⅛ up.

The July imports amounted in value to 345,000,000 dollars, and exports to 570,000,000 dollars.

The Calumet and Hecla Company has declared a dividend of 5 per cent.

CHICAGO, THURSDAY.

WHEAT on spot quiet. No. 2 red winter, spot nominal; No. 2 hard winter, spot, nominal.

CORN opened steady at ⅛c. to ⅜c. advance, and went higher on small stocks and interior receipts and in sympathy with hogs; then declined under better weather reports and outsiders withdrawing support; but soon again strengthened owing to a firmer exchange rate, less favourable Kansas crop reports, a bullish estimate of Argentine shipments, purchases by commission houses, and shorts covering. The market closed firm at ⅜c. to 1⅜c. gain. September, 185; December, 146⅛; May, 138⅞.

OATS firm, ⅜c. to ⅝c. dearer. September, 73⅜; December, 76; May, 78⅛.

PROVISIONS opened steady, and advanced generally throughout on a firm hog market, light local receipts and offerings, small hog arrivals in the West, professional support, and local traders buying. Shorts were also covering, and the market closed firm, with lard 40 to 55, pork 130 to 25, and ribs 40 points dearer. Lard—September, 29.??; October, 29.12½; January, 26.45. DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

"BOOM" IN TEXTILES. DUNLOPS AGAIN STRONG.

There was more than one favourable feature f an outstanding nature on 'Change yesterday, ut in other directions business was as a rule uietly conducted. Very marked buoyancy eveloped in the Textile department, with, as e yesterday, special strength in Bleachers and ine Cotton Spinners, while Calicos were also ery good, and finally rose to 21s. Coats Ord. urther eased. Another point of special interest as the keen bidding for Dunlop Rubber Ord. hares on report rumours, although the comany's year will not end till close of this month, nd the price was carried to a new record level. he Funds were firm, but featureless. Banks aried little. Breweries and Distilleries were ull, and fresh weakness developed for Marconi ssues. City of Dublin Steam was in request. Rails were mostly idle, but closed good in endency. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were carried orward to 8½, a fresh rise of ½. The special uoyancy of Bleachers was reflected by a further ise of ⅞, and Spinners boomed up to 62s. 6d., fresh rise of 3s. 3d. Cottons and Dyers were arder, but Coats were sellers. Vickers were irm. Tobacco and Oils were better.

The Funds were firm. Consols rose ⅛ to 52, nd War Loan 5 per cent. repeated 94⅞. Exchequer 6 per cent. 1920 (Deed) realised 100⅛.

In Banks, Provincial Ord. rose ¼ to 26, but Hibernians fell ¼ to 5⅞. Munsters at 7⅛, Nationals at 19⅞, and Royals at 14½ were firm.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness Ord. fell ⅛ to 37⅞ after opening at last price, nd Dublin Distillers Ord. 6d. to 42s. 6d., while he Pref. repeated 5⅛.

In Steam stocks, City of Dublin Ord. rose 1 o 278, after opening at 277.

Marconis were weaker. The Ord. fell 1s. 0½d. to 5⅞, and Americans 9d. to 27s. 9d.

Rails were idle, but "Wicklow" Ord. rose to 20. Great Northern Debs. at 80, and "Mullingar" 4 per cent. Debs. at 64, were unaltered.

Trams were featureless. Dublin United Ord. epeated 7⅛, and the Pref. 10⅛.

In Gas, Alliance and Dublin Consumers remained 4⅛, and in Drapery Shares, Switzer Ord. repeated 5⅛.

Among Manufacturing Shares, there was een buoyancy in Textiles. Bleachers rose 3s. d. to 33s., Spinners 3s. 3d. to 62s. 6d., Calicos s. 9d. to 21s., Dyers 6d. to 45s., and Cottons d. to 94s., while Coats Ord. fell ⅛ more to 8⅛. Gouldings repeated 8. Vickers improved omewhat to 35s. 7½d., 35s. 9d., and the new Pref. realised again 20s. 6d.

As regards Dunlops, Parent Tyres were idle ll day, but Dunlop Rubber Ord. were bid up o 168s. 9d., 170s., 168s. 9d., a final rise of ⅞.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. repeated 78s. for a few shares, and in other business done Imperial Tobacco Ord. hardened to 64s. 9d. from about 64s. the previous day. British Glass realised 70s., United Steel Pref. 18s., 18s. 1½d. Shells rose ⅛ to 8⅞, Burmah ⅛ to 14⅛, and Mexican Eagle Oil ⅛ to 8⅞, from the weaker quotations the previous day.

STOCK MARKETS SPOTTY.

FRENCH ISSUES DEPRESSED AND ALL SOUTH AMERICANS.

GENERAL TONE RATHER BRIGHTER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

While business expanded yesterday and the one became brighter in places, the improvement in the favoured regions contrasted vividly with the depression which made the Foreign market seem like a devastated area. The principal activity was in Industrial descriptions, among which Textiles were conspicuous. As a ort of half-way house between these effervescent groups and the weak spots, Home Railways presented a certain degree of firmness, derived from the settlement of the latest wages demands. Home Government Stocks were dull, but not excessively. A slight recovery in sterling exchange was a partial antidote to the pessimism of the day before. Internationals were extremely heavy, the French Loans gravitating towards the Paris parities. Some of the less familiar Russian issues came down with a run, but the most prominent feature was the wholesale marking down of leading South American Loans. It was suggested that institutions holding these were realising in the expectation of being able to replace the bonds from abroad in due course. Whether r not this idea was well founded, the Foreign market was at pains to discourage dumping from any quarter whatsoever.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET.

IRREGULAR MOVEMENTS.

Stock Exchange business was limited, and markets as a whole presented a sober appearance, influenced by doubts regarding the monetary outlook as a result of the fresh slump in the American exchange. Quotations for the most part moved with quiet irregularity, but there was a vigorous market in Oil Shares, which displayed a fair degree of strength. Elsewhere Industrials showed a spotty cheerfulness under the lead of Textiles, while Home Rails braced up a trifle on the prospect of Labour peace following the Government offer. Gilt-edged issues were flabby. Miscellaneous gilt-edged securities were dullish, but without material change, realising being only of light proportions, and failing to influence quotations to any important extent. FRENCH LOANS LOWER.—In the Foreign market the chief feature was another severe decline in French Loans. The Fives at 70⅞ were finally another 1½ down, while the Fours were back to 57⅞. Japanese issues, on the other hand, were better supported, and the Fours levelled up a point to 84. Chinese issues were about the same. Russians kept very hard on the good war news, but were no higher to quote. Egyptians were dullish. Spanish Fours met support, and were nearly up to par. Among South Americans, Brazilians were offered back a point in places, but Peruvians were better, the market having apparently recovered from its fears of foreign sales.

Changes.—Rises—Japan 4 p.c., 1 to 84, Peruvian Corp., ⅛ to 7; do. Pref., ⅛ to 33; Spanish Fours, 2 to 100. Falls—Brazil Fours (1889), 1 to 62; do. Funding, 1 to 77; French Loan, 1½ to 70⅞.

RAILS FIRM.—Home Rails, though rather idle, showed some underlying firmness, which was attributed to better labour prospects resulting from the Government's offer. The concession of a further advance, however, which still further raises working costs, was naturally not to the market's liking. One or two Trunk and Trade Stocks added ⅛. There was no pronounced tendency in Scotch Stocks. "Canpacs" were marked up 3 to 183, the rise merely representing the further deterioration of the £ in dollar terms. Grand Trunk showed better resistance, and closed unchanged. There was some selling of Mexican Rails. Argentine Rails were rather more stable on the latest traffics, the B.A. Great Southern result being specially good. Antofagasta Def. receded 1 to 118⅞. San Paulos merely held their recent big rise.

Changes.—Rises—Great Western, ⅛ to 82⅞; London and N.W., ⅛ to 86⅞; Midland Def., ⅛ to 52⅞; Canadian Pacific, 3 to 183. Falls—Metropolitan, ⅛ to 24; Chesapeake, 1 to 66; Erie, 2 to 19; Missouri, ⅛ to 15⅞; Ontarios, 1 to 22⅞; Antofagasta Def., 1 to 118; Mexican Rail 5 p.c. Pref., 1 to 54.

TEXTILE SHARES LEAD THE SECTION.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

There was a moderate volume of business yesterday in the Miscellaneous market, but it was of a spotty character, being confined to a few groups of specialities. With the distinct improvement recorded recently in the general labour position and outlook, however, dealers are quite confident regarding prospects, notwithstanding the fact that holiday influences will remain operative for a week or two yet. Interest in the Iron and Steel group was again considerable, and the tendency of quotations remained upward. Cammell Lairds felt the special stimulus of the proposed acquirement of control of the Midland Wagon Company, and Armstrong's, Vickers, Pease and Partners, and United Steels all remained good. The Textile section, however, was, perhaps, the best part of the House, and, given composed labour conditions, the possibilities of the Textile industry for some time to come are recognised as exceptionally rosy. Cotton Spinners advanced well, and Calico Printers (on the imminent appearance of the report) and Bleachers and Bradford Dyers sympathised; but the heavier priced shares, Coats and Courtaulds, though firm, were much the same, the latter being inclined to harden. Shipping issues showed to moderate advantage, though Royal Mails and Furness Withy were the firmest spot, and Cunards made no special response to the announcement of a further advance in Transatlantic rates. Canadian Dollar Securities were easier on the small improvement in American exchange. Wireless issues fluctuated within narrow limits, and were not prominent; while Land Shares also were rather in the background, and Tobaccos were disposed to fall back, though immediate selling pressure was less of a factor than uncertainty regarding International share adjustments, at any rate so far as British Americans were concerned. DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

"BOOM" IN TEXTILES. DUNLOPS AGAIN STRONG.

There was more than one favourable feature of an outstanding nature on 'Change yesterday, but in other directions business was as a rule quietly conducted. Very marked buoyancy developed in the Textile department, with, as on yesterday, special strength in Bleachers and Fine Cotton Spinners, while Calicos were also very good, and finally rose to 21s. Coats Ord. further eased. Another point of special interest was the keen bidding for Dunlop Rubber Ord. shares on report rumours, although the company's year will not end till close of this month, and the price was carried to a new record level. The Funds were firm, but featureless. Banks varied little. Breweries and Distilleries were dull, and fresh weakness developed for Marconi issues. City of Dublin Steam was in request. Rails were mostly idle, but closed good in tendency. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were carried forward to 8½, a fresh rise of ¼. The special buoyancy of Bleachers was reflected by a further rise of 1/16, and Spinners boomed up to 62s. 6d., a fresh rise of 3s. 3d. Cottons and Dyers were harder, but Coats were sellers. Vickers were firm. Tobacco and Oils were better.

The Funds were firm. Consols rose ⅛ to 52, and War Loan 5 per cent. repeated 94¼. Exchequer 6 per cent. 1920 (Deed) realised 100¼.

In Banks, Provincial Ord. rose ¼ to 26, but Hibernians fell ⅛ to 5⅛. Munsters at 7¼, Nationals at 19¼, and Royals at 14¼ were firm.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness Ord. fell ¼ to 37¼ after opening at last price, and Dublin Distillers Ord. 6d. to 42s. 6d., while the Pref. repeated 5¼.

In Steam stocks, City of Dublin Ord. rose 1 to 278, after opening at 277.

Marconis were weaker. The Ord. fell 1s. 10½d. to 5⅛, and Americans 9d. to 27s. 9d.

Rails were idle, but "Wicklow" Ord. rose ½ to 20. Great Northern Debs. at 80, and "Mullingar" 4 per cent. Debs. at 64, were unaltered.

Trams were featureless. Dublin United Ord. repeated 7½, and the Pref. 10½.

In Gas, Alliance and Dublin Consumers remained 4½, and in Drapery Shares, Switzer Ord. repeated 5½.

Among Manufacturing Shares, there was keen buoyancy in Textiles. Bleachers rose 3s. 9d. to 35s., Spinners 3s. 3d. to 62s. 6d., Calicos 1s. 9d. to 21s., Dyers 6d. to 45s., and Cottons 6d. to 94s., while Coats Ord. fell 1/16 more to 8⅞. Gouldings repeated 8, Vickers improved somewhat to 35s. 7½d., 35s. 9d., and the new Pref. realised again 20s. 6d.

As regards Dunlops, Parent Tyres were idle all day, but Dunlop Rubber Ord. were bid up to 168s. 9d., 170s., 168s. 9d., a final rise of 1/16.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. repeated 78s. for a few shares, and in other business done Imperial Tobacco Ord. hardened to 64s. 9d., from about 64s. the previous day. British Glass realised 70s., United Steel Pref. 18s., 18s. 1½d. Shells rose ¼ to 8⅛, Burmah 1/16 to 14 1/16, and Mexican Eagle Oil 1/16 to 8 5/16, from the weaker quotations the previous day.

STOCK MARKETS SPOTTY.

FRENCH ISSUES DEPRESSED AND ALL SOUTH AMERICANS.

GENERAL TONE RATHER BRIGHTER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

While business expanded yesterday and the tone became brighter in places, the improvement in the favoured regions contrasted vividly with the depression which made the Foreign market seem like a devastated area. The principal activity was in Industrial descriptions, among which Textiles were conspicuous. As a sort of half-way house between these effervescent groups and the weak spots, Home Railways presented a certain degree of firmness, derived from the settlement of the latest wages demands. Home Government Stocks were dull, but not excessively. A slight recovery in sterling exchange was a partial antidote to the pessimism of the day before. Internationals were extremely heavy, the French Loans gravitating towards the Paris parities. Some of the less familiar Russian issues came down with a run, but the most prominent feature was the wholesale marking down of leading South American Loans. It was suggested that institutions holding these were realising in the expectation of being able to replace the bonds from abroad in due course. Whether or not this idea was well founded, the Foreign market was at pains to discourage dumping from any quarter whatsoever.

Dunlops jumped again.

FINE SPINNERS VERY ACTIVE.

Fine Cotton Spinners were very active, and finished ¼ up at 3¼, which was about the best of the day. English Velvet and Cord Dyers, at 1½, were 1/16 to the good, while Calico Printers touched 21/7½, and finished 1/9 up at 21/-. British Cotton and Wool Dyers advanced 1/6 to 9/6. Bleachers were up to 34/- at one time, but met realising, and closed only a shade over 30/-. Courtaulds held at 10. Coats were rather over 9. Listers were in renewed demand at 2½ bid.

UNITED STEELS GOOD.

In the Iron and Steel category, Armstrongs, at 39/6, and Vickers, at 35/6, were both 6d. to the good. United Steels were still influenced by the published results, and added another 9d. at 25/6. Cammell Lairds, at 6½, left off ⅛ to the good. Pease and Partners were quiet around 1½. Bolckow Vaughans exceptionally eased 6d. to 27/6. Gloucester Wagons were better at 3 1/16. Business in Breweries was chiefly confined to adjustments. The high-priced shares kept close around previous levels, but Dartford Ord. was active, and finished another 1/16 up at 4¾. Allsopps were hard around 92½. Barclay Perkins Pref. eased slightly to 4½.

MARCONIS FLUCTUATE.

The Wireless group was unsteady, and rather weak at one time. Marconi Ord. fell to 5 1/16, and rallied to 5 3/16; the Pref. left off at 4⅝. The Marine Shares eased 1/16, but the Canadian and American Shares held their ground. Aerateds, among Caterers, were fairly brisk, and met steady inside support at 4¼ to rather easier. Home and Colonial 6 p.c. Pref. eased 1/16 to 4 5/16. Mazawattee Tea quietly hardened 6d. to 7/9. Lyons were quiet at 5 1/16, and Liptons, though meeting attention, kept around 27/-, while the Pref. was unchanged at 16/-. Slaters were idle at 15/-.

Dunlop Rubbers soared afresh to 8½, on a good demand from Ireland, current trade reports being very stimulating, but the Motor group was off-colour. Humbers shaded 6d. to 24/-, and Napier Pref., at 1, was 1/16 down. There was another good advance in Price's Patent Candle to 53¼, a gain of 3. The buying was understood to be for control.

PYROTANS RECOVER.

Pyrotans recovered ¼ to 6¼ on inside support, which gave rise to expectations that the company would announce the sale of a further foreign patent at to-day's meeting. Rio de Janeiro Flour Mills were up ¼ to 4⅛, and Ogilvie Flour Mills Common was put forward 7 to 280, without business being recorded. British Glass was idle at 70/-. The allotments of the Forsters Glass 7½ p.c. Pref. issue will, we understand, be only on a basis of 50 per cent. for applications over £100. Banks kept firm, and spottily active. Anglo-Egyptians advanced ½ to 18, and Imperial of Persia further signalised the British protectorate with a gain of 10. National Provincial Joint Stock and Lloyds Shares were firm at the previous levels. Insurance Shares lacked special point of interest, and are practically unchanged on balance. Lagunas Nitrates were offered back ⅛ to 1½, and Lagunas Syndicate, at 5/-, was 6d. down. Imperial Tobacco were dull at 63/-, while B.A.T. kept firm at 5 5/16. Cunards changed hands up to 65/-, but finished about 1/- under that level. Furness Withys closed around 46/3, after being at 47/6; P. and O. Def. was firm at rather under 560, while Royal Mails were marked up 3 to 179½. Brazilian Traction left off at 60¼.

CHEERFUL TONE IN MINES.

BUSINESS BROADENING AND IMPROVEMENTS FAIRLY GENERAL.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The more reassured feeling noticeable in the Mining market on Wednesday was again in evidence yesterday, and when it was found that foreign holdings were not being sold here to any material extent, dealings were entered into with greater freedom. A wider appreciation of the possibilities of the producing "Kaffirs" with the gold restrictions removed led to an enquiry for several of these descriptions, and, as has been the case for some time past, the demand found floating supplies in many instances extremely limited. Prices, therefore, went ahead, and here and there the improvements were of substantial proportions. Central Mining recovered sharply, and Crown Mines and City Deep were on the upgrade, while "Johnnies" were a strong spot, and under the lead of Modder Deep, Geduld, and Rand Selection, Far Easterns gave a good account of themselves. With Chartered in request at rising prices, the Rhodesian department took on a more cheerful appearance, and "Tanks," London Rhodesians, and one or two others strengthened, while among Diamonds Jagersfontein, which have so far not participated to any extent in the rise in values brought about by the wonderful progress of the industry, were singled out for attention. Despite a drop of £2 per ton in the price of the metal, Tin Shares held up well, with Tehidy Minerals and Geevor again favourites. There was a disposition to secure profits on some of the Nigerians which have recently advanced. West African Gold Shares were distinctly harder, it being recognised that these concerns stand to benefit from the freeing of the market for gold. "Barriers" were being quietly nibbled at in view of the further rise in silver to 60½d. per ounce, a record since October, 1872. In the Westralian department, Lake View experienced a sharp jump in sympathy with the sensational appreciation of Burmas, in which it has a large holding. Rio Tinto were again practically the only live counter in the Copper section, and Paris sales once more had a depressing influence on the quotation. Thanks to the more hopeful views entertained regarding the Russian outlook, and the possibility of a further clearing up of the position by a junction between the Rumanians and General Denikin's forces, a stronger tone was imparted to the Russian Shares. There was a good inquiry for Russo-Asiatic and Irtysh, while there were buyers of the Debs of the latter at 75. In the Miscellaneous list, Burmas and Baudwin continued to forge ahead, and Mexican issues were in favour again, but Colombian Mining left off fractionally easier. A circular regarding the recent oil discoveries on the company's property is expected to be issued at any moment.

STEADY FINISH IN OILS.

VENEZUELANS AGAIN LIVELY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

A fairly active business was transacted in the Oil Share market yesterday, with special attention once more directed to the leaders and a few specialities. Prices, however, moved in a see-saw fashion. After a dull opening the tendency became distinctly harder, and prices moved up in response; but later the market eased again, and on balance price changes were neither numerous nor important. It was noticeable, however, that when prices were marked down they showed plenty of elasticity. Shells, Eagles, and Burmahs were all moderately active, but finished unchanged. Business in Venezuelan Oil Concessions and Bolivar Concessions was again on a large scale, and, though closing below the best, were still higher on the day. Apart from Trinidad Centrals, of which there was some good buying, Trinidad issues were without special feature, while among Russians, Ural Caspians further advanced. Closing prices:—

RUBBER MARKET REVIEW.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The price of rubber is very steady at 1/11½ per lb., and in all sections of the share market there has been a good demand from investors during the past week, so that many quotations again show improvement. The passing of the Rubber Trust dividend, which was announced late on Tuesday evening, resulted in a fall of 1/3 per share; on Wednesday to 34/-, while yesterday the price has eased further to 33/7½. With this exception, price changes are nearly all in the upward direction. Bukit Rajah have advanced to 8¼ bid; Cicely at 34/3 have put on another 3/- per share, while Damansara show a gain of 5/6 at 90/- bid. In fact, the heavy brigade has been strong all round, good rises having occurred in Straits rubber, 5¼; Sungei Choh, 82/6; Selangor River, 5⅛; and United Sua Betong, 83/9. Vallambrosa, on the other hand, have eased a little to 23/3. Pegoh have been taken at 58/-, and Seunah at 35/-. Javan issues continue to attract a lot of attention. Anglo-Dutch are up 1/- at 51/-, and Java Investment have improved to 38/9. Strength has been shown by Anglo-Java, 6/9; Djember, 46/3 bid; Djasinga, 28/-; Java Para, 40/-; Kasintoe, 37/-; Kawie Java, 9/3; Langeu, 46/3, and Telogoredjo, 54/6. Floriners have shared in the increased activity. Bikam are 6d. up at 5/-. Dolok are strong with a rise to 4/2, United Sumatra have advanced to 8/6, and United Temiang to 4/10. On the other hand, Port Dickson are rather lower at 4/1, and Singapore United have declined to 2/11. In the Borneo section, Bangwan shares have been changing hands around 3/2, and Lok Kawi are better at 22/9. Manchester N.B. advanced sharply to 32/-. Sapong have risen to 35/-, a rise of 1/16, and Tenom are up 1/16, with business at 54/3.

THE MONEY MARKET.

SILVER OVER 5/- PER OZ.

Bank Rate (changed April 5th, 1917) .... 5 p.c.

There was no alteration in the Bank rate yesterday morning. The payment of another call on the Victory Loan caused a brisker demand for money, and loans were very usable practically throughout, but a small sum which fell due at the bank was repaid. Call money fetched 3 per cent., and occasionally 3½ per cent. The latter was also the rate for weekly fixtures. Over half a million was disbursed in dividends, chiefly upon Great Central Railway Stocks. The Discount market was quiet and somewhat harder in connection with the New York Exchange position. Two months' drafts were, however, taken at 3 7/16, and a fine rate for three months' drafts was 3½. Six months' bills were posted at 4¼ per cent. There was a further jump of ⅜ in spot silver to 60½d., while forward metal at 58¾d. per ounce, marked a similar rise.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

DUBLIN GRANARIES CO., LTD.—The usual 2½ per cent. per annum (interim).

ANGLO-SPANISH COALING.—Interim dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, tax free, for the half-year ended 30th June.

PROVINCIAL CINEMATOGRAPH THEATRES.—The dividend of 7½ per cent. per annum on the "A" Preference Shares for the six months ending 31st August is payable on 1st September.

JETTINGA VALLEY TEA.—Final dividend of 7½ per cent (making 10 per cent. for the year), together with a bonus of 2½ per cent. (both free of income tax) on the Ordinary for the year.

NEW LONDON BORNEO TOBACCO.—Dividend of 12½ per cent. on Ord. Shares, payable September 1st, placed £2,951 to reserve. Dividend on Founders Shares, £7,390, leaving £5,438 to be carried forward for account of the Ord. Shares.

CANADIAN CAR AND FOUNDRY.—Dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the Pref. Stock for the quarter to September 30th, and an additional 1¾ per cent. on account of Def. dividend on said Pref. Stock, payable October 10th.

MIDLAND RAILWAY CARRIAGE AND WAGON.—The dividend on the Pref. Shares of 6 per cent., free of tax, absorbs £3,823, and the directors recommend a dividend of 10 per cent., less tax, on the Ord. Shares, payable August 30th, carrying forward £20,529.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Following the recent example of Messrs. Vickers in acquiring the Metropolitan Railway Carriage and Wagon Company, Messrs. Cammell Laird and Company propose to acquire a majority interest in the Midland Railway Carriage and Wagon Company by the allotting of 25 £1 Ordinary shares for every £10 share of the last-mentioned company. It is also proposed, partially in consequence, to split the present share capital of the Cammell Laird Company into £1 shares. Thus it seems that the process of absorption in the engineering world is going yet another step, and an interesting position arises concerning other wagon companies not yet absorbed, the chief of which is the Gloucester Railway Carriage and Wagon Company.

Additional details have been obtained concerning the recently proposed combine of Tube makers, under the title of Tube Investments. It now appears, says the Pall Mall Gazette, that Babcock and Wilcox will be interested to the extent of 100,000 shares. The authorised capital of the new company will amount to £1,250,000, equally divided into 7 per cent. Cumulative Preference and Ordinary shares of £1 each. Shareholders of Simplex Conduits will be entitled to exchange their holdings upon the following basis:—For each 6 per cent. Cumulative £5 Preference share, six £1 Preference; for each Ordinary share, one and a half Ordinary and a half Preference share; fractions of shares will be satisfied in cash at the rate of £1 per Preference and £2 per Ordinary shares. These terms must be accepted by holders of the majority of shares of each class in each company on or before September 3rd. Shareholders who consent will have the opportunity of subscribing for further Preference at par, and Ordinary shares at £1 premium, in Tube Investments in proportion to their holdings, but not exceeding one Preference for every five Preference shares in Tube Investments, and one Ordinary for every five Ordinary taken in exchange. The new capital obtained will be used for further development of the businesses of the Allied companies.

At the time of writing (says the Manchester Correspondent of the Financial Times) the £1 Ord. Shares of the Fine Cotton Spinners' and Doublers' Association have risen from 44/- to 60/- bid in the course of about a fortnight, on very substantial buying. The recent very large purchases have had all the appearance of buying for control; indeed, market people assert that this is so. They add that the buying group have offered the Board £3 per share for the balance of the 2,450,000 or so of Ord. scrips, subject, of course to the consent of the proprietors. But even among the most sanguine of the local market men there is doubt expressed whether the directors of the Fine Cotton Spinners' Combine will look at such offer, and, meanwhile, the Chairman of the Association is now on his way to the States. The buyers in question are averred to be connected with the Beecham Trust group, the recent buyers of several fine and medium yarn-spinning mills which were still outside the Fine Cotton Spinners' and Doublers' Association. Local experts assert that the financial group in question are on very dangerous ground in entering the fine cotton spinning mill business, especially at the current very high levels of value. It should be noted that the great Fine Cotton Spinning Federation virtually controls the existing growth of the long-staple raw material, both Egyptian and Sea Island, besides having had for some years several of its own plantations in the Mississippi Delta, besides also possessing goodwills of over a century old for most of its yarn productions. Moreover, on the yarn production side, the Association is known to have very friendly working arrangements with the J. and P. Coats and allied thread federations.

Silver yesterday rose to 60½d. per ounce, the highest price recorded since October, 1872.

J. AND P. COATS "MELON."

POSITION OF THE PREFERRED-ORDINARY STOCK.

(FROM A TEXTILE TRADE CORRESPONDENT OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.)

Ever since the mid-July announcement that the directors of the Allied English Sewing Cotton Company, besides showing record results for the combine's majority year, proposed to cut a very ripe "melon" (besides also increasing the cash dividend cum.-bonus from 20 per cent. to 25 per cent.), the appetite of many shareholders in J. and P. Coats has been whetted in the hope of receiving an early slice of the same kind of "fruit." For it should be recalled that in 1901 the Coats Federation converted the then ordinary portion (£3,000,000) of its capitalisation into 20 per cent. Non-Cumulative Preferred-Ordinary Stock, at the same time capitalising £4,500,000 of hitherto undivided profits, consisting of about three and one-third millions, representing the share premium account, the balance being withdrawn from the then moderate general reserve fund to so capitalise this "new" £4,500,000. The latter was then divided among the old Ordinary share (now stock) holders in the proportion of 15 £1 "New" Ordinary Shares for every £10 of Preferred-Ordinary Stock now held.

For some time past this Preferred-Ordinary stood at round 350—say £35 for £10 fractions of stock, in which form it is commonly handled in the North. But during the past week or two the quotation has strengthened to round 45, with dealings up to 45½, the while the £1 "New" Ordinary rose from about 8½ to 10 (reacting to under £9). Now the J. and P. Coats balance sheet to June 30th, 1919, showed various reserves amounting to quite double the amount of the "New" Ordinary Share capital, though in view of the enormous foreign commitments and investments of the Federation and its numerous mills in Russia, Poland, and other Continental countries (besides the United States), it is impossible for an outsider to say how much of Coats' reserves are in anything like "liquid" form. Meanwhile, one reason for the recent strength of the 20 per cent. (less tax) Preferred-Ordinary Stock has been due to views expressed on the market that this stock will participate in the "melon," which is sure to be cut, when the directors advise this operation. But some trade experts take the standpoint that the market is quite mistaken in the view referred to. Because, not only has the old original ordinary portion (£3,000,000) of the capital been converted into a fixed charge Non-Cumulative Pref. Stock, but the present Ordinary Shares are not styled "Deferred," and they were only called "new" by the directors at the time of their creation. Further, at the annual meeting as far back as November 30th, 1906, the Chairman remarked as follows:—"Letters have been received from several shareholders inquiring whether the holders of Preferred-Ordinary Stock would be entitled to participate in a distribution of reserve. We are advised that they would not." Well, the foregoing is certainly a very plain official statement; and if to-day the directors are acting under different advice or views, let them at once inform the shareholders and end the periodic discussions on the matter.

SALES OF HOUSE PROPERTY.

There was a crowded attendance at Messrs. Battersby's Salerooms, 39 Westmoreland street, Dublin, yesterday, when several properties were put up for competition, and changed hands at satisfactory prices. No. 17 Kenilworth Park was sold for £800, 113 North Circular road for £800, purchasers paying auction fees in each case; 34, 35, and 36 Camden street, Lower, were sold to Mr. Shaper; 6 St. Kevin's road realised £205, and 15 Victoria street £315. 34 Cabra road was sold prior to the auction. The following solicitors were interested:—Messrs. Wm. Mooney and Son, A. E. Walker, James O'Connor and Co., W. G. Shannon, M. Noyk, M. J. Bowen.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.—DUBLIN METROPOLITAN, North Circular road, Thursday.—There was a falling off in the numerical strength of to-day's live stock gathering here, almost to the extent of last week's increase, leaving offerings practically par with this day month. To-day's register, too, embraced some re-entries from last week's overplus of unsold stock. There was a fair attendance of home and export buyers, and altogether the market worked out on a decidedly healthier and somewhat dearer basis for the choicer selection of animals. In the beast section there was a good sell up with terms generally 1/- per cwt. higher, but in the ovine department the supply was rather disproportionately distributed. Prime sheep and lambs on most stands fell rather short of requirements. Rougher lots were again in surplus of the business practicable. The boycott hold-up has apparently eased appreciably; there was scarcely any interference with sales on market. It might be of interest to mention that to-day's currencies for beef range practically par with the corresponding market of last year, but sheep are about 1d. to 1½d. per lb. dearer, whilst lambs may now be reckoned 10/- to 15/- higher than at the same period of last year.

	Numbers on Offer.	This week as compared with last.	Corresponding weeks of 1918.	1917.
Cattle	3,958	Decrease 942	4,138	4,126
Sheep and lambs	7,484	Decrease 1,569	7,354	10,597
Veal calves	6		1	2

The beast trade opened with more energy and strength than before, and prices by hand sales were assumed to be 1/- to 3/- per cwt. better, but the scale test of things did not verify this view, averages being rarely more than 1/- per cwt. dearer in the run of sales. Best cattle were again around 77/6 to 78/- per cwt., and for fancy lots 80/-, with 81/-, 81/6, and 82/- exceptional and rare. For nice quality of heifers 80/- seemed to be about tip-top, while steers were occasionally as noted up to 81/- and 82/- per cwt. Best support in trade was given to beasts of 10½ cwt. to 11½ cwt. upwards; cattle under 10 cwt. were difficult and somewhat irregular to negotiate. Medium classes of bullocks and heifers from 73/- to 76/-; coarser and leaner lots 68/- to 72/6 per cwt. Cow beef was distinctly slow and uncertain to sell; average run of this class of meat was 57/6 to 63/- per cwt., fancy occasional exhibits with some strain drew from 65/- to 70/- and 75/- per cwt., although there was one very special lot of four young fat cows off the grass went to a butcher near up to 77/- per cwt. Inferior old cows anywhere from 44/- per cwt. up to 56/-, according to character.

The sheep market throughout cannot be characterised as active, still there was a good demand for choice fat wethers and useful ewes, which were scarce, also lambs of the right type; these repeated last week's rates, and occasionally made 2/- to 3/- more money. After these, however, the majority of animals on market were slow, and uncertain enough to find customers for. Prime fat wether mutton went from say 1/3 to 1/4 per lb., and occasionally ½d. or so more. Best quality ewes were inside of 1/1 to 1/3 per lb., and rougher and wasty sheep anywhere from 11½d. to 1/0½ per lb. For average top lambs rates were from 63/- to 75/- each, and extra 80/- to 84/- apiece; mediums from 46/- to 60/- each; small and inferior from 28/- to 42/-. There were six veal calves on offer, the best of which figured around 1/1 to 1/2 per lb., inferior descriptions 1/- per lb.

DUBLIN STORE, Thursday.—Entries for these sales again this week were on a comparatively small scale. There was a fair company of home buyers in evidence at the respective gatherings, and a more confident disposition dominated business proceedings. Currencies generally showed some recovery, as salesmasters' individual reports will no doubt record.

DUBLIN DAIRY, North Circular road, Thursday.—There were 180 milch cows brought on market. Trade continues very dull, disappointing, and slumpy. All classes of cows and springers show a considerable fall in value over the past few months, and cross-Channel terms are even pounds per head below here for ordinary types of dairy stock. Prices in the main figure from £20 to £42 each for small to good, useful, fresh stockers, and up to £50 or so for exceptional beasts with more than ordinary capacity.

DUBLIN PIG, North Circular road, Thursday.—There were 1,022 head of swine penned for sale, being 150 exhibits less than last week. In point of finish and quality the display generally was of mediocre and mostly unsuitable character. Buyers again presented a cautious and indifferent attitude in business, and could not be persuaded to exceed their own estimate of values. Trade was consequently of a slow, dragging nature, and wound up disappointingly to owners. All the very few hogs of choice bacon or pork weights can yet be purchased inside of control maximum rates, and very ordinary shipping hogs figure around it.

GANLY, SONS, AND CO.'S DUBLIN CATTLE MARKET REPORT. Offices and Wool Stores—18, 19, and 20 Usher's quay, Dublin, Thursday, 21st August, 1919.—Better demand for all classes of cattle, with prices in favour of sellers. Choice lots of finished bullocks brought from 79/- to 81/- per cwt.; secondary sorts from 75/- to 78/- per cwt., and a good clearance effected. Sharper trade for sheep and lambs at improved quotations. Store Cattle Auction every Thursday in our Paddocks, 63 Prussia street, commencing at 11 o'clock sharp. Autumn Sheep Sales—Our next Auction will be held in the Dublin Cattle Market on Wednesday, 27th August. Dublin Wool Sales—Our next Auction will be held on Wednesday, September 10th. Telephone No. 216. Telegrams—"Ganly, Usher's quay, Dublin."—(Advt.)

GAVIN LOW, LTD.—Market Report, 50 Prussia street, Dublin, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—Supplies:—Cattle, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. There was a good demand for all classes of cattle, and an early clearance was effected at rather higher prices. Sheep were in good demand at the lower rates established last week. Good lambs were scarce and dear. Quotations:—Best bullocks and heifers, from 77/- to 82/- per cwt., live weight; others, from 70/- to 76/- per cwt., live weight; cows, from 40/- to 76/- per cwt., live weight; mutton, 1/1 to 1/5 per lb.; lambs, 32/- to 68/- each. N.B.—Sheep and lambs exposed for sale from September 1st to November 15th (both dates inclusive) must be accompanied by a declaration that they have been dipped on two occasions since 31st July last. Fixtures:—August 27th—Auction of 67 Welsh Ponies at 50 Prussia street, Dublin. September 3rd—Irish Ram Breeding Association's Show and Sale of Pedigree Rams, Ram Lambs, and Ewes, at 50 Prussia street, Dublin. September 5th—Great Annual Sale of Ewes, Store Sheep, and Lambs in Cattle Market, Dublin.—(Advt.)

R. AND J. WILKINSON'S CATTLE MARKET REPORT, 21st August, 1919.—The supply being smaller, cattle were much more easily placed to-day, the market being sold up at an early hour, with prices on the same level as last week. Trade for sheep and lambs also steady owing to the curtailed supplies. Best cattle, 76/- to 80/-, exceptional 82/-; others, 60/- to 75/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/1 to 1/5 per lb. Beasts, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. On and after Sept. 1st a certificate will be required that sheep and lambs exposed for sale have been dipped twice since 31st July. The second dipping must take place between the 7th and 14th day after the first dipping.—(Advt.)

LAURENCE CUFFE AND SONS' CIRCULAR, 5 Smithfield, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—A big reduction in our supplies tightened up matters this morning, and we had a good selling market. Cattle over 10 cwt. were 2/- to 3/- per cwt. dearer; other sorts being more readily sold, except being rough lots, which were again fairly slow. Sheep and lambs of nice quality, being fairly scarce, were slightly dearer. No change in other classes. We have not had enough rain as yet to affect the store cattle trade. Fat cattle, 60/- to 81/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/- to 1/4 per lb.—(Advt.)

SMITH, GRIFFIN, AND CO., 56 and 57 Prussia street, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—We had a decrease of over 100 cattle at to-day's market. Trade better for best finished beasts, which fully recovered last week's drop in price; secondary classes easier sold, and an early clearance. Sheep suiting best home trade unchanged in values; other classes weaker. Good lambs still dear. Quotations: Beef, 80/- to 140/- per cwt., or 68/- to 79/-, and extra 80/- to 81/- per cwt., live weight; mutton, 1/1 to 1/5 per lb.; lambs, 48/- to 92/- each.—(Advt.)

DUFFEY, MANGAN, AND BUTLER, Cattle Salesmen, 37 Smithfield, Dublin, Thursday, 21st August, 1919.—Market Report.—Decrease of 942 beasts and of 1,569 sheep and lambs. More animation in trade for cattle, and full rates of last market easily obtained for all classes. The heavy reduction in the supply of sheep and lambs caused a better inquiry, with a firmer tendency in values of both. Cattle, 60/- to 80/- per cwt., live weight; mutton, 1/- to 1/5 per lb.; lambs, 30/- to 82/-.—(Advt.)

HANBURY AND POTTERTON, Smithfield House, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—Numbers—Cattle, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. All descriptions of cattle sold well at rates favouring sellers. Sheep also were in better demand, and made slightly more money. Beef, for best, from 76/- to 80/- per cwt., live weight; others, from 60/- to 75/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/- to 1/5 per lb.—(Advt.)

ARMSTRONG AND SMITH'S REPORT, 25 Prussia street, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—Cattle, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. With smaller numbers of cattle penned, we had a good trade for all well-finished lots, with an advance of from 1/- to 2/- per cwt. Other sorts also easier sold, with the exception of rough cows, which were difficult to place. Sheep and lambs also met a good trade, with prices in sellers' favour. Beef (best), 75/- to 80/-; secondary and cows, 60/- to 74/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/2 to 1/5 per lb.; lambs, to 90/- each.—(Advt.)

PATRICK O'CONNOR AND SON, Auctioneers, Valuers, Cattle, Sheep, and Wool Salesmen, 49 Queen street, Dublin. 'Phones—535 Dublin, and 71 Ballsbridge.—Decreased supplies effected a decidedly firmer and better tone in the value of all descriptions of live stock in our market to-day. There was more demand for bullocks and heifers than we have experienced for many markets past, and prices improved from 10/- to £1 per head. Fat cows still continue selling at prices that show a good profit to the feeders. Owing to drastic control prices on the other side, medium cows of all kinds were the only class of animals that we found harder to dispose of. Sheep and lambs an excellent trade, and a good clearance was established.—(Advt.)

ROBERT CRAIGIE'S REPORT, 37 Prussia street, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—Supplies:—Cattle, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. Reduced supplies this morning gave a fillip to trade, and an advance of from 1/- to 2/- per cwt. generally was obtained for all classes of cattle. Sheep and lambs also shared in the general improvement, prices for nicely-meated lots being in sellers' favour, with a better clearance of rough lots. Quotations:—Cattle, best, from 78/- to 81/- per cwt., live weight; secondary, from 72/- to 77/-; sheep, from 1/2 to 1/5 per lb.; lambs, from 45/- to 90/- each. Friday next, 29th August—300 Ewes in Cattle Market, Dublin.—(Advt.)

REPORT OF BERGIN, O'CONNOR, AND CO., LTD., Cattle Salesmen, 11 St. Joseph's road, Dublin, August 21st, 1919.—Supplies:—Cattle, 3,958—decrease, 942; sheep, 7,484—decrease, 1,569. Owing to reduced numbers of cattle on sale, trade was firmer, especially for heavy-weighted bullocks, which were scarce. Secondary and other sorts all got sold, and a good clearance effected at prices slightly in sellers' favour. Supply of sheep much smaller. The inquiry for heavy lots was good, with a dearer tendency. Lambs a fair trade. Quotations—Cattle, best, 76/- to 80/- per cwt., live weight; secondary, 70/- to 75/- per do.; cows, bulls, 65/- to 75/- per do.; mutton, 1/2 to 1/5 per lb. Telephone No. 3860. Telegraphic address—"Approve, Dublin."—(Advt.)

JOHN P. CUFFE, Auctioneer, Cattle and Sheep Salesman, 73 Prussia street, Dublin.—Cattle Market Report, Dublin, 21st August, 1919.—Trade to-day, owing to short numbers, was brisk, and finished cattle got placed early at prices favouring sellers. Rough cattle also easier sold at more money, and a complete clearance effected. Sheep and lambs, except for best lots, were easier. Best beef, 78/- to 82/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/4 to 1/5¼ per lb. Ewe and Lamb Sale, Dublin Cattle Market, Tuesday next, at 11.30 o'clock. Telephone 4840. Telegrams—"Bullocks, Dublin."—(Advt.)

REPORT OF McKEOWN, MacKEOGH, AND CO., Auctioneers, Valuators, Live Stock Salesmen, Farm Produce Factors, etc., 4 Haymarket, August 21st.—Owing to the smaller supply of cattle and sheep trade was decidedly firmer, and in prime beef values recovered 2/- or 3/- per cwt., live weight. Good conditioned young cows sold well, but other descriptions were uncertain. In the sheep and lamb trade a brisker tone prevailed. Quotations:—Prime beef, 77/- to 80/-, and 82/- per cwt., live weight; good secondary classes, 73/- to 76/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/- to 1/5, according to class. Pigs—Trade for good shipping hogs was keener, and extra prices were offered for some lots of well-finished quality. Middle-weights and light bacon were in good request, and finished firmly. Stores made a good clearance. Quotations:—Dead weight—Choice heavy pigs easily made maximum rates; choice bacon pigs do.; light pigs, 154/- to 156/- per cwt. 'Phone—Dublin 3. Telegraphic address—"Factors, Dublin."

LONDON METROPOLITAN, Thursday.—Entries of fat cattle and sheep were on a fair scale, and allotted or sent down to kill at regulation prices, according to grade.

BIRMINGHAM, Thursday.—There was no appreciable change in market. The demand for pigs has reached a low ebb during the hot weather, and the entry was small even with a few Irish. Prices were unchanged at 21/- per score live weight basis, and 28/- dead weight.

BRISTOL, Thursday.—Beef in limited supply; Government price for best, 79/- per cwt. live weight. Mutton scarce; regulation price, 1/2¼ per lb. plus skin. No pigs. A few store cattle, and a slight improvement in the demand. Milch cows, £28 to £50, with £50 as outside figure.

YORK, Thursday.—A fair show of sheep and lambs, but a very quiet trade, farmers being busy harvesting, and a slight decline in prices. Light offer of both English and Irish store cattle, including very little young stock; very few customers, and very slow trade. There was a slight improvement in calving and milch cow trade, with only a light show. Trade for calving heifers continues slow and weak.

GRAIN.—MANCHESTER, Thursday.—There was a quiet tone in this centre. There have been heavy arrivals at this port during the week of wheat and flour. The quantities released from store have, however, been on the small side. Oats and barley met with limited inquiry, but a rather better feeling in flour is reported.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Thursday.—No offers of WHEAT or MAIZE were put forward by the Commission. BARLEY quiet; American malting (48lbs.), also No. 4 Canada Western August-September, quoted 72/- per 400lbs. OATS steady; American white clipped August-September sold 59/- per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—C.I.F. parcels of wheat quiet, but maize moderately active at official prices. WHEAT on the spot was quietly steady at late rates. MAIZE—Spot parcels scarce and nominal, the recent allocations being exhausted. FLOUR remained steady, with imported offered to millers on Government terms. In maize parcels afloat, River Plate was sold at the new price of 65/- per qr. BARLEY in forward positions firm, American feed arrived selling at 70/3, August-September 70/9, and malting afloat at 71/3 per qr. No. 3 white American OATS, arrived and July-August, realised 56/3, and August-September 55/6 per qr. No. 2 red winter wheat afloat sold to Manchester at 58/-, and American malting barley in same position at 71/3 per qr.

BRISTOL, Thursday.—Very little English wheat offered, new or old, and values unchanged. Supplies of foreign wheat quickly taken up by millers, and more needed, as well as maize. Grinding barley slow trade, with values unchanged. Oats firm and business dull. Flour—Trade busy, millers being unable to keep pace with orders for flour and offals.

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Thursday.—Very small supplies of potatoes in to-day again, but quite enough, trade being very slack. Prices reported at 11/- per cwt. for standard parcels of Queens, and 10/- per cwt. for other growths.

JAMES I. HALPIN, Wholesale Bacon Merchant, 18-19 Thomas st., Dublin. Telegrams—"Middles." 'Phone 1716. Specialising in O'Mara's, Ltd., products.—(Advt.)

DUBLIN VEGETABLE, Thursday.—Market of average mid-week character. Features of sales:—Apples, 2/- to 7/9 per tray; peaches cheap, down to 2/3 per doz.; cauliflowers, 2/3 to 3/6 per dozen; tomatoes, 10d. to 1/- per lb.; cucumbers, 2/- to 6/- per dozen; marrows, 2/6 to 6/- per dozen; York cabbage, 35/- to 50/-, 55/-, and 68/- per load; onions, 9d. to 1/3 per bundle; celery, 6d. to 9d.; scallions, 6d. to 10d.; white turnips, 6d. to 1/1 per bundle; beet, 4d. to 6d. per dozen; lettuce, 6d. to 8d. and 1/-; broad beans, 1/- to 1/9 per float; carrots, 1/6 to 2/- per dozen bunches; parsnips, 1/4 to 1/10; parsley, 8d. to 1/- per float; sage, 8d. to 1/- per dozen.

DUBLIN FISH, Thursday.—Fair country support of hook fish, but small of local. Two steam trawlers brought in 340 boxes of mixed stuff in fair order. Also on market 10 packages salmon, 12 chests lobsters, and about 60 boxes herrings. Good all round demand. Salmon and grilse nominally, 2/- to 2/8 per lb.; live trout, similar figure; lobsters, fixed, 10/- to 15/- per 13; seconds, 6/- to 8/-; small and dead, 3/- to 5/- per 13; turbot, 4/- to 20/- each; brill, 1/- to 4/- and 6/-; best soles, 40/- to 50/-, and 70/- per 9 pairs; mediums, 20/- to 30/-; ditto; slips, 10/- to 15/- per 9 pairs; large plaice, 5/- to 4/- per 4; others, 3/- to 5/- per 8; half boxes plaice, 50/- to 80/-; dabs, etc., 20/- to 35/- and 45/-; haddocks, 60/- to 70/-; codfish, 35/- to 50/- and 60/-; pollock, 20/- to 30/-; ling, 20/- to 25/-; white soles, 22/6 to 40/-; conger eels, 10/- to 15/-; whiting, 10/- to 25/- and 30/-; herrings, 10/- to 12/- and 14/- per box.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Thursday.—Supply liberal; demand good. Salmon also grilse, 2/8½; salmon trout, 1/6 to 2/6; red mullet, 8/-; soles and slips, 1/4 to 1/8; turbot, 10d.; brill, 9d.; lobsters, 1/9 to 2/3; crabs, 4d. to 10d. per lb.; plaice, 10/- to 14/-; halibut, 14/- to 17/-; lemon soles, 14/- to 18/-; whitches, 7/- to 9/-; megrims, 5/-; cod, 3/- to 9/-; mackerel, 4/-; whiting, 4/-; gurnard, 3/-; hake, 7/6; haddocks, 4/-; skate 4/- to 5/-; roker, 5/- to 7/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Thursday.—Supplies were again on a generous scale, catches being landed by forty North Sea, three Iceland, and two Faroe boats. Demand keen for all species, which were slightly in advance of previous day's figures. English cod, 9/-; dabs, 9/- to 10/-; sprags, 5/-; kit haddocks, 4/-; gibbers, 5/-; small, 3/-; whitings, 3/-; turbots, 12/- to 13/-; soles, 28/-; lemon soles, 16/-; halibut, 28/-. Faroe cod, 6/-; Iceland, 3/-; Faroe sprags, 4/- per stone.

LONDON CENTRAL MEAT, Thursday.—Beef—Fair supplies allotted—Scottish, English, and Irish, long and short sides, 6/6; imported frozen, 6/- to 6/6. Mutton and lamb—Moderate supplies of imported—Scotch, English, and Irish, 9/-; imported, 7/-. Veal slow—English, 7/-; Irish, 10/8; imported, 9/8.

LONDON BORO' AND SPITALFIELDS POTATO, Thursday.—Arrivals rather lighter, though still in excess of requirements, trade being slow. Quotations:—Kents, also Essex, 7/- to 7/6; Lincoln Epicures, 7/-; Blackland Eclipse, 6/6 to 7/- per cwt.

BUTTER.—CORK, Thursday.—Firsts, 272/-; fresh butter, 281/- per cwt.

PRODUCE.—LONDON, Thursday.—SUGAR—Market quietly steady. Cuban receipts last week 30,000 tons. COFFEE—Spot parcels steady, with fair inquiries on export account. A fair assortment was submitted at auction; futures quiet. September quoted 124/3, December sold 121/-, March quoted 119/9, May 118/3 per cwt. TEA—In auction 6,000 packages Java were offered and cleared to an active demand at full to dearer prices. Pekoe sold 10½d. to 1/1½, Broken do. 1/1¼, Orange do. 1/- to 1/5, Broken do. 1/3¼ to 1/7½, and Pekoe Souchong 10½d. to 1/0½ per lb. in bond. RICE—Market quiet, but rates generally steady. SPICE—Pepper remained generally dull; Fair Black Singapore spot sellers 10¼, August-October, Tellicherry spot 1/2¼, Aleppy 1/-, White Singapore spot 1/4¼, Mintok 1/5, Pimento buyers 5¼d., Zanzibar Cloves spot 1/9 per lb. TAPIOCA dull, and largely nominal in value. Flake August-October sellers 47/-, Penang Seed Pearl August-October 46/-, Small Sago September-November 1/9 per lb. SAGO FLOUR August-October 33/-, Farina spot 48/- per cwt. JUTE—Market very quiet, with business at a standstill, apart from certain clearances of spot parcels. General situation remains quite nominal. Calcutta Hessians and Twills slow at about late rates. HEMP—Manila dull, and J. Grade, new contract, September-November sellers £48 10/-. Manila receipts last week 17,000 bales. New Zealand quiet, steady. Points in dock sellers £55, August-October £51 10/-, October-December value £50; fair spot quoted £50 10/-, and October-December £49 per ton. SHELLAC quiet, T.N. spot 470/-, and October buyers 475/- per cwt. COPRA quiet, and rates weaker. Sundried Straits August-October London buyers £58; F.M. do. £57 10/-, Ceylon £58 10/-, Malabar £59 10/-, South Sea Islands £57 10/- to Marseilles; F.M. Straits July-September value £62 per ton. MENTHOL spot 35/-, Japanese Peppermint Oil 7/3 per lb. EGG PRODUCTS quite neglected, and quotations purely nominal. RUBBER very steady with regard to forward positions, and a moderate business was effected. Plantation crepe spot sold 1/11¼, September 2/-, October 2/0¼, December 2/0¼, January-June value 2/1½. Standard ribbed smoked sheet spot sold 1/10¼ and 1/10¾. Fine hard Para spot 2/5¼ lb. CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Thursday.—The market is steady.

MISCELLANEOUS. — LIVERPOOL COTTON (Second Report), Thursday.—American in fair demand; quotations are reduced 31 points. East Indian quotations are reduced 10 points. Egyptian in improved request, without quotable change. Sales, 5,000 bales; imports, 5,914. Market is dull.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Thursday.—Sales 5,000, imports 5,984 bales. American—Fair demand; quotations are reduced 31 points. Brazilian quotations are reduced 31 points. East Indian quotations are reduced 10 points. Egyptian—Improved request, without quotable change. August 19.11d., September 19.21d., October 19.41d., January 19.61d., March 19.63d., April 19.53. Market is firm.

HAY AND STRAW.—LONDON, Thursday.—Market without new feature pending further developments. Meanwhile moderate offerings were steadily absorbed at full regulation prices, according to grade.

MANCHESTER, Thursday.—On the Produce Exchange the good feeling noted last week continues. Larger supplies of new hay are arriving, and meet with good demand. Irish hay also fairly plentiful. Straw firm, and in sellers' favour. Quotations:—Lincolnshire mixture and meadow hay, £13 to £15; Irish hay, £14; oaten straw, 105/- to 110/-; wheaten straw, 80/- to 85/- per ton, delivered Manchester.

WOOL.—BRADFORD, Thursday.—A great deal of export trade in fully manufactured worsted goods is having to be refused owing to the restricted output of tops. There is little prospect of securing adequate production. The present orders will absorb all the output of yarns and pieces available for export during the next few months. Wool is plentiful, and there is a good selection for topmaking, but the demand runs almost exclusively on the finer grades.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN met with less support, while easier, chiefly with regard to cash and near dates. Restrictions were in force. Cash ruled 40/- and three months 10/- per ton lower as compared with Wednesday's close; cash quoted £270 10/- to £273, three months £269 to £269 10/-, settlement price £273. Sales 300 tons, cash at £274 to £273, late October £271, and three months £271 10/- down to £269. COPPER steady, without material change, with dealings on a moderate scale; cash quoted £100 15/- to £101, three months £101 15/- to £102, settlement price £101. About 700 tons were sold, three months at £101 up to £102 10/-, and since registered at £102; electro £110 to £120. LEAD unaltered; soft foreign quoted £24 17/6 to £25 10/- as to position. SPELTER easy, and quoted £40 to £41 as to position, all per ton. QUICKSILVER remains at £24 per bottle as to position.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Catalogues comprising 9,192 bales Government wool were brought forward last evening, including 3,318 bales New Zealand, 2,179 Victorian, 1,937 Queensland, 1,737 New South Wales, 15 South Australian, 6 carbonised. At yesterday's sale there was active competition for good merinos and fine crossbreds, prices generally being unchanged.

STORE CATTLE SALES.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS, AND CO.—An improved demand was experienced for store cattle yesterday, and much better prices were obtained than those current for the last few weeks. Local and cross-Channel buyers were more numerous than of late, and were anxious for good-aged cattle in forward condition, and also for well-bred heifers. The entries were limited compared with recent weeks, and did not include many heavy cattle, £35 being the highest for bullocks, and £35 5/- for heifers. A choice pen of 11 Aberdeen Angus cross heifers, consigned from Mr. Charles Phibbs, made almost £4 6 per cwt.

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.—Moderate supplies were again offered, the numbers only totalling 262 head. Despite the adverse climatic conditions, forward conditioned cattle got readily sold at prices ranging from 66/- to 72/-, and occasionally up to 78/-. Young cattle are not in demand, and it is with difficulty that they can be placed even at low rates. W. T. Bailey's fully polled bullocks made £36 (78/-) and £30 10/- (71/-); W. B. Ross's A.A. crosses £29 (72/-); T. B. Ponsonby's two lots of horned bullocks £28 15/- (67/-) and 66/-; A. E. Gray's Hereford crosses £27 5/- (66/6); Ballinoolart Estate horned bullocks £32 (71/6) and £29 15/- (70/-); John Moore's 35 horned heifers £23.

MESSRS. R. AND J. WILKINSON.—Entries were somewhat about the same as last week. There was a fair attendance of buyers, and for good cattle, especially three-quarter fat polled bullocks, a consignment of which from Mr. Peter FitzGerald, of Mondellihy, Co. Limerick, elicited very keen competition, and realised £40 10/- and £37 15/-, being 80/- and 83/- per cwt. respectively. Other good-conditioned bullocks and heifers made 72/- to 77/-, but more backward cattle and younger stock were from 70/- down to 60/- per cwt. On the whole a better clearance was effected.

BALLYMOTE (CO. SLIGO) SHOW.

The entries in the horse and cattle section at the annual show, on Wednesday, exceeded those of last year, while the quality was well up to pre-war standard of excellence. The principal prize-winners were:—

I couldn't sleep at night, and Phosferine was recommended to me. After taking it for a week I felt myself gaining strength and in a very short time I was better than ever I had been before. Since taking Phosferine I have never been troubled with that languid and run down feeling.—39, Clarence Street, Colne, Lancs.

(2) S. EDWARDS, (late) Middlesex Regt.

Suffering from a Nervous Breakdown, I saw a fellow using Phosferine Tablets, and I was recommended to try them and have never regretted it. Phosferine, I am glad to say, has very much cured me.—66, Morgan Street, London, E.16.

(3) G. H. BLACKFORD, (late) Sapper, R.E.

I had Malaria, and after nearly six months in Salonika I came to England. I find that the depression and debility which follows Malaria can best be dealt with by using Phosferine, as it invigorates the nerves, and when the fever recurs the system is in better condition to resist it.—Gandergreen Lane, Sutton.

These ex-Service men declare that Phosferine assures them the vital force to "make good" in all kinds of work, under all sorts of conditions. Phosferine asserts its invigorating influence in civilian life just as strongly as when it enabled these men and thousands of comrades to outlast the tremendous nerve strain of the battlefields.

When you require the Best Tonic Medicine, see that you get

ADELPHI HOTEL, WATERFORD.
EXECUTRIX SALE.
IMPORTANT AUCTION OF
VALUABLE HIGH-CLASS HOTEL,
WITH BAR ATTACHED,
KNOWN AS THE ADELPHI HOTEL,
TO BE SOLD AS A GOING CONCERN.

JOHN D. PALMER has received instructions TO SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, on the Premises, on MONDAY, 25th AUGUST, 1919, at 2 o'clock (New Time), by instructions of Mrs. Beazley the Executrix of Will of her Husband, the late Mr. Randolph M. Beazley, the Interest and Goodwill of the above well-known Hotel on The Mall and Adelphi terrace, Waterford, established over a century, situated in one of the best, most central, and commanding positions in the City of Waterford.

The Premises are a splendid four-storied structure, containing a frontage to The Mall of 36 feet and a river frontage of 108 feet.

Held under Lease from 25th March, 1903, for 80 years, at yearly rent of £85 13/10. Poor Law Valuation, £100.

There are also adjoining the Hotel premises Stabling for three horses, Coach-house or Garage, with separate entrance, held under yearly tenancy at rent of £10. Poor Law Valuation, £6 10/-.

The entire Premises are in first-class order and sanitary condition, and ready for immediate occupation, without any outlay, as within the past 10 years the greater portion of the Hotel Premises were reconstructed and put into thorough repair under the supervision of a leading city architect.

The late proprietor carried on for the past 15 years a most successful and increasing business, and it is now recognised as one of the most comfortable and up-to-date Family and Commercial Hotels in the South of Ireland.

An excellent trade has been, and is still being, carried on in the Bar, which is well known as one of the most popular in the City of Waterford.

The Entire Furniture and Fittings will be valued prior to Sale, and a Schedule thereof will be produced at Sale, and Purchaser will have the option of taking over same at such valuation, together with the Hotel, as a Going Concern. The Furniture, antique and modern, is in first-class order, and no outlay is necessary on it.

For further particulars apply to
D. DUNFORD and CO., Solicitors, O'Connell street, Waterford, or to
JOHN D. PALMER,
Auctioneer and Valuer,
CATHERINE STREET, WATERFORD.
